POST AND GATTY LAND IN NEW YORK; BREAK WORLD-HOP MARK BY 13 DAYS

PARIS WARNED OF DANGERS IN PLAN'S DEFEAT

America's Memorandum Regarded as Appeal to Reason.

GERMANY COULD ACT UNDER YOUNG PLAN

France Might Be Rendered $100,000,000 Loser by This Move.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

America yesterday forwarded to France a memorandum that might be described as an appeal to reason. Designed to bring into line the only country that is blocking an agreement on President Hoover's proposal for a one-year holiday on war debts, the American memorandum pointed out that France herself would be a heavy loser this year if the Hoover plan fails.

The memorandum, prepared by Acting Secretary of State Castle with the help, perhaps, of Senator Morrow, of New Jersey, and delivered to the French government by Ambassador Edge in Paris, says it must be assumed that Germany will declare a moratorium on certain of her reparations payments in the event the Hoover plan fails.

In this case, the memorandum says, France would be the loser this year by more than $100,000,000.

Memorandum Is Emphatic.

Under the terms of the Young reparations plan, Germany in a pinch may declare a two-year moratorium or suspension on conditional reparations payments.

If Germany should take advantage of this, and if France, in accordance with the terms of the Young plan, should have to put up a fund of $106,000,000 to guarantee reparations payments to other of Germany's creditors, and at the same time pay Great Britain and the United States some $110,000,000, which she owes them, the United States pointed out, France would be the loser by more than $100,000,000 this year.

The American memorandum was at once emphatic and persuasive. After outlining the purpose behind President Hoover's proposal—namely, the rescue of Germany from economic collapse and the improvement of the economic situation throughout the world—the note lists the four points of difference that now are preventing an agreement between France and the United States. The American Government, while pointing the way to compromises on some points, makes it clear that France will have to do some yielding.

The warning to France that she may lose more than $100,000,000 this year if the Hoover plan fails comes toward the end of the memorandum.

Appeal Made to France.

The final paragraph is an appeal to France to join with other nations in a plan which President Hoover thinks will push the world out of the economic rut in which it now finds itself.

"There is no escaping the fact," the memorandum said, "that the world will not emerge from the present depression without temporary sacrifices by all. Our Government believes that cooperative action in the carrying out of a well-conceived and agreed-on program will not only diminish the burden but contribute materially to the restoration of normal conditions which all of the nations so earnestly hope for.

"In the light of this major objective, the American Government hopes that the French government, whose cooperation is so essential, will find a method to reconcile existing differences so as to permit a concerted effort by all in the carrying out of the President's program."

Designed to Sway Parliament.

The American memorandum—the time has not yet arrived for a "note"—was designed to impress the French parliament with the reasonableness of the President's proposal, and to make it easier for the French ministry to go before the parliament with a compromise program in the event the ministry decides to enter into a compromise with Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon, who is now in Paris.

In pointing out to France how she might lose if she blocks the Hoover proposal, the American memorandum said:

"The American Government feels that perhaps there is some misunderstanding on the part of France as to the sacrifices which would be required from her under the plan proposed. We must assume that the present situation in Germany and the failure of the American proposals, then Germany will unquestionably give notice for the postponement of all conditional reparations as provided in the Young plan.

Text of American Note To France on Debt Idea

Following is the text of the memorandum presented to the French government by Ambassador Edge on instructions from the Department of State:

The American Government recognizes with appreciation the cordial spirit of the French reply to the President's proposal of June 14 and now desires to review the situation which has grown out of the American proposal, the French government's note in reply of June 24, and the subsequent negotiations which have taken place between Ambassador Edge, Secretary Mellon and the French ministers.

While the President's offer was the direct result of the crisis in Germany which from all reports appeared imminent and is still imminent, I am sure the French government will realize that the purpose of the United States was to give general relief to the world. The President believed that it would prove an important step in advancing world recovery from the present economic depression. The plain purpose was, by relieving one element of strain in world economy, to give the forthcoming year to economic recovery, and to help free the recuperative forces already in motion, thereby contributing to the relief of unemployment throughout the world, and to lighten the burdens of un-

ELDRIDGE TO LOSE REVOCATION POWER

Authority Over Auto Drivers' Permits to Be Vested in New Board.

M. O. Eldridge, second assistant in the new Department of Vehicles and Traffic, which came into being yesterday, is to be derived of his long-practiced authority of revoking driver's permits under an order drafted, but not yet promulgated. The power is to be placed in the hands of a judicial board composed of three assistant corporation counsels assigned to Police Court.

The transfer was decided upon yesterday at a conference of Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, Police Commissioner; Daniel E. Garges, secretary of the Board of Commissioners, and Vernon L. West, acting Corporation Counsel. Authority to designate an agent other than the traffic director to the task is given the Commissioners by the new traffic act.

The board will comprise Edward M. Welliver, Raymond Sparks and Stanley DeNeale. Any two of them will be empowered to act, and only two of them will pass upon a permit when the third member has been assigned to prosecute the offender whose permit is at stake.

This shift of authority comes in the wake of complaintsb y motorists against the manner in which Mr. Eldridge had revoked permits in certain cases. His authority to act in place of

BOLT KILLS ONE AS STORM ENDS DAY OF WELTER

Maryland Farm Hand Is Struck Leading Horse; Employer Unhurt.

HEAT, HEART BLAMED IN DEATH IN CAPITAL

Temperature Takec Drop of 10 Degrees in Sudden Northeaster.

Sudden thunderstorm which broke over the District of Columbia and nearby Maryland and Virginia about 5:30 o'clock last night brought relief from two days of sweltering heat which resulted in twenty prostrations, directly resulted in death of one man and injury of several other persons, and crippled telephone communication and electric light service within a radius of 20 miles of the capital.

A soaring mercury which touched 97 degrees officially overcame thirteen persons yesterday to swell the toll of seven who were prostrated Tuesday. The day was the second hottest of the year, being only 2 degrees cooler than June 29, when the Weather Bureau registered an official 99 degrees.

The spectacular storm, breaking in Washington just about 5:30 o'clock, sent the mercury tumbling from 81 to 71 degrees. Last night at 8 o'clock the thermometer had climbed slightly to 74, and the last reading of the night at the Weather Bureau, at 10 o'clock, put it as 75 degrees.

Lightning Kills Farm Hand.

The lone death attributable to the unexpected northeastern was reported from Ednor, Md., where a farm hand leading a horse was struck by a bolt of lightning about 6 o'clock last night.

The man, Christopher Sangmeyer, a native of McKeesport, Pa., but for the last six years an employe at the farm place of Walter Gates near Ednor, was walking across a field at the farm leading one of the horses to the barn.

Mr. Gates was walking directly in front of him. Suddenly as they reached midfield a bolt of lightning struck Mr. Sangmeyer and the horse directly. The man and the animal were killed instantly. Mr. Gates was knocked down by the shock, but was unhurt.

Mr. Sangmeyer was pronounced dead by Dr. J. W. Bird, of Montgomery County Hospital in Sandy Spring. His body was taken to the Colonial Funeral Home in Rockville. A sister, Mrs. Fred Waldbaum, of Port Bite, Md., was notified.

Heart, Heat Kill Man.

A heart ailment which was aggravated by the intense heat is believed to have caused the death last night of Rice Phelps, 45, of Takoma Park, Md. He was walking home after having finished his day's work as conductor for the Capital Traction Co. when he collapsed on Carroll avenue near Columbia avenue, Takoma Park.

The man was taken to Washington Sanitarium, where he was pronounced dead. Mr. Phelps, a war veteran, was told that he had enlargement of the heart when he underwent a physical examination at the Veterans' Bureau last week. He was the father of four children, the eldest 11 years of age.

An autopsy probably will be held

WORLD FLIERS TELL OF NARROW ESCAPES

Blind Flying in Fog and Rain Called Worst Feature of Entire Trip.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., July 1 (A. P.).—Safe from a clamoring throng outside doors blocked by police, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty tonight talked briefly in a Roosevelt Field hangar of their eight-day voyage around the world.

Gatty presented the freshest appearance, standing in the circle of interviewers over the shoulder of Post, who sat slumped on an automobile bumper.

Post was coatless, his hair rumpled, his shirt collar open.

Gatty was fully dressed and seemed less weary than most of the steamnig crowd who had waited hours for the voyagers.

Both fliers drank glass after glass of water. Each said he was not very tired, Gatty adding that they "got used to it."

Post, the pilot of the Winnie Mae, seemed deafened by the long grind of the motor, and his anawers came faintly in his soft Oklahoma drawl.

Asked about his right shoulder, strusk by the propeller at Solomon, Alaska, Gatty said:

"It's stiff. But it's all right."

"We had several close calls while flying through fog and rain," Gatty, the navigator, said. He did not say exactly what or where they were, although he added:

"We had two bad hops—Berlin to Moscow and Khabarovsk to Nome.

"Blind flying was the worst experience. We had about four hours of

ROUSING RECEPTION PLANNED FOR FLIERS

Hoover Sends Invitation. Huge Dinner Proposed in Capital.

Washington last night was preparing a monster demonstration of welcome for Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, American fliers whose globe-circling feat has won them the plaudits of the world they girdled.

President Hoover himself will be host to the airmen at a White House luncheon on Monday. A reception will be held in their honor at the National Press Club at 4 p. m. After that they will be turned over to waiting civic groups, who have arranged a dinner in their honor Monday evening at the Willard Hotel.

Plans for the dinner are going forward under the joint auspices of the Washington Board of Trade and the National Aeronautic Association.

A wire from Senator Hiram Bingham, president of the National Aeronautic Association inviting the fliers to Washington, awaited Post and Gatty when they landed in New York. The White House invitation also was sent to them. It was indicated last night that both were accepted.

Robert J. Cottrell, executive secretary of the Washington Board of Trade, said that the Willard dinner will be like the reception given the French fliers, Capt. Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, in September, 1930.

He said that 6,000 invitations would be sent out to notables, embracing Cabinet members, ranking officers of Army and Navy, members of Congress, civic leaders and prominent members of the aviation fraternity.

Welcoming addresses will be scheduled, with responses by Post and Gatty and the backers of their flight. The Coste-Bellonte dinner was attended by 800, and Mr. Cottrell said he expected there will be a much larger number of reservations for Monday's ovation. The dinner will get under way at 7:30 p. m.

Daring Airmen Complete 16,000-Mile Journey In Eight Days, 15 Hours, 51 Minutes, Beating Graf's 22-Day Record More Than Half; Lindbergh on Hand for Welcome.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., July 1 (A.P.).—Cutting the round-the-world record from almost 22 days to little more than a week, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty landed at dusk on this field which they left at dawn less than nine days ago on an earth-girdling race against time.

The welcome accorded them was so boisterous that the fliers fled the field, but only after near-riotous scenes in which police struggled to preserve order and fists were swung in angry altercations which threatened to develop into a serious disturbance.

It was dusk before Post and Gatty arrived and the West was painted in rich pinks as the big white plane shot with the speed of a giant arrow out of the sunset.

At 7:44 p. m., E. S. T., the fliers were first sighted. Three and a half minutes later, after thrice circling the field with their wing lights glowing against the purple eastern sky, they set the plane lightly down half a mile from the Administration Building.

Record Beaten by Thirteen Days.

Elapsed time of the 16,000-mile flight around the world, a flight which famous aviators tonight called the greatest achievement in the history of aviation, was just 8 days, 15 hours and 51 minutes. The previous world-girdling record, established by the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin two years ago, was almost 22 days.

Post and Gatty, although they took almost nine days to get around the world, only spent four days, ten hours and eight minutes of this time in the air.

Up to the time the fliers arrived the crowd had seemed small compared to the great aggregation which rushed four years ago to cheer Lindbergh and Chamberlain and Byrd on every possible occasion. But besides the approximately 2,000 who stood in apparent docility within police lines by the Administration Building, hundreds of others were scattered among the hangars and along all sides of the field.

When the round-the-world plane Winnie Mae touched the turf the crowd broke into motion, yelling and whooping, and it was then realized that there were many more than had been estimated. The 150 police on duty were powerless before the combined strength and determination of the several thousand enthusiastic witnesses of the completion of aviation's latest achievement.

Police Rescue Fliers.

As Post and Gatty climbed from their plane the mob surged forward and, despite all efforts of police with night sticks in their hands, plunged out onto the field. For a moment the fliers found seclusion in an automobile, but they were soon hauled out and carried shoulder high to the Administration Building.

The press was so heavy there, however, the police had to rescue the fliers from their admirers and ensconce them again in a car, which moved off the field with half a dozen policemen standing on the running boards with sticks fending off the frantic crowd.

Post and Gatty gave every indication that they would have liked to continue to some quiet hotel haven in New York, but they still had the customs formalities to com[illegible]

FLIERS' WIVES HOPE THIS IS LAST 'STUNT'

Mrs. Post and Mrs. Gatty Will Share Honors to Hero Husbands.

New York, July 1 (A.P.).—Mrs. Wiley Post and Mrs. Harold Gatty will be satisfied if tonight's welcome to their world-flying husbands is never repeated.

"I hope he never does anything like this again," said 21-year-old Mae Post just before leaving her hotel for Roosevelt Field to meet the returning airmen in their plane, the Winnie Mae.

Her brown eyes were big and bright with excitement. She ate only one meal during the day and spent the afternoon from noon to 3:30 resting in bed.

On the biggest day of her life Mrs. Harold Gatty was nervous and excited. She raced against time in an airplane with the odds much against her, trying to reach Roosevelt Field before her husband, navigator of the Winnie Mae, She left Los Angeles yesterday by plane.

Mrs. Gatty, mother of three boys, left her sons in the care of neighbors in Los Angeles, where the Gattys live.

Mrs. Gatty also said, before taking off from Kansas City this morning, that she hoped her husband was through with harrowing stunts. Last summer she worried about his participation in the dangerous transpacific flight which ended in failure and Gatty's confinement in a hospi-

Slavery in Liberia

By GEORGE S. SCHUYLER

Firestone Plantation Found Like America

Visit to Rubber Fields Seemed as If Entering New World; Liberia Investigates Reports; Wages Protested by Government as Too High.

The Firestone Plantations Co. was given a clean bill of health by the International Commission investigating slavery and forced labor in Liberia. Nevertheless, there are many persons there and elsewhere who are, or profess to be, unwilling to concede the firm's entire guiltlessness. I found no evidence bringing into question the accuracy of the International Commission's findings.

I left by automobile for the 40-mile trip to the Du River plantation of the Firestone Co. The dirt road, perhaps the best in Liberia, is none too good. Nothing whatever has been done to it for over a year and consequently it is necessary to drive with caution. The trip requires all of three hours.

To motor into the largest of the three Firestone plantations is to enter a totally different world, a picture of what this beautiful country might be under intelligent control. In just eight years a model development has been carved out of what was almost impenetrable jungle. The miles of roads running in all directions, well crowned, drained and bridged, could hardly be improved, and workers, clerks and superintendent are well housed. There are a modern 100-bed hospital completely equipped, offices, a general store with ice plant adjoining, sawmill, machine shops, water and electric light plants and a wireless station. It is, indeed, a little American colony in the heart of wild Africa.

The management boasts that this task has been accomplished almost wholly with native labor, exceptions being clerks and superintendents. Liberians were first employed as clerks, but were found to be so troublesome, litigious and inefficient that they had to be replaced by Negroes from the Gold Coast, Nigeria and Sierra Leone. There are some Liberian foremen remaining, but many have been replaced by natives. The superintendents are all Americans with the exception of the director of the tree nursery, a Dutchman.

The Firestone Co. is the largest employer of labor in Liberia and quite naturally considerable interest must attach to its treatment and payment of that labor. I found that the workers get the standard Liberian wage of one shilling a day, six pence being de-

Dr. Don Carlos Leiva Named Salvadorean Envoy to U. S.

New Minister Is Recovering From Attack Here by Liquor Thieves.

(Associated Press.)

Dr. Don Carlos Leiva, of El Salvador, yesterday received the certificate of his appointment as minister to the United States, and plans to call on Acting Secretary Castle, of the State Department, within a few days to arrange for presentation of his credentials.

Dr. Leiva, who has been charge d'affaires of the Washington Legation since the departure in February, 1928, of Minister Francisco A. Lima, was undecided whether he would seek to present his credentials before he leaves, July 16, for a rest in Europe. It will depend, he said, on the convenience of President Hoover in receiving him.

China Unit on Marco Polo Trek Halted in Turkestan

Advertising of Expedition in Paris as "The Yellow Crossing" Held National Insult by Chinese Body for Preservation of Antiquities.

Peiping, China, July 1 (A.P.).—The Chinese government has called a halt on the Citroen transasiatic trek of 5,000 miles from Beirut, Syria, across the Pamir and Gobi deserts to Peiping, according to dispatches from Nanking.

The expedition, headed by Georges Marie Haardt, is being made in automobiles especially constructed for traveling across desert sand.

Nanking authorities decided to request the China unit, which was moving toward the Chinese Turkestan border to meet Haardt's main party, to proceed no further.

This action was taken, officials said, because of the "high-handed conduct" of members of the French government. The National Society for the Preservation of Antiquities also urged that the Chinese Minister in Paris file a strong protest with the French foreign office against the expedition being advertised at the colonial exposition as "The Yellow Crossing," which was regarded as an insult to the Chinese nation.

The China unit of the expedition left here last May in seven automobiles and was to meet Haard late this month. While en route friction developed between French and Chinese members of the group. Two Chinese left the party and returned to Peiping to complain to the Society for Preservation of Antiquities.

This society, which recently caused the expulsion of Sir Aurel Stein, so they circled around outside the field and slipped into an empty hangar.

Reporters Join in Battle.

The crowd soon found them, however, and stormed the doors. There were new scenes of wild excitement in the hangar, reporters and cameramen fighting for their rights and the general public equally pugnacious in pursuit of their determination to see all that happened.

Again Post and Gatty, with the former's wife, fled the field, but remembering a promise made by their representatives here that a general interview would be given the press, they returned again.

For half an hour more they talked as best they could with almost 100 reporters, each of whom wanted an answer to his question. It was almost 9 o'clock before they at last got away for New York and the first real night's sleep they have had since they lifted into the air on their great adventure in the rainy dawn of last Tuesday.

Lindbergh Joins in Welcome.

Several famous fliers were at the field to greet Post and Gatty. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was there with his wife, Col. and Mrs. Clarence Chamberlin, who had just returned yesterday from New Brunswick with Ruth Nichols, who crashed there at the start of an Atlantic flight; Bert Acosta and William Brock. All spoke enthusiastically of this latest great achievement of the air.

Among the most enthusiastic were Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, who also are planning a world flight. Pangborn and Herndon said that their project still stood despite the fact that Post and Gatty had set such a hard mark to shoot at.

Although Mrs. Post was here, arriving several hours before her husband, Mrs. Gatty was less fortunate. She was making the last stage of a flight from the Gatty home on the West Coast and had not yet arrived when her husband dropped out of the dusk to the uproarious greeting of the crowd. Arrangements were made to have her join her husband at his New York hotel.

Gala Welcome Due Today.

Tonight was given to the fliers by city officials to catch up some of the many hours' sleep they have lost during the past week, but tomorrow bright and early they will be summoned from bed to receive a typical Manhattan welcome, such as has been accorded all previous famous American fliers and many foreign ones.

They will be taken out into the Hudson on the city tug Macom, landed at the Battery, and paraded up Broadway through the narrow canyons of the financial district to be officially welcomed and congratulated by Mayor Walker.

What happens after that is more or less to be determined by the time and whatever conditions may develop. F. C. Hall, financial backer of the world flight, which was made in a plane owned by him and named for his daughter, indicated that immediate plans for the fliers were indefinite in the extreme, but he spoke, somewhat hesitantly, of a possible Pacific flight next year.

Fliers Calm During Ovation.

In all the wild scenes attendant upon the landing the fliers themselves were probably the calmest of all the hundreds swarming over the field. Post, who, though he has the sight of only one eye, had piloted the ship over the long trail around the world, was visibly tired and seemed anxious only to get away from the jostle and the din and find some quiet place for a brief reunion chat with his wife before tumbling into bed.

Gatty, who sat in a separate compartment and navigated the Winnie Mae over three continents, seemed scarcely to notice the ovation, all his thoughts being for his wife he was soon to see again.

Despite fears and nerves both women were tremendously proud of their husbands.

Mrs. Gatty was proud to think that her man was "making air history."

THE WASHINGTON POST

POST AND GATTY WIN GOAL SET IN DREAMS

Victorious Young Aviators Are Recruits From Other Walks of Life.

New York, July 1 (A.P.).—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, like most pioneers, are young. Post is 32 and Gatty is only 28. There is another similarity between them in that they both came to flying from other spheres of activity.

Post was a farm boy who dreamed high dreams as he trudged behind his team. The brown fields would suddenly disappear and the youth would see himself plowing fast furrows across the cloud-banked meadows of the sky.

The dream was slow of realization, but fulfillment came at last. Strangely enough, it was an accident that gave him the chance he longed for. He was working in the oil fields, and an industrial accident destroyed the sight of one eye. With the compensation money he bought his first plane.

It was an old crate that had long seen its best days, and the best hadn't been very good, but the barnstormer who sold it threw in some instruction. Post flew an hour and 40 minutes with this man, and then took the ship up himself. That was in 1924, and he's been flying ever since.

Gatty, a Tasmanian, began his professional life on the seas, but his eyes, too, wandered always to the freer, faster element aloft. Trained in the Royal Australian Naval College, Gatty gained wide experience in navigation afloat before finally turning his talents to aviation.

Last summer he started out with Harold Bromley on a projected nonstop flight from Japan to the United States. They had been in the air 25 hours and were 1,200 miles at sea, when a broken exhaust ring flooded the cabin with carbon monoxide gas. Gatty, however, succeeded in directing Bromley back to Japan, where the plucky little navigator was confined to bed for two months with gas poisoning.

After leaving the sea in 1927, Gatty established a navigational school in Los Angeles with a branch at San Diego. He has instructed many famous fliers, including Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, Col. Art Goebel and others. With Lieut. Comdr. P. V. H. Weems, of the Navy, who taught Col. Lindbergh navigation, Gatty has written numerous textbooks on aerial navigation.

Like Post, he is married, but he has three young sons, whereas Post is childless. He lives in Los Angeles.

Post was born in Grand Plain, Tex., but his parents later moved to Oklahoma and still live in that State at Maysville. He was a barnstormer for several years after obtaining his first plane, and then entered the employ of Hall. Flying the same ship he has used for the world flight, he won the nonstop derby from Los Angeles to the national air races at Chicago last year.

Stowaway, 10, Balked In Effort to See Fliers

Roosevelt Field, Long Island, July 1 (A.P.).—Jimmy Long, 10, who stowed away on a coastwise vessel out of Boston because he wanted to see Wiley Post and Harold Gatty finish their round-the-world flight at Roosevelt Field, was among those absent tonight.

Jimmy, clad in overalls, tried his best when the boat docked at Manhattan today to talk himself out of his predicament. He had no ticket, so police sent him back to Boston on the night boat.

Agriculture Official Gets New Assignment

Samuel Henry McCrory, former chief of the the division of agricultural engineering, Bureau of Public Roads, Department of Agriculture, yesterday became head of the newly organized Bureau of Agricultural Engineering recently formed within the department.

A native of Iowa City, Iowa, Mr. McCrory first became connected with the department as a drainage engineer with the office of experiment stations in January, 1907. He later became engineer in charge of drainage investigations, and, in August, 1913, chief of drainage investigations. He is past president of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers.

Chicago Group Seeks Way Out of Fund Mask

Chicago, July 1 (A.P.).—Eleven men, representing almost as many interests, today were assigned the task of unfying the financial tangle which has Chicago, Cook County, and several other counties of the State almost paralyzed.

Two objects were placed before the committee, appointed at a conference called by Gov. Louis Emmerson—immediate relief, particularly for Chicago, and a revised taxing system to preclude the possibility of another such muddle.

it. Through fog and rain. Just before night mostly, when we couldn't see."

The Russians, Gatty said, were "very nice—they did everything they could."

"We had a little difficulty with languages at times," he said, but he spoke a little French and that helped.

Post said he thought he had lost five or six pounds in weight. Their diet, he said, was mainly black bread and water. Gatty smiled and said:

"I don't think I lost any. I feel fine."

As for their plans for the next few days and after, Post said:

"Nothing definite. Rest up a bit, I guess."

At this point someone asked them please to give the photographers a chance.

The fliers were convoyed by a police bodyguard through the hangar doors and posed a few moments. Then they were whisked away through a barely open lane of scrambling, shoving men, women and children including squalling babes in arms, toward New York and their hotel.

Robbins and Jones in Seattle.

SUDDEN STORM COOLS CAPITAL AFTER HEAT PROSTRATES 11

today to determine the exact cause of death.

The storm was also blamed for a freak accident in Maryland in which a man, recently released from a hospital, and his bride of a few minutes were injured.

Invalid and Bride Hurt.

Clayton E. Marcum, 24 years old, of Holand, Ky., was released yesterday from Walter Reed Hospital in Washington. He still had his leg in a plaster cast, but he limped on crutches to the courthouse in Rockville with his fiancee, Miss Mary E. Biser, 21 years old, of Barnesville, Md.

They obtained the license about 4 o'clock and were married a short time later. Then they got in an automobile, and with the bride driving, headed for her home in Barnesville.

They had almost reached Darnestown when the storm broke over them. The car skidded on the wet road and crashed into a telephone pole. Mr. Marcum suffered a fractured knee, on the same leg which had been previously broken. His bride was cut and bruised. The couple was taken to the home of friends near Hyattatown.

In the Capital itself the storm was held indirectly responsible for the painful injuries suffered by Mrs. Mary Eleanor Coeyman, 84, when she was struck by an auto in front of her home at 233 Eighth street southeast. Taken to Casualty Hospital in an ambulance, she was treated for extenside lacerations on the right side of the body.

Woman Struck by Car.

Mrs. Coeyman and her grandson, Martin Richardson, had returned to the house after taking a motor drive to escape the heat. As they drew up across the street from the house, the storm broke. Mrs. Coeyman stepped out and into the path of a machine driven by Harry Thomas, colored, of Sixth street near K southeast. The darkness, wind and rain were held contributory factors in the accident.

A man was injured when he was pinned beneath a heavy tree limb blown down by the storm. William Sellers, 42 years old, of 420 Second street northwest, was standing in the yard of a neighbor at 412 Second street. A sudden gust of wind tore a huge limb from a tree and hurled it 15 feet through the air, pinning Mr. Sellers under it. He was released by passers-by and was found only slightly injured.

Chapin King, who was unable to give his address, was taken to Providence Hospital after he was overcome at Seventh and B streets southwest.

Kenturan Snowden, colored, 24 years old, 1527 Fifth street northwest, succumbed as she was working at a laundry at New Yor kavenue and Fifth street northwest. She was removed to her home and later taken to Casualty Hospital.

Lightning struck several trees and at least one house in Washington, but damage from that source was slight.

The home of Frank A. Front, 1328 Jonquil street northwest, was struck, but firemen who responded to a call found only damage was a small leak in the roof caused by the dislodging of several shingles. They fixed the roof for Mr. Front.

A number of bricks in the chimney of a house at 2001 Douglas street northwest were dislodged by another bolt. Firemen said that no other damage was found. The house is occupied by Walter J. Stewart.

Police were rushed to 238 Eighth street northwest after receiving a report that lightning had struck a man at that address. They found that a tree had been hit and its branches scattered over the street. Another tree at 616 A street northeast was struck by lightning.

At the height of yesterday's storm an auto driven by Edgar L. G. Prochnik, the Austrian Minister, was struck by a taxicab as the envoy was in the act of turning off Massachusetts avenue into the driveway of the legation at 2343. The cab, operated by Ralph W. Knight, of Eighth street, near K street northwest, was damaged to the amount of $75.

Six new automobiles weer damaged when the wind tore off the sheet metal covering of a runway at the Ourisman sales rooms, 610 H street northeast, where they were standing.

The thunderstorm followed a day of intense heat and suffering for those who were forced to be about the streets on their daily errands.

At the kiosk, the unofficial temperature skyrocketed to 105 degrees, and the spot on Pennsylvania avenue in front of The Post drew crowds throughout the day. The peak of 105 was reached there at 4:30 o'clock.

Early reports from the Weather Bureau indicated there would be no relief from the sweltering heat for at least two days, and Washington resigned itself to its fate. About 5:30 o'clock, however, leaden black clouds began to form over the Northeast section of the city, and a short time later the thunderstorm, accompanied by a heavy rain, broke.

The storm hardly lasted 30 minutes, but it was enough. At 5:45, when the wind and rain started, the official thermometer stood at 81. At 6:30 p. m. it had dropped to 71 degrees. At the kiosk, the thermometer registered 81 degrees after the storm.

The heat became so intense yesterday afternoon that officials decided to give Government employes housed in temporary buildings the rest of the day off. The move was decided upon about 2:30 o'clock when the thermometer in those buildings stood at about 103 degrees.

Limb Falls on Man.

The Federal Trade Commission was the first to let its workers out, followed by the Census Bureau, the Biological Survey and others.

Thirteen succumbed to the heat yesterday.

An employe of the District, Aloysius P. Shields, was overcome while at work in the water registrar's office at the District Building. He was taken to his home, 70 Seaton place, after treatment.

The weather here proved too hot for a Floridian, Clark Arnold, 89 years old, of Lakeland, Fla., who left 4100 K street northwest yesterday morning, saying he was going to get a shave. Later he was found unconscious near the tracks of the Washington and Old Dominion Railway not far from Rosslyn. He was removed to Georgetown Hospital, where his condition is undetermined.

Woman Shopper Is Overcome.

Mrs. W. O. Williams, 51 years old, of 77 Lee highway, Cherrydale, Va., was overcome while on a shopping tour in Washington. She was taken to her home. Her condition is not considered serious.

James Meade, 63 years old, of 65 C street southwest, collapsed on a truck and was taken to Emergency Hospital.

Thomas Haislip, 59 years old, a carpenter, was removed to his home, 729 Tenth street southeast, after he was overcome while at work at 1400 K street southeast.

Jack Hupp, of 813 Tenth street northwest, a taxi driver, was overcome while seated in a restaurant on New York avenue, near Twelfth street northwest. He refused hospital treatment.

Laborer Is Prostrated.

Daniel Hawkins, colored, 55 years old, of 302 P street, was taken to Walter Reed Hospital for treatment of heat exhaustion. He collapsed while at work with a gang of laborers in the 5500 block of Ninth street.

Frank Selby, 27 years old, of 2907 Olive avenue northwest, was overcome while riding on his automobile truck at Thirty-third street and Byers alley northwest. He was treated at Georgetown Hospital.

Howard Carter, 23 years old, colored laborer, of 1448 Q street northwest, was admitted to Casualty Hospital after he had been overcome while at work at First and Pierce streets northeast.

Thomas Bennett, 35 years old, another colored laborer, was treated at Georgetown Hospital after he had been overcome while at work.

Kiosk Records 105 Degrees.

An unidentified colored man, overcome while at work at 3728 Benton street northwest, left the place before the Emergency Hospital ambulance arrived.

The rain, which come up so unexpectedly from the northeast, during the half-hour of its fury gave Washington a precipitation of .79. Water on upper Connecticut avenue near Albemarle street, reached a depth of 3 feet and tied up street car and automotive traffic for some time. Automobiles wer e routed around through other streets.

Telephone Service Hard Hit.

Five hundred telephones are out of order in Washington and nearby suburbs of Virginia and Maryland. A tree, blown across the wires about 2 miles this side of Rockville, Md., has cut off communication between Washington, Rockville, Gaithersburg, Frederick and Cumberland.

Several trees hit the line between Alexandria and Fort Humphries, putting 30 wires out of order connecting these two cities and Lorton, the District of Columbia prison.

The program of W. J. S. V., Mount Vernon Hills, Va., radio station was interrupted.

Service was interrupted between Washington, Annapolis and Bowie exchanges.

Lightning Strikes Wires.

Lightning struck wires on the Brookville road while the strong wind blew down cables in half a dozen other places, cutting off electric power from a large area in Chevy Chase, Woodridge and Franklin street northeast. Signal lights on street car lines to Maryland, Kenilworth and Congress Heights were extinguished as the result of fuses being burned out by the storm.

The emergency force of the Potomac Electric Power & Light Co. was taxed to capacity, forces of worgers being rushed immediately to the affected areas. At 11 o'clock last night, the Chevy Chase section in Maryland was still in darkness. Locations where wind tore down wires were on Underwood street, Hesketh street, Stanford street and Colesville road, in the Chevy Chase area.

Nearby County Suffers.

One of the most severe wind storms followed by rain in Fairfax County yesterday evening disrupted electric and telephone service for almcst 2 hours. The towns of Fairfax, Clifton, Herndon and Vienna were in darkness throughout the storm. Wires were down in many sections. Telephone service especially on rural lines was almost impossible. Regular and emergency line crews for both companies were called out to repair the damage and it is expected that they will be kept busy all night.

Arlington County was in the grip of one of the most severe wind and electrical storms that section has known in years for almost two hours. The wind and rain swept across Key Bridge, making the span hazardous for traffic at its height.

Lightning struck the dome of the Clarendon Baptist Church, with slight damage, and the home of Albert H. Cohen, on Pershing Drive, Lyon Park, was slightly damaged by a bolt.

Homes Flooded in Suburbs.

In Chevy Chase and Bethesda homes were flooded by the heavy rain and the fire departments of those two towns were called to pump out cellars. At Sandy Spring the culvert which spans the B. & O. tracks at Georgia avenue was flooded to a depth of four feet and two automobiles were stalled there. Traffic was tied up for some time.

At Kensington the Carnival of Kensington Volunteer Fire Department was postponed by the elements. The department had expected to open its show last night but the wind ripped away all of the tents and canvass erted in preparation for the event.

Electric service in Chevy Chase, North Chevy Chase and Kensington was faulty after the storm.

Temperatures hourly between 10 a. m. and 4:30 p. m., contrasting the official Weather Bureau report and the Pennsylvania avenue kiosk, are as follows:

PAIR, FOR DISTANCE, HELD UNBEATABLE

Post Wouldn't Be Kept on Farm; Gatty Is Called Ace Navigator.

New York, July 1 (U.P.).—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, who circled the earth by plane in about the time it takes some liners to cross the Atlantic, constitute an unbeatable team for long-distance flying, in the opinion of other flying men, among them Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Post, at the controls, and Gatty, with his precise knowledge of navigation, they say, are capable of remarkable performance, as demonstrated in their breath-taking jaunt around the world.

These two men met in California, when Post was working as a test pilot at the Lockheed plant in Los Angeles. Gatty was instructing Harold Bromley in the art of navigation for a projected flight across the Pacific to Japan. Gatty accompanied Bromley on the flight, and when they were lost in the fog, plotted a course which brought the plane back to safety.

Post is 32 years old, and though he lives in Oklahoma, he is a native of Texas. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Post, have a 90-acre farm north of Maysville, Okla., and in a recent interview the flier's father told of his efforts to "keep Wiley on the farm."

Injury Started Air Career.

They didn't want Wiley to go traipsing off to the oil fields as he did. They had cut him out to be a farmer. Wiley always had a knack for mechanical things and was forever tinkering with mowing machines, binders and whatnot around the place.

Eventually he went away to school to study mechanics, and the first thing his parents knew he was working in the Oklahoma oil fields. One day an accident befell him, and he lost the sight of his left eye. He was paid $2,000 by the company for which he worked, and that was the beginning of his flying career.

He started, in 1924, as a parachute jumper with a barnstorming party. Between jumps—he made 91 of them in all—he learned to fly. Finally he bought his own ship and became a barnstormer in his own right.

He first came into prominence as a capable pilot in 1930, when pitted against four of the Nation's fastest fliers, he won the Pacific Coast Nonstop Derby to Chicago.

Hall Presents Plane.

In that race he flew the Winnie Mae, the same ship that took him around the world, distancing such stars of the airways as Art Goebel, William Brock, Lee Schoenhair and Roscoe Turner.

F. C. Hall, the Oklahoma oil man who provided the plane for the Chicago Derby, was so pleased with Wiley's performance that he made him a present of the plane, in addition to $15,000 in cash.

"Well," said Wiley, "I don't know what I'll do with all this money unless I fly around the world." And fly around the world he did.

The ship was named the Winnie Mae for Hall's daughter. Wiley got Gatty, who is an Australian and 28 years old, for his flying mate. And quietly, but with determination, they laid their plans for the history-making flight.

Gatty is considered one of the best navigators in aviation. He learned the fundamentals of the business in the Australian Naval Academy and then was instructed by Lieut. Comdr. V. H. Weems, of the United States Navy, who taught Lindbergh how to guide himself by the sun and stars.

Gatty taught Mrs. Lindbergh how to fly.

Gen. Albert Goodwyn Succumbs in Alabama

Birmingham, Ala., July 1 (A.P.).—Gen. Albert T. Goodwyn, 89, former commander in chief of the United Confederate Veterans and a former Representative of Alabama in Congress, died today of a heart attack.

He was elected commander of the veterans at the reunion in Little Rock, Ark., in 1928, and served until the 1929 reunion. He was also honorary vice president of the Robert E. Lee Memorial Foundation.

Sergt. Jasper Post Names Convention Delegates

Sergt. Jasper Post, No. 13, American Legion, last night elected ten delegates to the annual departmental convention, which will be held in Washington, starting August 5.

They are William A. Kehoe, post commander; Louis R. Dennis, Thomas J. Frailey, W. P. Kershner, Joseph J. Malloy, Edward L. Marthill, Francis J. McDonald, John I. McGinnis, Paul H. McMurray and Daniel H. Pratt.

U. S. OFFICIALS HEAP PLAUDITS ON AIRMEN

Flight Reflects Credit on Civil Aviation, Lamont Wires Post and Gatty.

(Associated Press.)

Acclaim and tribute for Wiley Post and Harold Gatty went forth from Washington officials last night as the news spread that the two fliers had completed their record-breaking journey around the world.

"Your skill as pilot and navigator and the excellent performance of your flying equipment reflect great credit upon civil aeronautics of the United States," Secretary Lamont wired them.

Assistant Secretary Davison, of the War Department, said: "Because of you the world is smaller than before. The Army Air Corps admires and honors you."

Other comment said:

Maj. Gen. James E. Fechet, chief of the Army Air Corps: "Your epoch-making achievement adds another testimonial to the courage, dash and daring of American aviators and it will have a far-reaching effect on the future of aviation."

Assistant Secretary Ingalls of the Navy: "The flight is an extraordinary tribute not only to the ability, fortitude and endurance of the men themselves, but also to the reliability of the planes and engines of today. This flight undoubtedly will instill great confidence in aviation in our people."

Assistant Secretary Young of the Commerce Department: "You are to be congratulated on your perfect piloting and navigating, and the behavior of your airplane, engine and accessory equipment bring further credit to the American aircraft industry."

Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics: "History will record this as one of the greatest flights ever made; not as a stunt, but as a striking example of the practicability of long-distance air transportation. The clocklike precision with which the trip was consummated bears ample testimony to the thoroughness of preparation and the untiring ability of the two men."

the traffic director has been challenged several times, but the then first assistant director of traffic continued to rule on whether or not a motorist should be permitted to drive his car after he had been convicted of some offense.

Only recently it was revealed at a hearing before an assistant corporation counsel that Mr. Eldridge had revoked the permit of a man whose name had been used by a convicted bootlegger, then in jail. Fred A. Maltby, attorney for the defendant, declared that the assistant traffic director had been told of this mistaken identity, but Mr. Eldridge asserted that he was unaware of the mix-up.

As under the old system, a motorist who is deprived of his permit by the board will have the right to appeal to the District Commissioners. This appeal hereafter will be submitted to the corporation counsel for recommendation before the Commissioners act on it.

William A. Van Duzer was sworn in yesterday as director of the Department of Vehicles and Traffic by Mr. Garges. For the present he will maintain headquarters in the Walker Building, which also serves as Police Headquarters.

Mr. Van Duzer has a definite program for improving Washington's traffic situation.

First, he is going to remove more than 1,500 parking and other traffic regulation signs, he told newspaper reporters after he was sworn in yesterday. He believes that parking restrictions can be more satisfactorily indicated by painting curbstones, thus improving the appearance of the streets, and making it easier for motorists to comply with regulations.

Acceleration of downtown and arterial traffic and decision as to whether the present rotary left turn for vehicles at controlled intersections is to be returned are the main traffic problems to be tackled, he believes.

Avenues and streets carrying heavy traffic are to be marked with four lanes—a dividing line in the center of roadway separating traffic proceeding in opposite directions and each of the two lanes thus created to be divided into two or three sublanes depending on the width of the street.

A careful study and survey of the present left turn at signal light and policeman-controlled intersections is to be made by experts. Mr. Van Duzer said that while the rotary system is used in only one other city—Cleveland—it has the decided advantage of providing greater advantage for the pedestrian.

Commissioners Named For Freight Rate Quiz

(Associated Press.)

The Interstate Commerce Commission announced yesterday that Commissioners Meyer, Lewis and Lee would conduct the investigation into the railroads' petition for a 15 per cent freight rate increase. They will be assisted by Examiners Disque, Mattingly and Hosmer.

The commission also said four meetings of State railroad and utility commissioners would be held in various parts of the country on July 7 to select representatives of the States to sit with the commissioners. The meetings will be in Washington, Atlanta, Kansas City and Salt Lake City.

Troops Sent to Malaga To End Election Riots

Gibraltar, July 1 (U.P.).—Information received in the Spanish zone near here tonight said Spanish regiments garrisoned in the surrounding region had been ordered to Malaga, where a general strike and riots have caused a serious situation since the Spanish election Sunday. All available motor transports were commandeered due to a lack of government facilities. It also was rumored that airplanes, troops and warships from Morocco had been suddenly ordered to Malaga.

Five persons have been killed in rioting at Malaga since Sunday. A general strike was called in protest over the killing of a youth there at the time of minor political disturbances during the election.

RED ACTIVITY ADDS TO BERLIN'S WORRY

Raids on Communists and Police Killing Render Situation Acute.

Berlin, July 1 (A.P.).—German statesmen and most of the public watched Paris for Hoover plan developments with the tensest attention today while a burst of National Socialist and Communist activity warned the government that the sharpest watchfulness was also needed at home.

The answer of Minister of the Interior Severing of Prussia to the communist challenge — which was sharpened by the killing of a police sergeant last night in a red riot—was to order that police henceforth not wait to be shot but themselves shoot in any demonstration taking on the character of "an attack on the state."

Severing's order came after secret and political police, under the protection of uniformed police, had raided Communist offices throughout the city.

The police found evidence indicating that last night's riot was one of a series planned in connection with the International Communist spark takiade (athletic meet) which was to culminate July 4 in a gigantic demonstration "against the Bruening government and fascism."

Two Universities Closed.

The Spartakiade was forthwith outlawed and all its organizing committees ordered disbanded.

The National Socialists, besides engaging in their customary clashes with Communists, have been unusually active in the universities this week.

Two German universities had to be closed temporarily and the authorities of several others were forced to appeal to the police to quell clashes between Nazi (National Socialists) and Communist students. Also there were Nazi demonstrations against Jewish or pacifist professors.

The demonstrations against professors reached a climax with the hurling of a cluster of powder-loaded tear bombs into a student audience at Kiel today during a speech by Prof. Walther Schuecking, a judge of the World Court and a consistent pacifist who stuck to his antimilitary views even during the war.

Foreign Office Noncommittal.

As a result of these demonstrations the Communists and Nazi press paid small attention to the Paris negotiations over the American war debt plan. The newspaper Rote Fanne relegated "the Hoover poison gas cloud" to page 2 and the Hitlerite Angrieff remarked that the Franco-American agreement would be expected "naturally to be to the disadvantage of Germany."

The moderate press, on the other hand, remarked with much satisfaction on Italy's "do it now" example and the continued firm stand of the United States.

The foreign office continued today to maintain its outward noncommittal attitude and its unrelaxed opposition to mixing in the Franco-American negotiations.

Foreign Minister Curtius and Chancellor Bruening, however, remained in closest touch with United States Ambassador Frederic M. Sackett.

Sanitary Changes Sought.

At a meeting of the Howard Park Citizens Association, held last night at the Church of Our Redeemer, Eighth street, near Barry place northwest, matters pertaining to better lighting facilities for streets and better sanitary conditions, were discussed and a resolution was adopted asking the District Commmissioners to aid them in having sanitary conditions on Ninth street northwest cleaned up.

Text of American Note To France on Debt Plan

duly low prices of agriculture. The offer met with a world-wide response. What it meant in the way of restoring confidence is reflected in the rise of commodity and security prices throughout the markets of the world.

All of the interested governments have signified their acquiescence. France, however, suggests certain conditions which, if we understand their import, seem to us to withhold the intended relief to Germany and not to conform to the spirit of the President's proposal which contemplated a complete suspension of all payments on intergovernmental debts during a period of one year. In order that we may now cover one point left open in the original proposal, we may add that it is our view that all postponed payments should be funded over a long period of, say, 25 years, and to bear interest at the average rate paid by the creditor governments on their own public debt at the end of the preceding fiscal year.

One Year Is Limit.

It is, of course, an essential part of the President's proposal that payments under all existing agreements shall be resumed at the end of the year. Thus, the continuing force of these agreements is in no way impaired.

In this proposal to postpone for the forthcoming year the payments due under its own international agreements, the American Government will be contributing a total of $262,000,000, which is the largest contribution made by any government. It recognizes, however, that substantial sacrifices will be called for by other governments, including that of France. It is obvious that on the success of the plan Germany will be the largest immediate beneficiary, since the payments which she is obligated to make during the coming year on account of intergovernmetnal debts are about $400,000,000. Other nations and dominions will also benefit by various sums in addition to the $400,000,000. It must be remembered, however, that Germany is in the most difficult economic situation of any country. We feel that in a larger sense all the nations will benefit from the improvement in their economic life which will follow the adoption of the President's program.

Our Government welcomed the statement of France on the 24th of June expressing her keen desire to collaborate and especially the specific statement that France "would abstain as a provisional measure and during a period of one year from retaining any payment sent by the German government." In this connection we emphasize again the "provisional" character of the President's plan.

The French government insists, however, as a matter of principle, that unconditional reparations amounting to approximately $131,000,000 the year should be paid in order that there might be no interruption of the continuity of the payment of unconditional annuities. Our Government is willing to recognize this point of view to the extent of agreeing that the payments should be made to the Bank of International Settlements, provided they be immediately reloaned to the German government. This would maintain the principle of continuity of payment and at the same time constitute no drain on the German general economy. We seem then to be agreed on two all-important points:

Points of Agreement.

First—That France will forego the retention of any payments from Germany for the period of one year, and Second—That the principle of continuity of payment of unconditional annuities is recognized while complete relief to Germany is afforded.

There would seem to remain four points of difference:

First—We understand that the French government desired to have the B. I. S. reloan the sums paid to German industrial and finance concerns rather than to the German government. We feel this would be incompatible with the President's proposal of relief to governments, as the French suggestion would give no direct relief to the German government.

Second.—Th French government suggests that $25,000,000 of the unconditional payments paid into the B. I. S. should be made available for loans to central European countries, more particularly those whose budgets are affected by the suspension of reparations payments.

The divertsion of this sum from Germany is a violation of the broad proposal of the President to suspend all payments of intergovernmental debts. Moreover, the practical disadvantage of this exception to the President's proposal is that if any of the other countries who have already accepted the President's proposal should make a similar sugestion with reference to loans to particular countries, the reconsiliation of all these differences would be practically impossible. Cculd the principle of the President's proposal be preserved and this relatively small amount of relief be given to particular countries through cooperative action of the central banks or through the B. I. S.?

Third.—The two governments differ as to the time over which the suspended payments should be funded. Without at this time modifying our suggestion that 25 years is the proper length of time, we do not believe that it would be impossible to reach an agrement on this point provided the other questions could be disposed of, especially if no repayments are to be made in the next two years, as suggested by the French government. But, of course, the same length of time will apply to the payment on account of the American debt.

Guarantee Most Important.

Fourth—The question involving the greatest difficulty is that referring to the guarantee fund. We recognize that, under the terms of the Young plan, France is obligated, in case of suspension by Germany of conditional reparations, to pay into the Bank of International Settlements on demand the sum of approximately $120,000,000, to be applied in part to increasing payments to be received by other creditors during the period of suspension.

There are two aspects of the suggestion of France with reference to the guarantee fund:

A. France desires to be sure that the suspension of payments during the forthcoming year shall not throw upon her the obligation to pay into the Bank for International Settlements the guarantee fund. We sympathize with France in this aspect of the question. We think this fear is groundless, because if all governments agree to the American proposal, then there can be no demand of a creditor government for payment. If France, however, has a real fear on this subject, then the other governments concerned should expressly free France from this anxiety.

B. The other aspect, however, of the question with reference to the Guarantee Fund is more serious. Not only the spirit of the President's proposal, but the express provision thereof is that the offer of the American Government is conditional on a like postponement for one year of all payments on intergovernmental debts owing the important creditor powers. It appears to us also to seriously impair the spirit of the declaration of France to the effect that she wishes no benefits from the payments. The French government apparently desires her postponement of unconditional payments to take the form of a payment into the B. I. S. and a loan back to Germany. This naturally contemplates that those loans back to Germany should be on the same footing so far as length of time of postponement, &c., as similar arrangements made by any other government. When, however, the French government couples with this suggestion the further suggestion that the loans back to Germany shall be considered exactly as though cash payments had been made by Germany to France and cash loans had been made by France to Germany and that these loans should be considered in all future times as funds available to France to reduce or satisfy her guarantee as to subsequent years, she is departing substantially from not only the spirit but the substance of the President's offer.

Inconsistency Seen.

To state the problem a little differently, France appears to be insisting that the funds paid by Germany into the B. I. S. during the year of suspension and reloaned to Germany must be credited to the guarantee fund just as if France herself had actually made the deposit, thus relieving France of any future obligation in respect of the guarantee fund. This seems to us to be inconsistent with the suggestion that the payment by Germany into the B. I. S. during the period of suspension is a mere matter of form, in order to assure the continuity of unconditional payment. What was regarded as a matter of form in the first instance is now evidently to be treated as an actual payment. In any event, it seems clear that this particular proposal involves a modification of the Young plan, which we understand the French government was particularly anxious to avoid. The American Government, not being a signatory, of course can not undertake to negotiate change.

The American Government feels that perhaps there is some misunderstanding on the part of France as to the sacrifices which would be required from her under the plan proposed. We must assume that with the present situation in Germany and the failure of the American proposals, then Germany will unquestionably give notice for the postponement of all conditional reparations as provided in the Young plan, and that this portion of intergovernmental payments will not be forthcoming.

Therefore, in measuring the sacrifices necessary there can only be considered the effect of the unconditional payments if Germany is able to find a foreign exchange necessary to meet these payments. If the American proposal shall fail and if unconditional payments are postponed under the provision of the Young plan, and even assuming that unconditional payments are maintained, France would receive from these unconditional payments, after priorities have been accepted, approximately $105,000,000. She would be obliged to pay:

(a) The guarantee fund of $13[illegible]-000,000 under the Young plan.

(b) $110,000,000 to Great Britain and the United States approximately.

Whereas her receipts from the unconditional reparations, even if they be maintained, would be less than one-half of this sum. Thus, if the American proposal should fail and the suspension provisions of the Young plan be invoked by Germany then France will be the loser during the forthcoming year of general postponement by over $100,000,000.

There is no escaping the fact that the world will not emerge from the present depression without temporary sacrifices by all. Our Government believes that cooperative action in the carrying out of a well-conceived and agreed-on program will not only diminish the burden but contribute materially to the restoration of normal conditions which all of the nations so earnestly hope for. In the light of this major objective, the American Government hopes that the French government, whose cooperation is so essential, will find a method to reconcile existing differences so as to permit a concerted effort by all in the carrying out of the President's program.

FRANCE SCRUTINIZES U. S. MEMORANDUM

Friendly Warning Reminds Paris Failure to Agree May Mean Loss.

Paris, July 1 (A.P.).—Premier Laval and his associates in the negotiations with American representatives concerning President Hoover's moratorium offer spent this night studying a seven-page memorandum summarizing the American position, and tomorrow the document will be examined at a special meeting of the whole French cabinet.

The memorandum is not to be considered as a note from Washington to the French government, but simply as an outline of the American Government's stand communicated by Washington to Ambassador Walter E. Edge for his information and guidance.

Nevertheless, the document, which took the French somewhat by surprise when the ambassador gave a copy of it to Premier Laval, undoubtedly will have the greatest importance in the Franco-American negotiations. It was disclosed at the end of today's conference that the memorandum revealed the existence of appreciable divergencies between the two governments, but a communique emphasized that it also showed a willingness by the Americans to continue negotiations.

Resume Deliberations Today.

No agreement was reached at today's meeting principally because most of the time was devoted to reading and commenting on the memorandum. The cabinet will continue similar deliberations tomorrow morning and a Franco-American meeting is scheduled for tomorrow evening.

Failure to attain an agreement today does not indicate that an accord will not be achieved eventually.

Publication of the American memorandum confirmed previous reports that the outstanding difficulty from Washington's viewpoint concerns the guarantee fund which France, under the Young plan, is obligated to pay into the Bank of International Settlements in case Germany's conditional reparations payments are suspended.

That sum is approximately $125,000,000 for application in part to increasing payments to be received by other creditors during the period of suspension.

Attitude Held Inconsistent.

France wants to be sure that suspension of payments under the Hoover plan would not oblige her to pay the guarantee fund, but the United States does not share the French fear in this regard, and suggests that other governments concerned should free France from this anxiety.

The American memorandum objects to the French attitude on the guarantee fund because Washington believes France seems to be insisting that funds paid by Germany into the world bank during the year of suspension and reloaned to Germany must be credited to the guarantee fund as though France herself actually had made the deposit.

Washington considers this inconsistent with the French suggestion that payment by Germany into the world bank is a mere matter of form to assume continuity of the unconditional payments.

The United States contends also that this proposal involves modification of the Young plan, a thing which France always has wished to avoid.

Friendly Warning Issued.

The American memorandum repeats that since the United States is not a signatory to the Young plan she can not undertake to negotiate any change in that plan.

The document serves a friendly warning that if the Hoover plan fails and Germany demands a moratorium under the young plan, France will lose $100,000,000 in one year.

This problem of the guarantee fund, which now looms as the biggest obstacle to success of the negotiations, may still be mastered, it is believed. The French estimate that the guarantee fund in the event of a moratorium would involve possible payment by France in one year of approximately $240,000,000. Should Germany consent to pay interest on this amount France might find a conciliatory solution by depositing French treasury bonds with the World Bank.

But there will be a deficit of almost $100,000,000 in the French budget this year and the government, it is certain, would be attacked in Parliament if it contracted to make additional sacrifices.

At tomorrow's conference France is expected to present additional counter-proposals and there is a feeling that the government will do all it can to meet President Hoover half way. There is a conviction also that today's memorandum is not the final word from Washington.

France already knows that Germany will demand a moratorium unless something like the Hoover plan is arranged. Premier Laval announced in the Chamber of Deputies last Saturday that Ambassador von Hoesch had told him Germany would be obliged to apply for a moratorium soon.

U. S. MEMORANDUM WARNING TO FRANCE and that this portion of intergovernmental debts will not be forthcoming."

The memorandum not only suggests that Germany might declare a postponement on her conditional reparations, but even hints that, by refusing to convert reichmarks into francs, she might postpone unconditional payments.

How France Would Lose.

The memorandum then goes on to show how France, by being required to put $106,000,000 in the Bank of International Settlements in order to guarantee reparations payments to those countries that would be affected by a German moratorium, and by paying $110,000,000 in debts to the United States and Great Britain would end up the year $100,000,000 or more the loser.

At the outset, the memorandum points out that President Hoover made his proposal as a direct result of the crisis in Germany. The President, it was stated, felt that in helping Germany he would be advancing the economic recovery of the world.

The memorandum covered one point that had been overlooked in the original proposal, that dealing with the time in which suspended payments should be paid back.

The United States suggests that these suspended payments be funded over a period of 25 years, and that they bear interest at the average rate paid by creditor nations on their own public debts.

Germany's Plight Shown.

The memorandum points out that, as a result of the Hoover proposal, the United States would forego $262,000,000 in debt collections, by far the largest sum that any nation would pass up for the one-year holiday.

Germany, of course, it is pointed out, would be the principal beneficiary, being excused from paying something like $400,000,000.

"It must be remembered, however," says the memorandum, "that Germany is in the most difficult situation of any country. We feel that in a larger sense all nations will benefit from the improvement in their economic life which will follow the adoption of the President's program."

The points at issue, the obstacles that are now preventing a French-American agreement, are outlined pretty much in the same way that they were the day before by spokesmen for the administration.

Four Points Still at Issue.

The memorandum states that France and the United States are agreed on two all-important points.

The United States agrees with France that the Young reparations plan should be maintained, and that the continuity of unconditional payments should not be interrupted.

The United States agrees with France on this point with the understanding that France shall not retain any of the money that Germany pays.

Then the memorandum lists the four points still at issue.

The French propose that the money which Germany pays into the Bank of International Settlements be used as a basis for loans, not to the German government, but to private concerns in Germany. The United States wants the money loaned directly to the German government, so that the whole matter would be simply a bookkeeping transaction.

Counter French Proposal.

The French propose that $25,000,000 of the German unconditional payments be made the basis of loans to Central European countries that would be hard hit by the suspension of German reparations.

The memorandum says that "the diversion of this sum from Germany is a violation of the broad proposal of the President to suspend all payments of intergovernmental debts."

The memorandum then suggests that these Central European countries which will most miss the German reparations be extended loans by the Central Banks and the Bank of International Settlements.

It is not believed that this question of how the German money shall be loaned will long remain unsettled.

LIBERALS WIN POINT IN LAND TAX BATTLE

Another Crisis Averted as Lloyd George Brings Labor Consent.

London, July 1 (A.P.).—A political crisis which had threatened to end in the defeat of the Labor government in the House of Commons tomorrow, was removed tonight when the government surrendered to the Liberal demands.

After resolutely refusing to accept the Liberals' demand that all playing fields should be exempt from the land tax proposals of Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, in the finance bill, the government tonight decided to move its own amendment to the bill tomorrow. This was expected to meet with satisfaction of the Liberals.

Observers saw a rebuff to Snowden in the government's decision, as it was felt that the chancellor would have agreed to come to terms with the Liberals only after strong pressure was brought to bear by his cabinet colleagues.

Lloyd George Triumphs.

This new development also was hailed as a triumph for the Liberal leader, David Lloyd George, who was seen as having proved that he still has influence with the government, despite the contention of his political foes that he had sunk to a position of subservience.

Sport-loving Britishers will hail the new development with relief, for it means that all the golf courses, the big cricket and football grounds will be exempt from taxation. Race tracks polo fields and automobile racing grounds will not be included among the exempted properties, however.

Late tonight Sir Archibald Sinclair, chief Liberal whip, anounced that the Liberals had accepted the Government's new amendment and thus the latest of a long series of crises may be regarded as definitely over.

Valuation Delay Forecast.

There was much discusion of Snowden's announcement today that the date for starting land valuation for tax purposes should be postponed from August 1 to January 1, 1932. This suggestion will shortly be debated in the House of Commons.

In government circles it was said that this delay was due to the necessity of awaiting passage into law of the government's town planning bill, with which the land tax proposals are to some extent bound up, before beginning the valuation.

It was declared that this can not be effected before August 1, when the land valuation originally was scheduled to start.

Gen. Carr Is Given Oath As Signal Corps Chief

Maj. Gen. Irving J. Carr, recently appointed chief of the Signal Corps of the Army, yesterday was sworn into office by Maj. Gen. Blanton Winship, judge advocate general, at his new offices in the Army Munitions Building.

Carr, a native of Chippewa Falls, Wis., succeeds Maj. Gen. George S. Gibbs. By virtue of his new office he was automatically raised from the rank of colonel to that of major general.

Neighbors Use Want Ad In Flute-Player Protest

Chicago, July 1 (A.P.).—They might have come to blows and bloodshed over the noise one of these hot nights.

They might have called a cop, sent a deputation of vigilantes, cabled the World Court.

It is a tribute to advancing civilization that they took recourse to a want ad:

"Will the flute player in the 200 East Delaware block kindly cease and oblige neighbors?"

AFFAIRS SPEAKERS DEBATE PROHIBITION

Institute Session in Virginia Listens to 4-Hour Fight Over Dry Issues.

University, Va., July 1 (A.P.).—More than a score of persons led by James W. Wadsworth, jr., of New York, and Oliver W. Stewart, of the allied forces for prohibition, New York, participated in a four-hour debate on prohibition, which dominated sessions of the Institute of Public Affairs here today.

Mrs. Ella Boole, world president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, and Mrs. Carroll Miller, representing the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, who last night debated the subject before a large audience, were among those who joined in the discussion again today. Mrs. Boole charged the crusaders with perverting the name of a former organization of dry women, and insisted upon a definition of temperance which included total abstinence. Mrs. Miller replied with the statement that national prohibition was realized by back-door methods, which have resulted in "widespread hypocrisy," and asserted that she wanted her four sons to have the right of self-control without having their personal habits regulated by "hypocritical politicians in Washington."

Senator Wadsworth made a plea for repeal of the eighteenth amendment, and said "the plan fact of the matter is that national prohibition is a failure." Mr. Stewart, on the other hand, asserted that "the liquor traffic has had its day. This great democracy will not strike a bargain with the forces of crime, disorder and lawlessness, and it will yet prove to all doubters that a government of the people can attempt a righteous move and succeed at it."

Tonight Spencer Miller, jr., of New York, secretary of the Workers Educational Bureau of America, was the only other speaker.

"Education which is continuous and life-long has become an indispensable necessity if man is to come to an understanding of the world of which he is a part," Mr. Miller said. "Continuous education has, in fact, become indispensable if we are to keep from becoming uneducated."

At this afternoon's conference on problems of municipal administration Dr. F. G. Crawford, of Syracuse University, asserted that "it is almost a truism to state that the general property tax has created such a burden on real property that relief is imperative."

Liquor Agents Raid Reno Speakeasies

37 Persons Arrested Effect Release by Putting Up $2,000 Bond.

Reno, Nev., July 1 (A.P.).—Doors to Reno speakeasies were guarded closely tonight following surprise raids by Federal prohibition agents who invaded 19 night clubs and bootleg establishments and made 37 arrests last night.

Several of the places raided were known to be doing "business as usual" again today, but only old customers were successful in gaining admittance.

Col. George Seaver, of San Francisco, led more than 40 agents in the drive. Three prominent resorts were to have been included in last night's program, but there was a slip-up somewhere, Seaver said. As fast as they could make bail bond of $2,000 those arrested were released. Today not a single one remained in jail.

Feiker Sworn In as New Commerce Bureau Head

Frederick M. Feiker, of New York City, yesterday took over his new duties as chief of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the Department of Commerce, after he was formally sworn into office by Chief Clerk E. W. Libby.

Mr. Feiker succeeds William L. Cooper, who retired to return to London as American commercial attache. Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, who formerly was head of the bureau, witnessed the ceremony, as did Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont.

Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

What effect have harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos upon the throat? A famous authority, retained by us to study throat irritation, says:

"The tissues above and below the vocal chords and the vocal chords themselves may become acutely or chronically congested as a result of the inhalation of irritating fumes, in the case of chemists for example."

LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process, which includes the use of modern Ultra Violet Rays, expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. We sell these expelled irritants to manufacturers of chemical compounds. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. So "Consider your Adam's Apple"—that is your larynx—your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants. Be careful in your choice of cigarettes. Reach for a LUCKY instead.

HOWAR'S PERSONAL DEPOSITS RULED OUT

Hearing Marked by Frequent Clashes of Referee and Attorney.

Creditors of the bankrupt Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Co. were denied access to personal bank records of A. Joseph Howar, whose relations with the firm have been under inquiry, by ruling of the referee in bankruptcy yesterday.

After attorneys for creditors had passed two days in cross-examining the building contractor, Marcus Borchardt, one of the counsel, moved that Howar's National Metropolitan and Riggs Bank accounts, produced under subpena, be admitted to evidence.

Alvin Newmyer, attorney for Howar, objected. He was sustained by Referee Fred J. Eden. Borchardt took an exception and afterward told newspapermen he would appeal to the District Supreme Court.

Must Close by Thursday.

Eden advised counsel they must close their examinations under Section 21 A by next Thursday. The section affects only third party witnesses. Harry Bralove, president of the Shoreham Hotel Corporation, has been subpenaed to appear at the next hearing, Tuesday afternoon.

Yesterday's hearing was marked by frequent clashes between the Referee in Bankruptcy and Attorney Borchardt. Borchardt objected "he did not like the referee's attitude in this case" after Eden criticized his questioning as "improper." Leon Tobriner, counsel for Edmund D. Rheem, executive vice president of the bankrupt company, frequently raised his voice in the controversy. Borchardt accused Tobriner of "lecturing to him."

Borchardt questioned Howar at length on the two corporations he formed for the operation of his building properties following the failure of Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Co.

Properties Transferred.

Howar said the Marquette and the Sedgewick were transferred to his Alamack Corporation on February 2 of this year, and the Harrowgate, Windemere, Fagler and Guthridge to the Oliver Propoerties Co., his other operating concern, on February 9.

He said he did this "so he wouldn't have any trouble getting a title" if he had a sale for the properties. He owns all of the stock in both companies, he said. Other officers are Harry P. Jones and S. F. McHugh, neither of whom owns any stock, he testified.

Counsel for creditors have contended their clients have an interest in all of these properties, inasmuch as Howar is a debtor to the bankrupt company by a huge amount.

Questioning by Borchardt designed to bring out how much Howar was worth on given dates from January, 1925, to date, was ruled out as improper by the referee.

Asked if Edmund Rheem advised him to form the operating companies following failure of the mortgage house, Howar said he "didn't have the heart" to see Rheem after the bankruptcy.

FACILITIES FOR CARE OF DELINQUENTS HIT

Sellers' Report Puts Blame on Parents in Failure to Attend Church.

An assertion that existing facilities for the care of delinquent children are utterly inadequate was made yesterday in the annual report of Judge Kathryn Sellers of the District Juvenile Court, made public yesterday.

Judge Sellers declared the city should provide facilities for white children as good as those provided for colored children at Blue Plains, and said that if the home for white delinquents was brought up to date it would prevent many children from being sent to the National Training School for Boys.

Her report declared that unless children are held in the churches the institutions will die, and blamed parents for many of the ills of delinquent children and their failure to attend church.

She favored the placing of proper religious instructors in a position to aid the children, letting them select the faith of their home or their family, but instilling in them a sense of right and wrong through religion.

The report revealed that the receipts for this year in Juvenile Court exceeded those of last year. Receipts for the fiscal year 1930-1931 totaled $74,692.25. It was also revealed that 13 fewer children were committed to training schools and home than last year. In addition to 1,793 cases of delinquency, which were handled officially, 498 were handled unofficially.

MORE INDICTMENTS OF PITTS ARE ASKED

Convicted Man "and Others" Accused of Manufacturing Evidence.

Nugent Dodds, special assistant attorney general in charge of criminal prosecution, and his special assistant, Neil Burkinshaw, spent several hours before the grand jury yesterday presenting evidence by which they hope to obtain new indictments against G. Bryan Pitts "and others."

The reason for the presentation at this time is that the present grand jury will go out of existence next Monday, and with July 4 coming Saturday little time remains for the inquisitorial body to return a report.

Pitts "and others" are alleged to have manufactured documentary evidence for use by Pitts in his defense at his trial last December. Over 100 spurious documents are alleged to have been brought into the District and introduced into the Pitts defense.

Whatever action the grand jury takes will not be known until Monday, those in charge of the investigation declared.

Fern Crop Nets Farmer Big Profit in Florida

Tallahassee, Fla., July 1 (A.P.).—James Mehaffey, young Apopka, Fla., farmer, chose a new crop for his club project and made a killing.

He planted one-half acre in ferns last season that netted him a profit of $1,472.61 and gave him the sweepstakes prize in the Future Farmers of Florida contest, Harry Wood, assistant State supervisor of education, announced.

ALICE M. ROBERTSON IS VICTIM OF CANCER

Second Woman Elected to Congress Was Active Indian Worker.

Muskogee, Okla., July 1 (A.P.).—Miss Alice Robertson, the Nation's second woman representative, died at a hospital here today of cancer of the jaw. She was 77 years old. She was known to all Oklahoma officialdom and her friends as "Miss Alice." She had been confined to her bed since February 13.

Miss Alice was elected November 24, 1920, and represented Oklahoma for one term. She was defeated for a second term in 1922.

Her political career began in 1904 when President Roosevelt appointed her postmaster at Muskogee, a position she held until 1912. Becoming interested in business, she operated a cafeteria here and headed a business women's club. Her cafeteria became famous while she was campaigning for Congress in 1920.

For a while fortune smiled kindly on her and she constructed a large residence here and became prominent for her hospitality.

When her health failed she entertained parties at her home, Sawokla to obtain money on which to live. When her home and a valuable collection of relics burned, she moved to a house in Muskogee.

Named a welfare worker at the United States Veterans Hospital here, she resigned because of a disagreement on policies.

When the State Historical Society learned two years ago the elderly woman was selling a few remaining rare books and possessions to obtain money, it established a fund to care for her until her death.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed late today.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. N. B. Moore, Haskell, Okla., and Mrs. Grace Merriman, Santa Barbara, Calif., and a brother, Sam Robertson, also of Santa Barbara.

Broke Loan Law, Franks Confesses

Merchant Also Accused of Arson Answers Reopened Charge.

Pleading guilty to a charge of violating the small loan law of the District, Edward Franks, of Ninth street near D street northwest, yesterday was fined $100 by Judge Gus A. Schuldt in Police Court.

Franks, taken into custody April 23, was charged with loannig money at a greater rate than 6 per cent per annum without first having obtained a permit. Franks first forfeited $500 cash collateral, but appeared in court after his first arraignment and had the case reopened.

Franks is under indictment on a charge of arson in connection with burning of a buildnig on Ninth street near D street northwest. This charge is still pending.

New Drive Opened In Mayflower Suit

Counsel Files Motion to Dismiss Amended Bill for Receivership.

Attorneys for the Mayflower Hotel yesterday launched a legal broadside at the latest attempts of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt to have receivers appointed for the Connecticut avenue hotel.

The attorneys first filed a motion to strike out the amended bill of complaint because it was vague, showed a lack of equity, and that "it was improvidently and unseasonably" filed. Other allegations were that the bills which charged adverse interest on the part of the trustee, Charles C. Moore, are in the form of inference and assumption and are unsupported by allegations of fact.

The attorneys, William E. Leahy, Edmund M. Toland and William J. Hughes, then got into the record the fact that the original bill was dismissed by Justice Oscar R. Luhring. They did this by saying that the amended bill was "similar in most respects to the original bill already dismissed." The rule to show cause was then attacked by the Mayflower legal battery because it was based upon the original bill which was dismissed and was therefore "moot."

CHARLES R. KENGLA DIES AT AGE OF 82

Retired Business Man Will Be Buried Tomorrow in Holy Rood Cemetery.

Charles R. Kengla, 82 years old, a native of the District and prominent for many years in busines circles here, died yesterday at Georgetown University Hospital after a short illness. He lived at 21 Drummond avenue, Chevy Chase, Md., for some time previous to his death.

Mr. Kengla was formerly president of the Weaver-Kengla Soap Co., a firm which he founded. He was later a wholesale and retail merchant in Georgetown. He had been retired from active busines for many years.

He was the father of Charles Kengla, jr., local sportsman, who died about two years ago. His wife, Mrs. Mary J. Kengla, died in 1914. Survivors are three sons, Thomas G., Archibald J., and Herbert L. Kengla, and two daughters, Mrs. George I. Haggerty, of Philadelphia, Pa., and Mrs. J. William Stohlman, of this city, with whom he made his home.

Services will bec onducted at the residence tomorrow morning at 9:15 o'clock, with mass at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament. Interment will be in Holy Rood Cemetery.

Wisconsin Aids Farmers With Roadside Markets

Madison, Wis., July 1 (A.P.).—Elimination of the middleman's profits as a way to farm relief is embodied in a plan to establish roadside markets in Wisconsin. Nurtured by the State Department of agriculture and markets, at least 50 roadside markets will be established to sell farm produce direct to the consumer.

The markets will operate under a cooperative plan which will assure the consumer that he is purchasing only Wisconsin products.

COMPROMISE NECESSARY.

Negotiators for the French and American governments in Paris have declared a recess, so to speak, while they appeal to public opinion. Details of the negotiations have been made public in both countries for the obvious purpose of finding out what the people think. When the consensus of opinion has been expressed on each side of the Atlantic both governments will be in a better position to move toward agreement.

Fear that the negotiations are in a deadlock is entirely premature. That there are substantial differences between the positions of the Washington and Paris governments can not be denied. Yet those differences are not of a type to cause the failure of President Hoover's proposed debt and reparations moratorium. All are susceptible to compromise. While each government is now holding its ground to determine how far the other will yield, it is unthinkable that either would take the responsibility for wrecking this proposal.

President Hoover's suggestion for relieving Germany of a crushing burden for one year has progressed to a point where it can not be allowed to fail. From it the whole world has taken new hope. Stock markets have leaped forward. Business has been stimulated. The psychological attitude of the people has changed from negative to positive. Every one seems to be poised for an advance. Failure of the project which is responsible for this turn of affairs could not be tolerated by political leaders either here or abroad.

Compromises may therefore be regarded as certain. It should not be difficult to agree upon the time to be allowed Germany to make up the suspended payments. France has already recognized the unreasonableness of its suggestion that these annuities be made up the following year. Indications now are that Premier Laval is willing to wait ten or fifteen years. President Hoover has suggested that Germany be granted 25 years. Certainly a question of that kind can be negotiated without fear of a deadlock. Germany's ability to pay will depend upon future economic conditions which can not be determined now. The date for repayments might therefore be tentatively set with the understanding that it would be altered later, if necessary, to avoid a derangement of Germany's finances.

The second point of disagreement may likewise be adjusted to the satisfaction of all parties. It is agreed that Germany shall pay its unconditional annuity under the Young plan to the Bank of International Settlements, and that it shall then be available in the form of loans for distressed central European governments. Secretary Mellon has asked that this amount be reserved solely for relief of Germany. France thinks that Jugoslavia and Greece should share in the benefits. Since steps are being taken to aid these countries from other sources it is difficult to see how France can insist upon this provision.

President Hoover is on solid ground when he refuses to consider the proposal that France be relieved of an obligation imposed upon that country by the Young plan. Premier Laval wishes the suspended unconditional payment from Germany to serve as a guarantee for the distribution of benefits among the allies in event that Germany declares a moratorium in the future. This technical question does not concern the United States. America receives no benefits from the Young plan and is not a party to it. Of course, this Government can take no part in relieving France of an obligation assumed under that agreement.

At the beginning of the negotiations a cry went up against the United States because it was feared that President Hoover intended to upset the Young plan. Now it is evident that this Government wants the Young plan to be preserved, and France is trying to change it. Will not the French people perceive that it is to their advantage to keep this system of reparations payment inviolate? If the Young plan is broken into at one place it will be disrupted in others. Certainly France can not expect the United States to participate in any such arrangement.

Premier Laval has been given permission by the French Parliament to proceed with the negotiations. Decisive votes in both the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate have not left him much latitude for compromise. Yet in view of the circumstances it seems that he could gracefully recede from this untenable position. Questions of adjusting the Young plan should be reserved for a body competent to deal with them.

SPAIN'S CONSTITUTION.

"Spain is democratic and republican." So declares the draft of the new constitution that the provisional government will submit to the national assembly. The way for amicable agreement with Catalonia and other provinces which insist upon autonomous rights is left open, since the proposed charter of government does not require that Spain be a centralized republic.

The Cortes elected last Sunday will meet July 14 to consider this document. It is a comprehensive presentation of organic law, formulated during the years that the present provisional authorities have been anticipating and working for just this opportunity. That they are now members of the majority party in the Cortes should greatly facilitate adoption of the constitution. It will not be without opposition, but the republicans and mild socialists have a good working majority.

The proposed draft that will be submitted is divided into nine chapters, with 110 articles and covers 60 typewritten pages. It leaves no question of divided authority, but declares at the outset that "all persons and authorities of the state are subordinated to the civil power." A province may become autonomous upon vote of three-fourths of the voters and approval of the provincial legislature and the Cortes.

Once constituted the autonomous region may set up its internal government, but the Spanish state always reserves as inalienable rights the naturalization of aliens, relations between church and state, control of international relations, declarations of war, control of the army and navy and defense measures, imposition of tariffs, the monetary system, education, postoffice, telegraph, telephones, radio, social legislation and all powers not granted specifically to autonomous regions.

With regard to regional statutes it is merely provided that they must not conflict with the constitution and that there must be no discrimination between the natives of the region and other Spaniards. The Catholic Church is considered as a corporation before the law and no state religion exists under the proposed charter. All religions may attain the same status when they offer guarantees that they will be self-supporting. All Spaniards are declared equal before the law, titles are not recognized, the equality of the sexes is avowed and liberty is assured labor unions.

Election of the president and his powers are patterned after the French, the executive being chosen by a majority of two-thirds of the joint membership of the chamber of deputies and senate for a term of six years. Deputies are to be chosen by universal suffrage, but the senate will be composed of 240 members elected by employers' associations, agricultural, industrial and mining groups, by free associations of professors and university, cultural and religious associations. This is the most unusual feature of the proposed constitution as compared with those of other countries.

WHEAT POLICY UNCHANGED.

The program announced by the Farm Board for disposing of its surplus wheat is properly termed a "clarification." It makes no substantial change in the situation. Requests of senators and farm interests that a price be fixed below which Government wheat would not be sold were flatly refused for good economic reasons. The board has reasserted its determination to deal with the situation as it thinks best, but has agreed to confine its action to a somewhat narrower latitude.

Sales during the next year will be confined to 60,000,000 bushels, with important exceptions. In view of the fact that the board was already committed to the policy of not making sales in such volume as to depress the price of wheat, it is quite probable that no more than this amount would have been disposed of anyway. The world is overstocked with wheat. Another bumper crop is being harvested. Unless something extraordinary happens the board will be compelled to relinquish its holdings in small lots over a long period of time in order to avoid a collapse of prices.

Furthermore, the clarified policy does not tie the hands of the board. Sales made necessary by merchandising efficiency or to clear trade channels will not be subject to the 60,000,000-bushel limitation. Nor does the limitation apply to sales to foreign governments now being considered. The whole plan may be scuttled if world production should be altered radically. In that event the board would announce a new policy and might proceed to sell all of its storage wheat, estimated at more than 200,000,000 bushels.

Insofar as it gives definite assurance to wheat farmers that this vast surplus will not be poured upon the market to drive prices to lower levels, the clarified policy should have beneficial results. But the decision of the board is really more important for what it refused to concede than for what it granted. The board has declined to mortgage the future of wheat growers in a vain hope of increasing temporary profits. And it has been mindful of the interests of taxpayers whose funds are invested in the wheat surplus.

Whatever the situation may be, it can not be substantially improved until this surplus is out of the way. Had an agreement been reached to withhold the surplus from the market until a certain price were attained, knowledge of that agreement would have resulted in perpetual depression. Economic law has been suspended too much already. Farmers must face the fact that the Government will be in the market whenever opportunity to sell wheat at reasonable prices is presented. Then and then only will they curtail their crops.

Wheat farmers refused to cooperate with the board when it advised them to reduce acreage and attempted to stabilize wheat prices. The board now finds it necessary to force such cooperation as the only means of bringing wheat production back to a profitable basis. Its club is an enormous store of wheat which is being gradually released upon the market to discourage excessive planting.

Of course, that White House curtain might have been patched for economy sake, but in whose administration was the patching done?

The moratorium proposal puts Senator Norris in a hole. He can't oppose the President by going Democratic.

MOUNTAIN FLOWERS

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

City dwellers and those from the lowlands who are not so familiar with the native names for the floral beauties of the mountain regions, which now cover many hillsides in the Kentucky highlands, may be confused by some of the terms applied.

Take, for instance, that type of magnolia known as the cucumber tree. There are three distinct types loosely called cucumber tree, each because of the fruit, at first a fleshy green cone, afterward turning red. The true cucumber tree is a forest tree with greenish white blossoms.

So common are those blossoming members of the Heath family, the rhododendron, the laurel and the azalea, that most Kentuckians are not confused by their many names. Rhododendron maximum is the common variety, which grows quite tall. Some blossoms are white, flecked with gold or greenish spots, and others are tinted "like rosy-fingered dawn" with pink and sometimes purplish. Another variety, slightly smaller, has lilac-purple blossoms. The mountain folk call this "laurel," and, indeed, great laurel is one of its true names.

But even if one can not tell a mountain flower from a hothouse rose, he can not fail to be impressed with the glorious beauty of these Kentucky mountainsides in June. Rhododendron and laurel have an artistic sense of their own, seemingly. The dark, smooth, rich green leaves of both plants and the browns of the hillside rocks and soil form a perfect background for the dainty pink and white clusters which delight the eye. Back from the road a bit may be seen acres of that lovely azalea which the mountain people call "wild honeysuckle." The type which predominates in the Kentucky hills is the brilliant flaming variety.

SWING LOW, SWEET CHARIOT!

From the Binghamton Press.

Thousands of newspapermen all over America read yesterday with a catch in the breath of the death of Daniel H. McDowell at Washington. They knew and loved the giant black man as Mac, doorkeeper extraordinary of the National Press Club.

Doorkeeper? Well, you might call him that. More like a reception committee, though; with an infallible memory for faces and names. Men have walked out the door of the National Press Club, roamed the far places of the earth and returned five years later to be called by name and greeted as if they had just left the day before. Mac, like Robert in the dining room, was an institution at the National Press Club.

He was born a slave and in the Civil War he was bodyguard for Stonewall Jackson. Mac could tell tales. Later he was a servant in the retinue of Samuel J. Tilden. The years beat him down, but he was amazingly bright and cheerful in his fine new uniform there on the door at the Sign of the Owl within the last two years. Not long ago the word went around that Mac was down with his final sickness. Now the sweet chariot has swung low and Mac has gone on.

It isn't always wise to speculate about heavenly rewards and such, but we have this notion about Mac. St. Peter will be standing there at the head of the golden stairway, one eye on the door and the other on some mischievous cherubim playing around the Main Entrance, when Mac comes along, smiling as always—hoping, somehow, there'll be a Floor Thirteen in the establishment somewhere. Then St. Peter:

"Why, Mac, old fellow! After all these years. Been waiting for you a long time. How'd you like a job helping here on the Door?"

And Mac, self-deprecating, as always: "Yessuh, Mr. St. Peter, but you see—my feet; I always have trouble with my feet. Now if there was some place where Old Mac could sit down——"

Just about that time he'll pause, because St. Peter will be pointing for him to look. And there on Mac's feet will be the finest, easiest, shiniest pair of golden slippers you ever saw; taking the ache all out of those old feet and those old tired limbs.

Yes, and we can see Mac sitting there on one of those comfortable golden chairs through all eternity, smiling his golden smile of welcome to the souls swarming upward for rest and reward and saying to himself, now and then, as he used to say to the Washington newspapermen:

"I'd rather be a doorkeeper in the House of the Lord than have a soft job up on Capitol Hill."

The Bees Build Well and Quickly Because None Interferes or Tears Down.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE tragedy of the ages is the fact that the greatest enemy of man is man.

When you read or hear words of thanksgiving that review the progress men have made during the centuries, do you understand what they mean?

We speak of the freedom and safety enjoyed by people today, and praise our forefathers who won these blessings for us; but few of us realize how these things were won or how easily they can be lost.

The enemies men fought and conquered to win their present advantages were not wild beasts. They were other men.

The safety we enjoy is safety from men.

The freedom we enjoy is freedom from men.

Every advance the race has made was achieved by overcoming men.

The things men had to fear, the obstacles they overcame, were the cruelty, ignorance, selfishness and greed of men.

That is a terrible indictment of the race.

Other creatures could flourish in peace and safety if protected from natural enemies that feed upon them, but man is his own most dreadful enemy.

When he boasts of his achievements, he boasts of overcoming his own vileness.

It is as though one brother should say: "I am safe and free, for I have killed my brother who threatened me." Or another should boast: "I can print books of wisdom now and build useful machines, for I have overcome my brother who stood in the way."

Could any confession be more shameful?

Slowly but surely the race moves on to its ultimate perfection, fighting grimly for each gain, advancing step by step as it conquers its own blood brothers.

Think what mankind could be except for the greed and blindness and cruelty of mankind!

Those who labor unselfishly for the good of all are defeated again and again by the foolish prejudices and the ignorance of those they would serve.

Movements that would benefit all are blocked by the selfish ambitions of a few.

Now as always, the worst enemy of man is man.

And the only friends of man are those who can say: "If I can not help in the building, I shall in no way handicap those who do."

France Lags Behind.

Christian Science Monitor.

The French alone have not taken readily to the Hoover plan for a debt holiday. Nations such as Poland and Czechoslovakia, which are close to French influence but owe more than they receive, have accepted the proposal.

France, of course, is not so much concerned about postponing the receipt of $100,000,000 as about doing anything that would jeopardize the Young plan. For years the French have been trimming the bill of costs which they charge to Germany for the repair of their devasted areas. In the figure of $100,000,000 a year which they obtain under the Young plan for this damage they have pared their claims below the costs of replacement. If the whole of the Young plan be held in suspense, they feel that this might start another revisionist movement destined perhaps to end in cancellation.

Apparently, too, the manner of presentation of the moratorium proposal has not entirely pleased French officials. President Hoover made his declaration to the world at the same time he made it to the governments. In terms of the old diplomacy, this is something new. But it is not new with Mr. Hoover.

Illinois progressives seem to be the most active in the country, having formed a definite organization, with state officers and a speaking campaign. They have not come out nevertheless for a third party, though evidently inclined that way. The Chicago organization is affiliated with the national organization of which Prof. John Dewey is the head. The college professor figures prominently in this progressive movement. In Illinois Prof. Robert Morss Lovett of the University of Chicago, a distinguished writer and author, as well as teacher of English literature, is chairman of the Chicago branch, the vice chairman being Prof. H. D. Gideonse, also of the University of Chicago.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Swiss Student of Traffic Suggests That Competition of Trucks With Railroads Might Be Solved by Lower Speed Limit.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I am informed that all the major railways of the United States (operating 250,000 miles of track) decided at a meeting in New York, to petition the Interstate Commerce Commission for a rise of 15 per cent in their freight rates, "to avert the imminent bankruptcy facing many of the roads." It was stated as a very important factor in these financial conditions that "their traffic was being eaten into on an ever increasing scale by unregulated motor bus and motor truck competition."

I believe that it would relieve the situation if the speed of all motor vehicles used upon the public streets and highways were to be limited by law to 30 miles an hour. I have been making this proposal, in the press of two continents for more than six years, not on account of the railways (their difficulties were entirely unknown to me), but because of the enormous number of persons killed and crippled every year by motor vehicles—more than 80 per cent of the fatalities being due to excessive speed and two-thirds of the victims being women and children.

I have recently proposed to the League of Nations at Geneva and to the British prime minister that the speed of motor vehicles should be limited at its source; that is to say, that the manufacture of motor vehicles, for use upon the public streets and highways, capable of a greater speed than, let us say, 30 miles an hour, should be prohibited by law.

My letters were duly acknowledged and referred to the communications and transit section of the League of Nations, and to the ministry of transport, roads department, of the British government, which stated in reply that my proposals would receive the minister's careful consideration. Ardent Dry Is Skeptical of Claim That Repeal of Eighteenth Amendment Would End Corruption.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: We quote from The Post of June 29 from an Associated Press item relative to repeal of the eighteenth amendment as follows: "The association argued that with repeal of the amendment more efficient methods and the elimination of graft and corruption would make it possible, &c."

The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment seems to assume that repealing the amendment will assure "more efficient methods and the elimination of graft and corruption," but what ground is there for such assurance? The writer does not believe there is any ground for such hope.

The repealists who really think repeal will improve conditions and protect the interests of youth are fooling themselves. Honest, earnest, brave and patriotic advocates of temperance have struggled for generations and have tried every conceivable method for control and regulation of the liquor traffic, but the eighteenth amendment is a vast improvement over anything that has ever been tried before. As evidence of this assertion, read the letters being printed from day to day in The Post from the old citizens who for three-quarters of a century have been observing and are now giving us first hand information.

Listen to William Pierpoint in writing in a recent issue: "I saw a mother take a pair of baby shoes given her by a kindly neighbor to a saloon and sell them for a pint of liquor, and she was often seen to take food contributed by charity and sell it in the same way. She and her husband were both habitual drunkards. Her family of two children were so poorly fed and clad, beaten and abused by both parents, when drunk, that the civil authorities had to commit them to a home for proper care." This is just one paragraph from Mr. Pierpoint's fine letter.

The prohibition law can not enforce itself, but steady improvement is manifest. Let all those who really want to see the evils of liquor lessened, lay hold and help maintain enforcement.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

NINE YEARS OLD.

At nine a little girl begins
To beg her pa and ma for twins
Or if we can't arrange for two,
Another baby boy will do,
Or if we can afford the price
A little girl is sometimes nice,
But anyhow she often weeps
Because no babies come for "keeps."

At nine a little girl will shout
When older people are about
And rush into the room pell-mell
Her day's adventurings to tell.
Though older tongues may talking be She'll pay no heed to them, for she
Has something marvelous to state
Which positively can not wait.

Nor look nor shaking head, nor frown,
Can tone that nine-year spirit down.
So filled her world is with delight
She finds no time to be polite,
Where everything is bright and new,
So much there is for her to do,
That she forgets our good advice
And all our talk of being nice.

At nine years old a little girl
Has hair that will not stay in curl,
And legs so bruised and scratched that she
Is oft a sorry sight to see.
Her strength has just begun to flower,
She's into mischief every hour—
A victim of the awkward stage,
And yet it is a lovely age.

M'DONALD GREETS U. S. FLAG ENVOYS

Lady Astor Escorts Visitors Through House of Lords After Tea.

Special to The Washington Post.

London, July 1.—Premier Ramsay MacDonald and other notables were among the large crowd present at a tea given for the American "Envoys of Friendship" on the terrace of the House of Commons this afternoon. The young "envoys" are being feted every day of their stay and are making a wonderful impression on their British cousins.

Following the tea, Lady Astor, herself a Virginian, took the "envoys" through the House of Commons, and later Lord Astor escorted them through the House of Lords, giving the visitors a comprehensive idea of how the British government is operated. During the trip through the House of Lords the "envoys" met the Archbishop of Canterbury, head of the English church, who congratulated them on their mission and expressed his friendship for the United States.

Great Britain is paying a great deal of attention to the visit of these young Americans, apparently realizing the far-reaching results possible through the building up of an international friendship among the young people of today, who will be in charge of their countries' affairs tomorrow.

Col. James A. Moss, president general of the United States Flag Association which is sponsoring the trip, has been called upon time and again to outline the plan of procedure worked out by the Flag Association for the elimination of future wars through the engendering of friendships among the children of the world.

The very simplicity of his idea makes it the more striking to the people of Great Britain. The colonel, a retired officer of the United States Army, a graduate of West Point Military Academy and a veteran of three wars, is in a position to know the horrors of war. As president general of the United States Flag Association, an organization which he founded with the help of some of the leading men and women of the United States and of which President Hoover is honorary president general, Col. Moss evolved the idea that the formation of friendships among the children of the earth, which would endure to the time when these children are in control of the world's destinies, would result in the talking of disputes among the nations to the council table rather than the battlefield for solution.

With this idea in mind, he organized this group of young American "envoys of friendship," who represent the 20,000,000 or more youth of America, and has brought them to Great Britain and France with messages of good-will and friendship to the boys and girls of these countries. The future effects of this trip can hardly be estimated.

Constitution Starts On Voyage Today

Boston Notables at Ceremony Returning Ship to Sea Service.

Boston, July 1 (AP.).—With more ceremony than attended her original departure from Boston on a mission of war more than a century and a quarter ago, the frigate Constitution, most famous of all American warships, was today made ready for sea again.

As sound and fair once more as a maiden vessel, only today's commissioning ceremonies, turning her over to Commander L. J. Gulliver, her new master, held her in port. Tomorrow, at noon, she will slip down the harbor in tow of the navy tug Grebe to begin a tour of Eastern seaports.

State, city and nation, church and citizenry, joined today in doing honor to the Constitution. Speakers assigned to places on the quarter deck included Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, Governor Joseph B. Ely, Mayor James M. Curley, Senator David I. Walsh, Judge Curtis D. Wilbur, former Secretary of the Navy; and Ernest L. Jahncke, Assistant Secretary of the Navy. Chaplain E. W. Scott, U. S. N., was designated representative of the Boston Federation of Churches, and Cardinal William O'Connell said the benediction.

PRESERVE WITH REFINED CANE SUGAR

Cane Sugar Insures Ideal Results in All Kinds of Canning

With sugar at an unusually low price, and since bargains in fruit and vegetables are always to be had, everybody can count on saving money by putting up a variety of fruit, jellies, jams and sweet relishes.

Countless are the housewives who choose refined cane sugar for preserving fruits and vegetables of all kinds.

Preserves fill an important place in the diet. Canned fruits are fine for breakfasts, also as desserts or for use in salads. Jellies and relishes are nice accompaniments for beef, lamb, pork and fowl. Sandwiches made of jam are always appropriate for children's school luncheons. Preserve with refined cane sugar. The Sugar Institute.

Hoover Assumes Role Of Mayor in Greeting

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday assumed a role which he seldom plays.

After posing with a group of members of the Delta Sigma Greek Fraternity, he told the young men that he was in a position to be of assistance to them.

"I am Mayor of Washington," he said, "and if you are not allowed to go everywhere you want to go here you let me know."

The fraternity men left convinced that the key to the city had been extended them.

Hospital Plans Win Fine Arts Approval

Proposed design of the Children's Tuberculosis Hospital, to be erected on Defense Highway by the District government, was approved yesterday by the Fine Arts Commission, which likewise passed plans for the Brookland-Woodridge school.

Full-size photographs of equestrian groups of statues to be placed at Washington terminus of the Arlington Memorial Bridge and at entrance of the Rock Creek and Potomac Parkway approach were put in place and examined by the commission. They were prepared by the Army Signal Corps from small models executed by Leo Friedlander, New York artist.

Groups are to be labeled "Valor" and "Departure Call to Arms." The first portrays a woman holding a shield standing by a man on horseback. The rider symbolizes national manhood, while the female figure represents the Goddess of War in Victory. The second statuary group portrays a warrior leaving his family. It is considered fitting because the Arlington Memorial Bridge will serve as a new entrance to Arlington cemetery.

DELTA SIGMA GROUP HAS ANNUAL DINNER

Delegates Pose With Hoover; Elections Today and Ball Tonight.

With the banquet held at the Mayflower Hotel last night, the Delta Sigma Fraternity finished the second day of its thirty-fourth annual convention with the entertainment being furnished by the Fox vaudeville circuit and McWilliams Orchestra.

Earlier in the day the delegates, 200 strong, had posed for their picture with President Hoover on the White House lawn. Following this there was a luncheon at the Mayflower, and a business session. At 4:30 o'clock the delegates attended a swimming party at Chevy Chase Lake Pool.

This morning the visitors will be taken for a sightseeing tour of Washington and the surrounding country, and there will be another luncheon at the hotel at noon. The final business session, as well as the annual elections, will be held this afternoon.

A feature of the annual ball tonight will be WJSV picking up the dance music furnished by Bernie Jarboe's Nighthawks, beginning at 10 o'clock and continuing for five hours without interruption, until 3 o'clock tomorrow morning. Chapters of the fraternity located in 30 States are expected to pick up the program and listen in on their delegates in Washington.

The committee in charge of the convention plans, most of them local men, are: Wilbur Howison, Leonard Holtzclaw, Vincent Simmons, Malcolm McKaig, Edgar Whiteside, Raymond Rock, George Premkau, Jack Weidman, Luke Shepherd, F. Clayton Holtzclaw and C. M. May.

thieves whom he surprised in the legation. He spent several weeks in a hospital and was operated on for a slight skull fracture. He plans to take a complete rest in the country district, either of Switzerland or France, where he is well acquainted by virtue of previous visits.

He will be accompanied by Senora de Leiva, who returned only recently from an extended visit in El Salvador.

Dr. Leiva is succeeding to the administration of the only diplomatic post he has occupied, as counselor. He has represented his country, however, at various international meetings, particularly in line with his profession as a doctor.

He finished medical school in El Salvador in 1907, and received another degree from the University of Paris, in 1909. After practicing there until 1911, he returned to his homeland and practiced until 1918. On December 31, of that year, he escaped after 20 days' imprisonment on political charges under the so-called "Melendez-Quinoez dynasty" and came to San Francisco, where he established himself in medical practice, and remained until coming to Washington in 1927.

In 1915 he represented his country at the Pan-American Medical Congress during the San Francisco Exposition, and in 1926 was a delegate to the International Red Cross convention in Washington. In 1929 he was a delegate to the national malarial committee meeting in Miami.

Dr. Leiva has been back to El Salvador but twice since his exile in 1918. He returned in 1927 when President Romero Bosque came in, and last fall returned for the inauguration of President Araujo, an old friend and fellow exile in San Francisco.

Dr. Leiva's brother, Jose, has been minister to Mexico and Central American countries.

Fireworks Details For Fourth Bared

300 Giant Shells Will Give 3,500 Separate Explosions.

Washington's official celebration of the Fourth, on the Monument lot Saturday night, will be one to be remembered, Claude W. Owen, chairman of the 1931 Fourth of July fireworks committee, announced yesterday.

Mr. Owen said seating accommodations for 2,500 will be provided for the pyrotechnic display scheduled to get under way at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night, following formal official ceremonies earlier in the evening at the Sylvan Theater.

Included in the fireworks exhibit will be 300 giant air shells, giving more than 3,500 distinct explosions. There will be ten set pieces, placed at the top of 40-foot telephone poles provided by the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. The display will be opened with presentation of colors.

Herfurth Will Clear New Postoffice Site

H. Herfurth, jr., Inc., low bidder for the job of tearing down old buildings on the site of the new Postoffice Building, between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets northwest, Pennsylvania avenue and C street, yesterday was awarded the contract.

The Herfurth company bid $8,450. The contract calls for demolition of the old structures within 60 days after notification. In the path of the destruction project are the old First Precinct Station, No. 16 Engine Co. and the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington terminal.

Harleigh Hartman Takes Utility Oath

Recess Appointment by Hoover Will Require Confirmation.

Harleigh H. Hartman was sworn in yesterday for a second term as a member of the Public Utilities Commission by Frank E. Cunningham, clerk of the District Supreme Court. His recess appointment, made several weeks ago by President Hoover, will have to be confirmed by the Senate before it becomes permanent.

Several promotions in the accounting section of the commission were made yesterday as the result of the creation of a new position by the appropriations act.

J. B. Murray was promoted from senior accountant and auditor to valuation countant, the new post. He in turn was succeeded by J. L. Martin, former assistant, while J. William Falk, former senior accounting and auditing assistant, stepped up to Mr. Martin's earlier job.

Gregg Plans To Commute With Plane

Will Fly From Capital to Virginia Farm as Pilot.

HAVING obtained a pilot's license, Mr. Alexander Gregg, with Mrs. Gregg, will spend the summer commuting back and forth by plane from Washington to Piedmont, the estate owned by Mrs. Egbert Leigh, of Richmond, situated between Rapidan and Orange, Va. The Greggs are in Washington now but will return to Piedmont within a few days.

When Mr. and Mrs. Gregg took over Mrs. Leigh's house last December, they adopted the most efficient means of transportation and flew back and forth from the Capital to the Virginia farm, and since then Mr. Gregg has become interested in flying and is now able to pilot the plane which he charters from one of the commercial companies for transportation. Mrs. Gregg, who has also become airminded, is learning to become a pilot. The Greggs became charmed with the Virginia countryside several months ago and have divided their time since between Washington and Piedmont.

Mrs. Gregg's parents, former Representative and Mrs. Frank W. Mondell, will spend the summer in Washington, although it has been their custom in seasons past to go to their ranch in Wyoming. Their other daughter, Mrs. Alfons Beaumont Landa, is now in Philadelphia, where she is the guest of Mrs. Arthur Schilling. With Mr. Landa, she went there to attend the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Ransley, daughter of Representative and Mrs. Harry Clay Ransley, to Mr. William Clementson 2d, and decided to remain for a few days for a visit with Mrs. Schilling

Coolidges to Visit at Swampscott.

Former President and Mrs. Coolidge will be the guests over July 4 of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns at Red Gables, Swampscott, Mass. The former President will celebrate his birthday anniversary on the holiday.

Rear Admiral Sumner E. W. Kittelle has left Washington for his summer home, Ketelshagen, at Shandaken, in the Catskills. His family will join him in about a week and will remain in the mountains until school opens in the fall.

Comdr. A. A. Corwin, who has been serving as naval attache at the American legation in The Hague, will leave Holland shortly, having been appointed commander of the U. S. warship, Ashwyle.

His successor at The Hague is Lieut. Comdr. John H. Magruder, who with Mrs. Magruder left Washington recently for Europe, preparatory to going to The Hague, where the former will assume the duties of his new post.

The counselor of the French embassy, M. Jules Henry, has postponed his departure for France until later in the month. He had planned to sail July 8.

Mrs. Robert P. Skinner, wife of the American Minister to Greece, who spent the spring and early summer in this country, is now in Megeve, Haute-Savoie, near Paris, where the Skinners have a summer home. The Minister, who is now in Athens, will join Mrs. Skinner at their estate some time this month.

The Governor of Porto Rico, Col. Theodore Roosevelt, will be the guest over Sunday of Maj. Gen. John A. Lejeune, former commandant of the Marine Corps, and now in charge of the Virginia Military Institute.

He will also visit in Lexington, Va., Mr. Francis P. Gaines, president of the Washington and Lee University. The governor will deliver two addresses Monday at Charlottesville before the annual round table conference of the University of Virginia, and Tuesday will motor to Richmond, Va., for a short stay before returning to New York. Col. Roosevelt is now at his home in New York, where he went last week with the Secretary of War, Mr. Patrick J. Hurley.

Mrs. James E. Fechet, wife of Maj. Gen. Fechet, entertained a party at luncheon yesterday at the Shoreham Hotel.

Dr. Charles Noble Gregory will leave tomorrow for the Homestead, Hot Springs, Va., where he will remain until October.

Recent Bride

MRS. GEORGE FRANCIS DAW, formerly Miss Catharine Auth, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Auth, whose wedding took place in the middle of June.

Cards Issued To Diplomats For Luncheon

Mr. and Mrs. Johns to Entertain in Honor of Monroe.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Winston Johns have sent out cards for a luncheon at 2 o'clock July 4 in honor of the diplomatic representatives of foreign governments attending the Monroe Centennial exercises at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville on that day.

Mr. and Mrs. Johns' luncheon is not a part of the exercises, further than a compliment to the foreigners, members of the Monroe Centennial Commission and some officials attending, but the reception at 3 o'clock at Ashlawn is more general. There will follow a reception at Monticello at 4 o'clock held by the president and board of governors of the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation, and at 8 o'clock in the evening Dr. William E. Dodd, of the University of Chicago, will deliver an address in the McIntire amphitheater.

Mr. Frank Hight has gone to Cannan, N. H., where he will join Mrs. Hight and their family at their summer home, Woodland Farm, for a short holiday.

Mr. Malcolm MacArthur, son of Mrs. Arthur MacArthur, and nephew of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff of the United States Army, has entered the United States Naval Academy as a plebe.

Mrs. Horace R. Shares and her daughter, Miss Janet Shares, left Washington yesterday for the Berkshires, where they will be the guests of Mrs. Shares' brother-in-law and sister, Representative and Mrs. Allen T. Treadway.

Mr. and Mrs. McElroy Moss will leave tomorrow by motor to pass the week-end in Allentown, Pa., where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Young.

They will return to their home, Rolling Stone Farm, near Olney, Md., on Monday.

Ensign Will M. Garton, jr., of the class of 1931, who has been visiting at the navy yard, where his father, Capt. W. M. Garton, Medical Corps, is on duty, left Monday to visit his brother, Lieut. Farquhar Garton, who is attached to the aviation unit of the U. S. S. Saratoga, based at San Diego, Calif. Ensign Garton will join the U. S. S. New York July 11 at San Pedro, Calif.

Mrs. Catherine Filene Dodd has gone to New York, where she will visit for about ten days.

Capital Folk Guessing Over French Envoy

Chambrun and Touvenal Mentioned to Succeed M. Claudel.

Bachelor or benedict, which will it be? Scarcely had Washington caught its breath in surprise over the rumor that Count Charles de Chambrun would replace M. Paul Claudel as Ambassador of France than there zooms over the wires another report that not De Chambrun but M. Henry de Jouvenal, senator and former editor of Le Matin, would be named Ambassador to the United States from France.

In a capital where bachelors are at a premium the news of Count de Chambrun's probable appointment had been received with delight by aspiring hostesses. It came hot on the heels of the arrival in town of another fascinating bachelor envoy, Senor Felipe de Espil, new Ambassador of Argentina, who, hostesses thought, would share with the French diplomat the spoils of popularity.

It was Count Rene de Chambrun, of Paris, nephew of Count Charles, who docked in New York yesterday, that divulged the news to waiting reporters that his uncle is slated to exchange his ambassadorial post at Istanbul to represent France in Washington. And now we have with us in the news M. de Jouvenal, who at one time represented France in the League of Nations. He is an advocate of the peace policies of Foreign Minister Briand.

But into the maze of persistent reports that would send to the Berlin post Ambassador Paul Claudel comes not only young De Chambrun's flat statement but also the fact that M. Jules Henry, Counselor of Embassy, has suddenly decided to sail today for France when the Ambassador's son and daughter take their departure from New York for their native land.

Ambassador Claudel's attachment to his young counselor is very well known. Where M. Claudel goes, there goes M. Henry. And harking back into the history of winter is the selection by Ambassador Claudel of Berlin for the premiere of both of his operas, "Christopher Columbus" and "Eremenides," both of which were at first reported to be slated for production in America but which plan never materialized.

Count Rene de Chambrun, who, by the way, is also a nephew of the late Speaker of the House, Nicholas Longworth, recalls that his uncle was born in Washington and has passed many years in this country. He served as charge d'affaires at the French Legation—when it was a legation—and was here in that capacity after the World War. Warriors, diplomats, lawyers, the De Chambrun family occupies a distinguished place in the annals of French politics. With Count Charles at Istanbul as his country's envoy, and his brother, Count Adelbert de Chambrun, French military general of Fez in Tunis, the eminent French name has found expression in important places.

Capt. and Mrs. Brady to Sail for Italy.

Capt. Francis M. Brady, U. S. A., and Mrs. Brady are at the Galleon, where they will remain until the latter part of this month, when they will go to New York, to sail July 25 for Italy. Capt. Brady has been appointed assistant military attache for aviation at the American Embassy in Rome.

Mrs. Robert K. Awtry, wife of Lieut. Comdr. Awtrey, left on Tuesday to join her mother, Mrs. George F. Ryan, jr., at her summer home on Long Island, where she will remain for most of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. George Carter Lafferty have closed their house on T street and will be at the Marlborough Blenheim, in Atlantic City, for the summer.

A dinner dance will be given tomorrow evening at the National Woman's Country Club for the members and their guests.

Marriner, Pell Have Big Part In Debt Crisis

Americans Chosen as Translators in Paris Parleys.

Into the "conversations" incident to the negotiations underway in Paris over the President's debt proposal looms the skill of two young Americans, Mr. J. Theodore Marriner, serving as counselor at the American Embassy there, and Mr. Robert I. Pell, private secretary to the American Ambassador, Mr. Walter Evans Edge.

Knowledge of protocols and the French language has given the two young men the opportunity of a lifetime. Both have been of invaluable service during the conferences between Mr. Andrew W. Mellon and Ambassador Edge with Premier Laval, Foreign Minister Briand and Minister of Finance Flandin.

It is a case of give and take, for none of the Frenchmen speaks English and to the skill of Mr. Marriner and Mr. Pell the American negotiators owe the accurate translations afforded them. And by the same token the communications cabled by President Hoover must be translated quickly and accurately into French with no misleading interpretation of the technical terms used by the French conferees.

Mr. Marriner only left Washington about the middle of May to serve temporarily as counselor at Paris, where he will be until November. He is taking the place of Mr. Norman Armour, who is on leave of absence from his post. As an expert on armament limitation, Mr. Marriner has been one of Secretary of State Stimson's most valued advisers and now his craftsmanship is coming into excellent use in Paris. An old friend of Mr. Pell's, the temporary counselor is deriving not only glory but congenial companionship during his stay in the French capital.

Miss Doris Heaton of Indian Lane Spring Valley, left Washington Monday and sailed on Tuesday on the Lancastria of the Cunard Line for Europe.

Mrs. John Allan Dougherty is in New York for a short visit.

Mrs. Henry Wells left the Mayflower yesterday for Stockbridge, Mass., where her daughter, Mrs. Harrison Stanton, makes her home. In the middle of July she will go to Atlantic City for the rest of the summer.

Dr. and Mrs. Macpherson Crichton will leave tomorrow for Akron, Ohio, where they will visit the latter's daughter, Mrs. Donald Gottwald.

From their they will go to Chicago for a short stay and will then continue to Massachusetts, where they visit Mr. and Mrs. Mark Potter at their summer home. After a motor trip in the Adirondacks Dr. and Mrs. Crichton will go to Red Bank, N. J., before returning to Washington.

Miss Anne Halloway, subdeb daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Halloway, of Chevy Chase, will entertain at dinner this evening for a group of her young friends.

Mr. John Lewis Smith, jr., will return today from Bethlehem, Pa., where he has been visiting. He was graduated from Lawrenceville School in June, and next fall will enter Princeton.

Miss Bessie Gill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Gill, is visiting in Greenwich, Conn.

Will Go to Cape May

Harris & Ewing.

MISS DOROTHEA LANE, who will leave today for Cape May, N. J., where she will pass some time.

Motor Trip Is Begun by Glazebrooks

Have Left Capital for Summer Stay in Beloit, Wis.

Dr. and Mrs. Larkin W. Glazebrook and their daughter, Miss Virginia Glazebrook, left by motor yesterday for Beloit, Wis., where they will visit their son, Mr. Robinson C. Glazebrook. At the termination of her visit there Miss Glazebrook will go to Denver and Colorado Springs, and at the latter place will be the guest of Miss Dorothy Dodge, who, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dodge, spent the social season last winter in Washington. They will all be absent from Washington several months.

Mrs. Glazebrook's sister, Mrs. E. E. Whiting, and her daughter, Mrs. Willis Hale, will leave on Monday for Atlantic City and later will go to Orkney Springs, Va., for the summer.

Mrs. John Lord O'Brian, wife of the Assistant to the Attorney General, with her daughter, Miss Esther O'Brian, who has been a student at Miss Madeira's School, will leave the end of this week to go to Buffalo, where they will open their home for the summer months. They will be joined by other members of the family. Miss Alison O'Brian graduated last week from Smith with honors, is lingering in New England, but will join her mother and sister in Buffalo next week.

Admiral Rousseau's Son Visiting in Georgia.

Mr. Henry Rousseau, son of the late Rear Admiral Rousseau and Mrs. Rousseau, is the guest of Mr. Walter Peter, jr., at his home in Georgetown for a few days before going to New York. Mr. Rousseau later will go to California for a visit. He attended Cornell University last year. His mother is visiting friends in England.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shepherd will spend July in Shepherdstown, W. Va.

Little Davises Are Thrilled by Mrs. Hoover

First Lady Has Luncheon With Children of Senator.

The five little Davises, James, jr., Joan, Jean, Jane and Jewell, children of the Senator from Pennsylvania and Mrs. James J. Davis, yesterday had the thrill that comes rarely in a lifetime, for Mrs. Hoover went to their home on Massachusetts avenue to have luncheon with them.

It came about this way. A day last November had been set by Mrs. Hoover when she would be the luncheon guest of Mrs. Davis, but when the day of the fete arrived one of the five little "J's" developed scarlet fever. So Mrs. Hoover promised to reserve a future day for luncheon with the children. Yesterday their dreams came true.

Besides Mrs. Hoover, Mrs. Davis and the youngsters, the only other guest was young Merle Thorpe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle C. Thorpe. Luncheon was served in the garden of the Davis residence.

Mrs. Hoover will be the guest of honor at a luncheon today given by Mrs. William N. Doak, wife of the Secretary of Labor, who will enter-

ATTENTION of the sporting world is focused on two championship events — the Stribling-Schmeling fight and the struggle for the American golf championship crown vacated by Bobby Jones, both of which are to be broadcast.

A world-wide broadcast of the world heavyweight championship match will be given by the NBC from the Municipal Stadium in Cleveland tomorrow night. Locally the broadcast will be heard over WRC, beginning at 10 o'clock p. m. and lasting approximately one and one-half hours if the entire fifteen rounds are fought.

Numerous short-wave transmitters will be used. Reports in German and Spanish will be sent to Germany and South America. Pacific Coast short-wave stations are expected to transmit a description to the Orient.

McNamee, Floyd Gibbons and Sam Taub, sports writer, will be at the microphones for the national audience.

Reports of the progress of entrants in the championship golf matches at the Inverness Club, Toledo, are scheduled to be given over both networks.

WASHINGTON'S radio circles on Tuesday witnessed the first demonstration of television here since the days when C. Francis Jenkins first began perfecting his televisor. The demonstration represented some of the recent developments of U. A. Sanabria, of Chicago, 24-year-old inventor. The pictures were the largest and most clearly detailed television images publicly demonstrated to date. Photographs of movie stars placed before the televisor were easily recognizable upon the screen.

The Sanabria Television Corporation expects to have ready for distribution by fall a console with a 2-foot screen built in. A short-wave receiver designed to cover the television band—the same type of receiver used to pick up foreign stations—is the only other equipment needed. The regular receiver in use in the home will pick up the sound broadcast.

Television is not quite ready for commercialization, but the recent demonstration convinces the looker-in that it has not much farther to progress.

AN international exchange of radio programs, affecting about 100 independent broadcasting stations in this country, will be instituted shortly as a result of the approval of the plan of the Short Wave Broadcasting Corporation, of New York, by the Federal Radio Commission.

Good will between the United States and remote nations of the world, as well as establishment of markets for American short-wave receivers, is one of the chief aims of sponsors of the enterprise. Arrangements have been made to rebroadcast programs throughout Latin America, it is said, and negotiations are under way for the rebroadcast of programs in Japan and China.

The Aviation Radio Station, Inc., of New York, has joined the Short Wave company in this undertaking. The first operates the broadcasting station WRNY, while the second has the short-wave station W2XAL. The Short Wave corporation also operates a television station and is engaged in the manufacture of both television and short-wave receiving sets.

The Italian Embassy has informed the Radio Commission that it is interested in the interchange of programs between Italy and this country. Negotiations for this exchange have already been started.

Preliminary arrangements have been made to rebroadcast American programs in Chile, Peru, Brazil, Bolivia, Argentina, Cuba and Mexico through the medium of ten centrally located stations.

AT the risk of being redundant, we repeat that WMAL had just as well drop the Nit Wits altogether as to present only half of the 30-minute program. Last Monday night the program was broken into literally in the middle of a sentence.

This sort of thing leaves a listener with the same exasperated feeling that he would have if a movie house changed its feature after showing only half of a film.

An address by Paul Doumer, President of France, before the American Chamber of Commerce, in Paris, will be relayed to America over WMAL tomorrow, if exigencies of the present international situation permit.

One of the largest orchestras ever on the air will be presented in a program of patriotic music during the RKO Theater of the Air tomorrow night (WRC, 9:30 p. m.) as a part of the inauguration of All-American Patriotic Week in RKO theaters.

Song hits from the new Ziegfeld Follies, which opened last night, will be heard over the air for the first time tomorrow night (WRC, 9 o'clock). The numbers scheduled are "Cigars and Cigarettes," "I'm All Wrapped Up in You" and "Doing the New York," novelty dance number. In the Follies, Ruth Etting sings the first number and Helen Morgan and Harry Richman the second number.

AMOS 'N' ANDY weren't fooling when they talked about that vacation. Correll and Gosden have gone up to Lake Geneva, Wis., for July and will broadcast from their cottage there each night of their vacation.

Jane Interprets the Mode

Premet uses a black wool coat with silver fox and an unusual black satin frock with collars and cuffs of tiny white organdie flowers for this dressy ensemble.

New York, July 1.

WHAT kind of hats are smart, now that midsummer is here? How are the prephecies of the style centers being carried out? When should what hat be worn? Can a woman suit her face with a certain hat, and be smart, even though her neighbors are all wearing a different kind of hat, and being smart?

O-o-oh, I'd better stop quoting hat questions that have come to me in time to give you some of the answers! Shall I be all systematic and business-like and answer the questions in order? Wel-l-l, here goes, 'n' if I mix the order a bit, just remember that the hat style information is just as correct as my brain is chaotic!

The kinds of hats that are smart right now are legion. Little draped straws; berets of knitted straw, cellophane, tricot, angora; brimmed hats of baku, panama, stiffened lace; sports hats of felt, brimmed preferably, but unbrimmed if it suits one's type better; sheer dress hats of organdie or maline! And so, you see, the style prophecies of early in the season are being carried out literally—for the powers-that-be in the world said that variety would be the keynote of chic in this field!

To go into the appropriate hat for each occasion would take columns 'n' columns—so to be very general and very hasty, wear a plain, small hat for morning; a sport hat of felt; a smartly trimmed small or large hat for the afternoon, and a sheer or lacy hat to country parties when fragile, fluttering clothes are worn! And as to finding a brimmed hat becoming to you, and wearing it, even though most of your neighbors are turbanned—that is permissible and smart from a style standpoint, and plain good sense from the personal point of view!

What shall we do for just the right thing to wear at that ultra-chic resort we're going to for Sunday morning? We don't know whether we'll feel like going to hear that famous minister who gets in all the papers—but we strongly suspect that we, and the rest of the crowd, will! So-o-o-o-o, let's take along the lovely, sophisticated ensemble from Premet, and he sure! The coat to this ensemble is of black wool crepe, with a lovely standing collar and wide cuffs of silver fox, and the entire skirt formed of narrow bias tiers. The frock is of black satin, incrusted over the hips, simulating a bolero on the bodice, and with exquisite collars and cuffs of white organdie flowers, so joined together that the black satin shows through the openings. And both the coat and the dress would be just as stunning if worn separately!

If you're going to be near any famous church this summer, be prepared to attend services smartly, in clothes distinctly more elaborate than your everyday ones!

* * * *

You Lovely Ladies with your ceaseless demands! Won't be satisfied, will you, with anything but the very latest and most fashionable things? You just keep your own Dah-ray hopping around to pick up the newest and the loveliest things to write leaflets about! But, being fond of the last words in fashions myself, it's lots of fun—'n' this time I've found you something that you couldn't even guess about! I've written directions for making a stunning black satin evening gown that adds a blouse and becomes an irresistible Sunday night frock, and then subtracts a skirt and becomes a swanky afternoon frock! And you'd better hurry and send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Washington Post to find out how very easy it is!

* * * *

We know you'll always be interested in the weekly Dare fashion letter. Do look for it in the big Sunday Washington Post.

What Today Means to You

"CANCER."

IF July 2 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:15 a. m. to 9:30 a. m., from 1:20 p. m. to 3:15 p. m. and from 7:10 p. m. to 9:15 p. m. The danger hours are from 10:10 a. m. to noon and from 4:05 p. m. to 6:15 p. m.

The planetary aspects of July 2 are particularly fortunate for anything of a social and family nature, and, in a somewhat lesser degree, for business deals. Those under 28 will be inclined to restlessness, but impulses to make changes will turn out to be justified. Writers will get fresh inspiration.

Children born on this July 2 will be both tractable and studious. They will learn quickly and their success in after life is assured, provided they do not make an improvident marriage. Their dispositions will be kindly and affectionate, and they will be devoted to their kith and kin.

You, if born on July 2, are rather an enigma to all those who do not know you intimately. You are reserved and self-contained. You rarely voice an opinion, and you scarcely ever invite or give a confidence. Your mannerisms, although generally faultless are conventional and rather stand-offish. Your acquaintances, although they may respect you, do not enthuse over you. As a "mixer" you are a flop; in public, you will never let yourself go.

In the home circle, however, everyone loves you, and counts on you for advice and assistance. So far as your few intimates and your kith and kin are concerned, you are everything that can be desired; unselfish, natural, considerate, tolerant and sympathetic. Your horoscope, although difficult to read, shows only mediocre success from the world's viewpoint. It, however, denotes unmitigated success from the point of view of happiness.

Your habits are studious and you possess high ideals; you have the happy knack, once in a friendly circle, of shedding all your worries—and you will not be immune to them—and entering, with youthful spirit and energy, into any of the fun that may be going on. In public, you savor of the iceberg. In private, you are a sunshine radiator.

Successful people born July 2:

Gluck, famous composer.
Richard H. Stoddard, poet.
Nathaniel Holmes, jurist and professor.
Francis A. Walker, statistician and economist.
Nathan Read, pioneer steamboat inventor.
Henry A. Beers, author.

Culbertson on Contract

by Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

"WHAT CARD SHALL I LEAD?"

THE choice of a particular suit in the hand and the choice of a particular card in the suit is one of the most important questions facing the opening leader after the contracting is ended. Bidding is mental play. In other words, contract bidding is a prediction of the number of tricks that can be made with the hands held by the Declarer and his partner. During its course, whether it has been prolonged by the exchange of information as to suit distributions or not, every wide awake players gains information that may be of value. You may get it through a bid by your partner or through repeated denial by one of your opponents of a bid made by the other, or even by inference in case there has only been one bid, and that a preemptive one. The information in the last case is not so much from what has been said as from what has been left unsaid.

Many a contract has been made only through the unwise choice of the opening lead by an opponent. On the other hand, thousands of "seemingly safe" contracts have been defeated because the leader has drawn correct inferences and has applied them to his holdings.

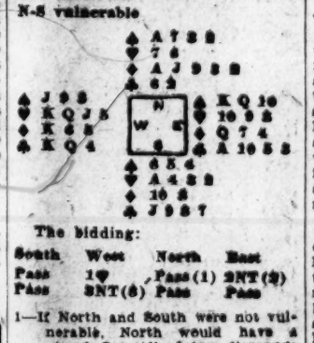
A lead is either the exercise of the right to play first or submission to the necessity to do so. Sometimes it is a great advantage. At other times it is a distinct disadvantage. The thirteen cards in the hand may be combined in such a manner as to make a lead of any card of any suit detrimental to partnership interests. Thus, leads are divided into two classes—the attacking lead and the waiting lead. Attacking leads, if present, offer the best defense. Strong honor combinations are chosen or long suits are opened under the theory that low cards in such suits will be developed as trick-takers. If the hand is strong and contains sufficient re-entries, this is the type of lead best calculated to defeat high contracts, particularly at no-trump.

Much more often, however, the leader finds his right a burdensome necessity and a handicap. His hand, perhaps, contains one or more tenace situations (a suit containing honors not in sequence, as A-Q, K-J, &c.). He may find that his long suit is hopeless, either from lack of top card strength or because he has no re-entries in the suit should it be established. To meet such a situation I use, and have suggested for general adoption, the device of the "waiting lead." If you can't attack—wait! A series of experiments, conducted over a long period by me and a number of my friends have shown that the waiting lead is the more comfortable horn of a dilemma, which frequently appears. It is a breathing space. It is designed to give up the right to be the first to play when playing first is painful. You hope that your generous gesture toward your opponents will gain for you the privilege of determining what use shall be made of the high cards held in other suits.

Leaders of the Bridge world were aghast a few years ago when I proposed the lead of a short suit (one of 2 or 3 cards) as a sound opening against a notrump declaration. They were barnacled by the traditions of Whist and Whist traditions asserted rightly enough, so far as that game was concerned, that the long suit lead was generally best. It was and is my belief that with a worthless hand it is foolish to waste the only thing you have of value; namely, the right to lead, in seeking to accomplish the unattainable. A waiting lead may be no better but it certainly can be no worse than an attacking lead when all you have to attack with is a wax lance.

Here is a hand played in Cleveland at the recent Ohio State duplicate bridge tournament, which aptly illustrates the application of the lead of a short suit against a notrump contract.

South—Dealer
N-S vulnerable



♠ A 7 3 2
♦ A J 9 3 2

♠ J 9 8
♥ K Q J 5
♦ K 8 5
♣ K Q 4

♠ K Q 10
♥ 10 9 3
♦ Q 7 4
♣ A 10 5 2

♠ 6 5 4
♥ A 4 3 2
♦ 10 6
♣ J 9 8 7

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	1♥	Pass (1)	2NT (2)
Pass	3NT (3)	Pass	Pass

1—If North and South were not vulnerable, North would have a sound Overcall of two diamonds in an effort to obstruct East and West should they seek to play the hand at notrump. With a passing partner, this bid would be too dangerous as the diamond suit is ragged and North's hand contains only one possible trick otherwise.

2—East is almost strong enough to bid three notrump. His hand contains 2-½ honor-tricks plus a Queen. He, therefore, knows that the combined hands total more than five honor-tricks. However, East was conservative. He felt safe in underbidding because both opponents had passed and he knew that his partner, with any values above an Opening bid, would not permit the bidding to die.

3—West, although holding no Aces, has more than three honor-tricks and thus is justified in bidding three notrump.

South is immediately faced with the selection of a lead. Wooden acceptance of tradition would dictate the opening of a club as the heart suit had been adversely bid. This lead would result in a game for East and West as the sacrifice of time in the attempt to establish a worthless suit is all that is necessary to assure East of his contract. South decided on a much wiser course. His heart Ace, of course, is a reentry to his hand. The club Knave may be a trick if he does not lead the suit. It may not be a trick if he does. The spade and the diamond suit are worthless, but on the theory that his partner is most likely to be long where he is short and strong where he is weak, he decided to open the diamond suit, the shortest one in the hand. The ten of diamonds was laid down, a small diamond played from the Dummy, North also playing a small card, which East won with the Queen. Now East can see his prospects of game growing dim. If South holds an entry to his hand and the lead of the diamond is, as East suspects, from a short suit, the only hope of game is to find North with all three Aces or else happily discover that the diamond suit is more evenly divided. There is one chance of a chance. If East can "steal" one spade trick and then find his heart Ace in North's hand, game is still possible if the club suit produces four tricks. East, therefore, led the spade King, but North won it at once and returned a heart. South must, if possible, be put in the lead and the bidding seemed to make it more probable that he held the heart Ace than the club Ace, if he held either. South won the trick and led his last diamond. Now it mattered not what card is played by the Declarer from the Dummy. North's diamonds are established and thus the contract was defeated two tricks. No other player except the one following the modern theory of leads was able to defeat the notrump contract, which was bid at all tables.

Dinner Menu

Jellied Ham Loaf — Potato Salad
Buttered Beets
Bread — Butter
Cherry Charlotte — Yellow Drop Cakes
Iced Tea

Jellied Ham Loaf
(Serving Six)

1 package lemon flavored gelatin mixture
1 cup boiling water
1 cup boiling ham stock
1 cup chopped cooked ham
1 cup diced celery
2 tablespoons finely chopped onions
2 tablespoons finely chopped green peppers
½ teaspoon pepper
4 tablespoons chopped sweet pickles

Pour water and stock over gelatin mixture and stir until dissolved. Cool and allow to thicken a little. Add rest of ingredients. Pour into glass loaf mold and chill until stiff. Unmold on lettuce.

Potato Salad

2 cups diced potatoes
3 hard cooked eggs, diced
2-3 cup diced cucumbers
2 tablespoons chopped pimentos
2 tablespoons chopped onions
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
2-3 cup salad dressing

Mix and chill ingredients. Serve in bowl lined with lettuce.

Cherry Charlotte

1 package lemon flavored gelatin mixture
1½ cups boiling water
½ cup cherry juice (fresh or canned)
2-3 cup red cherries
3 tablespoons sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ cup whipped cream

Pour water over gelatin mixture and stir until dissolved. Add cherry juice. Cool and allow to thicken a little. Beat until frothy. Fold in rest of ingredients and beat until mixture holds its shape. Pour into glass mold which has been rinsed with cold water. Set in cold place to stiffen. Unmold carefully and surround with more whipped cream and garnish with red cherries.

GARDENS

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell me how to start rose bushes from slips? C. G. E.

Choose such roots as are ready to open their buds. If the stems are over 8 inches long you can usually make two cuttings from one stem. Remove all but the top leaf. Insert cutting deeply into a box of sand or soil. Keep soil quite damp while cutting is rooting. If rooted in sand, transplant to soil when you are sure it is rooted. Plant young rose in good rich soil in the sun.

I am gradually building a rock garden about a stretch of woodland. Please tell me the best kind of stone to get for the purpose. There is no native stone available. I will have to buy all I use, and want to know something about the kind I ought to have. MISS F. P. M.

The best stones for any rock garden, aside from native stones, are flat limestone, porous sandstone or tufa, though boulders with one or two flat sides are well suited to such use. Always place the largest stones at the bottom and bury the largest side in the soil.

Please tell me why a rose bush that bloomed last year has no buds on it this year? MRS. JAMES T. W.

Likely because it requires food. Better give it liquid manure at this time, and repeat the applications until after September 10. Also cultivate the soil about its roots and keep it well watered.

Please tell me how to rid all my plants of gnats? This is a new experience; I never had gnats before.

MRS. CHARLIE McC.

Constant daily spraying with cold water should soon rid your plants of gnats.

Is lime and sulphur a satisfactory control for mildew on phlox, or is Bordeaux better? ALICE T. D.

Both preparations will control the mildew. I think Bordeaux mixture is less troublesome to use, though it has the disadvantage of discoloring the foliage.

Please tell me how often to feed roses. Some tell me every week, others every ten days and our garden club recommends feeding them liquid manure once in two weeks.

HARRY B. Y.

It really depends on the condition of your plants. However, I should suggest following the advice of the garden club.

Please tell when to prune a lilac bush. The bush is very old and large. MABEL T. L.

Lilacs bloom from the topmost buds, and to encourage growth of the individual twigs should be pruned after flowering by removing only the older wood and the suckers at the base of the plant. Constant pruning will cause the bushes to send out side shoots and thus become more bushy.

The New JELLEFF'S

YOUR NAME — WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, Ph. D.

THE personal and family name "Archibald" is common throughout Great Britain, and is found in the earliest records. However, it is derived ultimately from an Old Germanic person name. Its basic meaning is "holy bold," but it has taken on such secondary meanings as "holy Prince" and "precious bold." In Scotland "Archibald" has frequently been adopted as the equivalent of the family name "Gillespie" because the ending "bald" was wrongly supposed to mean "hairless" and "shaven," and was therefore thought to be the equivalent of the Gaelic "gille." "Gille" means "the shaven one," "the monk" and "the servant." The real meaning of "Gillespie" is "the servant of the bishop." The Hundred Rolls includes the names of Roger Arkebald and Richard Arkebolt. The common modern French equivalent of the name is "Archambault." In Germany it is found as "Archenhold." In Italy it is found with many variations. Some of the commonest are "Arcibaldo," "Arcimbaldo" and "Arcambaldo."

The family name "Croft" is of English origin. It means "the small field" or "the small farm," and indicates an original place of residence. There are parishes called "Croft" in Counties Hereford, Leicester, Lincoln and York. A former residence in one of these parishes has frequently given rise to the family name. Instances of this name in an English document of the year 1379 are Johannes del Croft, Willelmus del Croft and Ricardus de Crofte. A frequent variation of "Croft" is "Craft," although the latter name has often been adopted by German families who were originally called "Kraft."

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

An Excellent Philosophy.

DEAR Frances McDonald: After almost 35 years of living in this queer old world of ours I have come to one conclusion that maybe others might ridicule, but if more people would believe and follow would solve many many of the heart-breaking problems of thousands of people who spend sleepless night trying to decide what to do.

Let me give you a brief bit of my life. I have at least the average amount of looks, I come from a good family, have had a fair education supplemented by a cultured atmosphere.

There have been many men that I have liked in my life—several I have loved and one I married.

One was killed in the war. The news almost stunned me, for his letters had come to me regularly, full of affection. However, I did not feel that my life was blasted. Other people had lost dear ones and still lived. I am looking forward to seeing my friend after this life is over.

Another friend whom I cared for greatly is now married and living close to my home. His wife and I are very close friends. She knows that I cared very much for her husband, but she also knows that I am now happily married to a man I love dearly and that I would never try to stir up feelings again that would cause heartache for all of us.

There are times when my husband is in his old clothes, when things irritate him (as they do every one who is human), but instead of thinking of the man I might have married, I try to picture him as being irritated at times, too. He would not be an angel of patience and virtue either.

We control our tempers. We do not allow ourselves to race at breakneck speed down a crowded street endangering the lives of others simply because we have the urge to do it.

We have a right to happiness, it is true; but when happiness means heartbreak for others then we should look for happiness somewhere else, controlling the urge to ride rough shod over the lives of others to obtain what we desire. A WIFE.

Yours, my dear, is an excellent philosophy, and one that many might borrow. We all seem to believe that, given another try at life, we could make better terms with fate. But the new existence would present its moments of less charm just as the present. Life is not all beauty. Beauty is but snatched on the way. To prize the present and thus beautify it is the answer, after all.

UNIT OF WOODMEN PLANS ENCAMPMENT

Foresters Will Gather Here Tomorrow; East Potomac Scene of Outing.

The Modern Woodmen Foresters, uniform rank of the Modern Woodmen of the World, will open the Eastern zone encampment here tomorrow with representatives from Maine to Florida in attendance. The encampment will be held in East Potomac Park, adjacent to the tourist camp, and will close July 6.

The camp will be officially opened at 11 a. m. with appropriate flag ceremonies, and the high light of the first day will be a dance in the evening. Perhaps the most crowded day for members of the organization will be July 4.

Members have accepted an invitation to participate in a parade in Takoma Park, and they will be accompanied by the Modern Woodmen Band of Laytonsville, Md., and the Junior Drum and Bugle Corps of Reading, Pa. At 6:30 p. m. ceremonies at the camp will be broadcast. An outdoor initiation, with the Foresters Team of Washington Camp exemplifying the work, will be held later.

The campers will honor the Unknown Soldier at Arlington National Cemetery on July 5. The rest of that day will be spent in touring points of interest here.

The close of competitive drill will be held July 6, with prizes distributed to winning teams and individuals at the close of the competition. The camp will disband that afternoon.

State Department Aid Marks 50 Years' Duty

Sydney Y. Smith, 73-year-old State Department employe, yesterday was presented a special letter of commendation by Assistant Secretary of State Castle, on completion of 50 years of continuous service in the State Department.

Mr. Smith's name will be transferred to the State Department's retirement list November 28, at the end of of his second two-year extension beyond the statutory limit. He has served as chief of the Diplomatic Bureau, a member of the board of examiners, a member of the United States delegation to Buenos Aires in 1910, drafting officer of the United States Commission to Negotiate Peace in November, 1918, and since as drafting officer of the department.

The First Secretary of the American embassy in Paris and Mrs. Williamson Howell, jr., have departed from the French capital for Val d'Or, where they have taken a house for the summer. In Paris they occupy an apartment. When Mr. and Mrs. Howell resided in Washington several years ago during the former's term of service in the State Department, they lived at Evermay, the Georgetown estate of Mr. and Mrs. F. Lammot Belin.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Cooke and their daughters, Miss Polly Cooke and Miss Virginia Cooke, will leave on Friday for Wyoming and will spend the summer at the H. F. Barr ranch.

Mrs. William Rapley and her small daughter have gone to Bay Head, N. J., where they have taken a cottage for the summer. Mr. Rapley will join them tomorrow for the week-end, and will make frequent trips there during the remainder of the season.

Robert W. Fleming, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Fleming, has gone to Camp Redcloud, near Binghamton, N. Y., for the remainder of the summer. Mrs. Fleming and her daughter, Miss Alice Fleming, will leave shortly for Spring Lake, N. J., where they will be joined by Mr. Fleming for short visits.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Jones Depart for Farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard B. Jones have closed their home on Wyoming avenue for the summer, and left yesterday for their home in Virginia, Audley Farm, where they will pass July. In August they will go to New York, and from there will go to Saratoga, N. Y., where they have a house for the racing season.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Jones are devotees of the track, and their interest is stimulated by the Audley Farms horses which run on the big courses of the country.

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Lynch, of the dissolution of the engagement recently announced of their daughter, Miss Eleanor Lynch, and Dr. Martin J. Keane, of Washington.

Miss Lola E. Boyd, who arrived a few days ago from Panama, is spending the summer with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Rolfe E. Bolling, at the Wardman Park Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. William I. Deming announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Catherine Deming, to Lieut. Edward Hanna Forney, jr., U. S. M. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Forney, of Hollywood, Calif. The wedding will take place on July 11 at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Deming is a graduate of Gunston Hall School. Lieut. Forney was graduated from the United States Naval Academy in June.

Capt. Adolph von Schell, chief of military affairs at the German Embassy sailed yesterday for Germany, where he will pass some time before going to Russia to take up his new work.

Before sailing, Capt. von Schell was the best man at the wedding of Miss Constance Dorothy Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Lewis, of New Dorp, Staten Island, to Capt. Herbert Daskum Gibson, U. S. A., which took place at the home of the bride's parents on Tuesday. A reception followed in the gardens of the Lewis home. Capt. and Mrs. Gibson will sail in August for the Philippines where the former will be stationed.

Teacher to Represent Schools.

Mrs. Lillian C. Parham, eighth grade teacher in John Eaton School, yesterday was named by District Commissioners to represent District schools in a visual educational test promoted by the Visual Education Society. Two pupils were named earlier to participate.

Rotary Officers Are Given Honors

Retiring President and His Successor Are Paid Luncheon Tribute.

Washington Rotarians yesterday bade farewell to a retiring president and welcomed a new one at a luncheon meeting at the Willard Hotel.

Tribute to Henry N. Brawner, jr., the retiring president, was paid in an address by William Knowles Cooper, past Rotary president. Mr. Brawner was presented with a silver sherbet set, the past president's badge and the framed and signed portraits of all his fellow officers.

S. Percy Thompson, incoming president, was presented with a huge cake by Martin Rittenhouse. Secretary A. F. E. Horn received a silver platter. Reports were made by the four Rotary divisional chairmen, Edwin C. Graham, Oscar Evans, James Sharp and Roland Whitehurst. The last two were presented by the chair in the absence of the chairmen.

WOODLAND BEACH

SOUTH RIVER.

ALL you have to do to take advantage of this great offer is to subscribe to THE WASHINGTON POST. That entitles you to buy a lot at beautiful WOODLAND BEACH on the famous South River at this unusually low cost. No more ideal spot for summer home could be found in this part of the country. It is easily reached from both Baltimore and Washington by road. Stately trees cover the property, which slopes down to a beautiful beach. Cool breezes off Chesapeake Bay will make you forget the stifling heat of the city.

Boating—Bathing—Fishing

Imagine yourself after a hot day in the city plunging into the cool, refreshing waters of the river. The entire beach is reserved for lot owners. Over week-ends fishing and boating parties will be enjoyed under perfect conditions.

Clubhouse

You will appreciate the advantages of the beautiful clubhouse of Colonial design which THE WASHINGTON POST has erected and completely furnished. It will be given free to an association of property owners for the exclusive use of all residents.

How to Get There

WOODLAND BEACH is only 32 miles from Washington and 30 from Baltimore. It is reached from Washington via the Defense Highways (U. S. No. 50) to Camp Parole, then south across South River Bridge to Mayo Road, then follow signs direct to property.

ARMY MAN SUICIDE ON CORCORAN LAWN

Body of Lieut. Col. Thode Laid Unnoticed for Several Hours.

The body of Joachim Thode, 54-year-old lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserve Corps, a .45-caliber bullet through the temple, was found by an office-bound pedestrian yesterday morning lying on the small grass plot skirting the New York avenue side of the Corcoran Art Gallery. Later in the day Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt issued a certificate of suicide after viewing notes found by the body and talking to friends of the dead officer.

Harvey G. Pidgen, 625 E street, was walking past the art institution when he was startled to see the prostrate form of Lieut. Col. Thode on the lawn near the entrance. A neat stack of papers, on top of which was a thirty-second degree Masonic ring, lay alongside the body, together with a .45-caliber automatic.

Pidgen summoned a physician from Emergency Hospital, just across the street, who pronounced Thode dead and notified police, who began an investigation at once. Among the stack of papers were two notes which police believed indicated that Thode had carefully planned his death. One missive requested Lieut. John McFall, 1900 H street northwest, a brother officer, to notify a half-brother, Henry Witt, of West River, Md., and the other gave directions for reaching the brother's home.

Was to Go to Camp Today.

Attaches at Emergency Hospital said that shortly before midnight Tuesday they heard a sound which might have been that of a gun but which they attributed at the time to the backfiring of an automobile or the setting off of firecrackers by boys. Physicians expressed the opinion that Thode had been dead for from 5 to 7 hours.

The body, which was taken to the Morgue at first, was later claimed by Thomas F. Murray & Sons, undertakers, of 2009 Nichols avenue southeast, at the direction of Mr. Witt. Funeral plans had not been decided on early last night.

Wonderment was expressed by police that the body of Thode could have lain so long in such full view without having been discovered.

Lieut. Col. Thode was to have begun a tour of active duty at Camp Meade, Md., today. He was unmarried and lived alone in an apartment at 534 Twentieth street northwest.

Saw Service Against Moros.

Coming to this country in 1899 from his native Holland at the age of 22, Thode soon enlisted in the cavalry branch of the Army and served three years, taking part in the Moro campaigns. He was naturalized in 1904 after his discharge from the Army and took a position with the Department of Agriculture at that time which he held until 1917.

With the entrance of the United States into the World War, Thode went back into the service, becoming an lieutenant of infantry. He was commanding officer at the Gillespie shell plant when it was wrecked by an explosion believed to have been caused by German agents. In 1922 he was elevated to a captaincy and two years later became a major in the Reserve Corps. In 1929 he was elevated to be a lieutenant colonel.

The dead man was said by Lieut. McFall to be of a retiring nature, and little had been seen of him recently. Of late he had been unemployed, it is understood. He was a member of the Scottish Rite Masons, Spanish War Veterans, Army and Navy Club and Columbia Lodge No. 7 of the Masons.

Mercury Climbs to 99 In Shenandoah Valley

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., July 1.—July's debut in the Shenandoah Valley today was marked by the hottest day of the year.

The mercury at the Dale Enterprise weather station soared to 99 degrees. At sunset the thermometer registered 96. The minimum reading was 68. Yesterday's maximum was 97. The mercury hit the 97 mark two weeks ago.

FIRESTONE PLANTATION IN LIBERIA

ducted for food. Skilled workers like chauffeurs, mechanics, nursery workers and so forth, receive from one to four shillings a day. In the beginning, common laborers were paid from two to four shillings a day, unheard of, fabulous wages in Liberia, but the government objected, saying that Liberian farmers were protesting on the ground that the high wages drew away their labor. Even bank clerks in Monrovia get but two pounds, ten shillings a month. At one time the Firestone Liberian payroll exceeded $1,000,000 annually.

The laborers work at will, only a small percentage ever drawing a full month's salary. Out of a total of 3,000 workers now employed on the Du River plantation, 66 per cent turn out daily. So there seems to be nothing to the rumor that the men are driven.

The workers are housed in sixteen camps resembling diminutive native villages. Each camp is ruled by a native headman elected by the workers and under whose direction they perform their daily tasks. The men will not work under undesirable headmen and the company respects their wishes. I found the camps neat, clean and sanitary, much more so indeed than Monrovia. There are seldom members of more than one tribe in a camp.

Natives Are Skilled.

The company has a nursery of 545,000 young rubber trees, and the delicate work of grafting is done entirely by natives. The automobiles and trucks are operated and largely repaired by natives and they do much other work requiring skill, such as constructing roads and culverts and building concrete bridges. Some day, it would seem, Liberia should greatly profit from the training these natives are receiving and which they could get nowhere else in the republic.

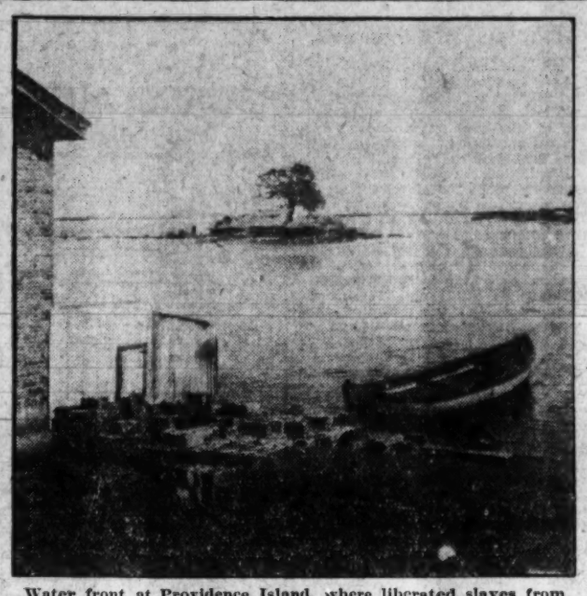
Seeking the Firestone Co.'s answer to the statements against it, I went to the office of W. D. Hines, the resident manager of the Firestone plantations, who has been in Liberia since the beginning of the project. Mr. Hines was rather wearily amused, but politely proceeded to relate the whole history of the company's efforts in Liberia.

In answer to my question concerning the claim that the Firestone Co. had insisted the government must build roads so that rubber might be taken to port, Mr. Hines drove me in his car to Landing No. 10 on the Du River, where there are warehouses, a small dock and several large motor launches moored. He explained that such rubber as has been produced is shipped from that point to the mouth of the river at Marshall, where it is loaded aboard ship, thus making completely unnecessary transportation by land. He pointed out that the small and much older Mount Barclay plantation sits astride of a Liberian road that was constructed long before the Firestone Co. entered the country.

Denies "Pressure."

When I mentioned the accusation that the Firestone Co., through the American Legation, sought to get the government to use pressure to increase the flow of labor to the plantations, he replied:

"There was always a sufficient supply of labor until former District Commissioner David Carter (now jailed on charges of murder) began to interfere with laborers en route to the plantations in order to extract illegal fees from them or to divert them to forced labor on the government roads.



Water front at Providence Island, where liberated slaves from America landed years ago.

"Upon being requested to stop the practice, Commissioner Carter referred me to the then President King. I immediately took up the matter with the president, but the only thing he would say was that if the American minister would make the request that the Firestone Co. be supplied with more labor, it would be furnished.

"I replied that I could make no such request of the American minister, nor could I see where he had anything to do with it. A high Liberian official was interfering with our labor supply and I was merely asking that this interference cease. However, President King communicated with Mr. Francis, who was then American minister, concerning the matter. Mr. Francis replied at first that he would have nothing to do with the matter. Upon King's further insistence, Mr. Francis stated that he saw no reason why an American corporation should not be permitted to have all the labor it desired."

Mr. Hines expressed the opinion that the whole scheme was to make the American Government appear to be forcing the Liberian government to supply the Firstone Co. with labor. I discovered later that there was not a shred of correspondence in the files of the American Legation to support the Liberian charge.

Denies League Spur.

The Firestone manager stated, in answer to the charge that his company inspired the League of Nations investigation, that as they had never had any difficulty in getting sufficient labor, except when interfered with by Liberian officials, there was no reason for the company to complain against the exportation of a few hundred laborers. He mentioned the fact that years before Liberia had been criticized for permitting this traffic in "boys" and that Thomas J. D. Faulkner, wealthy merchant and head of the People's party, had been a frequent and outspoken accuser of government officials in that connection. He suggested that perhaps Faulkner's charges may have speeded the investigation.

It is true that 15,000 laborers are a whole lot to recruit from the scattered Liberian villages, and one might be excused for crediting rumors that force was used. And yet, from my travels in the interior, where money is so scarce and so desired, I can see where even at the peak of its operations the Firestone Co. needed no force to get labor.

Martinsburg Reports Temperature at 102

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., July 1.—While the 102 official temperature registration here this afternoon was 2 degrees below the high mark of 104 set here yesterday, the humidity made the day feel like the hottest of the year. The day started with a minimum of only 69 for Tuesday night and the thermometer kept up a gradual climb. The highest unofficial registration was on a downtown thermometer exposed to the sun which showed a reading of 110 at 3 o'clock.

One contractor suspended building work for the afternoon because of the heat, calling his men back for night work.

Bank in West Virginia Is Closed by State

Charleston, W. Va., July 1 (A.P.).—Closing of the Bank of Kingwood, at Kingwood, Preston County, was announced today by the State Banking Department. The announcement said the bank was turned over to the department with a view to reorganization. The action, it was announced, was taken owing to the unrest in the community and to conserve the assets for depositors.

In a statement, March 25, the bank listed resources at $595,855.12, deposits of $415,497.77; capital stock, $75,000, and surplus, $75,000.

Road Plans to Ask Train Service Cut

Discontinuance of Four Cumberland Valley Runs Sought.

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., July 1.—Authoritative sources here today said the Pennsylvania Railroad, Cumberland Valley Division, would ask permission of the West Virginia Public Service Commission to discontinue four passenger trains daily through this city, two from Hagerstown, Md., to Winchester, Va., and two from Winchester to Hagerstown, leaving only one train a day to each of the two neighboring towns. The proposal would discontinue all train service between the two cities on Sunday.

No formal application for such authority has been announced. Local postoffice officials have not been consulted as to disposition of mail business originating here which is handled ordinarily by the Pennsylvania trains. The postal officials thought, however, this responsibility would be taken over by bus lines paralleling the railroad system. The heaviest part of the local outgoing mail business is in the form of parcels post from manufacturing plants here.

Some weeks ago railroad officials said the volume of passenger business on the line did not justify continuing the trains.

Why not swim, too?

A clear skin and a strong body add a touch of loveliness to any man or woman

Regardless of whether you swim or not it is human for one to want to be more attractive. Often one can gain a clear skin and a strong body—the kind that makes you feel like your natural self again—simply by adding New Strength to the blood.

When your vitality is low and you feel weak, don't care to eat, have lost weight, your skin is sallow, pale or broken out with pimples or boils, you may be sure that your blood is in need of New Strength.

Rich, red blood for New Strength

Rich, red blood plays a dominant role in maintaining health. It builds and sustains . . . removes impurities from the tissues . . . gives strength. When you add New Strength to the blood and bring it back to normal, your whole body is invigorated and strengthened . . . you are better able to resist infection and disease . . . your skin clears up . . . your cheeks become rosy . . . more vitality and pep naturally follow. You know a clear skin comes from within.

S.S.S. makes rich, red blood

S.S.S. is famed for its ability to build New Strength in the blood. It does it safely and effectively. One of its distinct advantages is that it is composed of fresh vegetable medicinal ingredients in concentrated form. Indeed, it is Mother Nature's formula. It has an enviable record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality in the blood—this New Strength naturally makes for better health and happiness.

S.S.S. is sold in two sizes. The larger size contains 20 oz. and represents a price saving.

If constipated, try KLOK-LAX . . . it "acts on time."

Hot Water does the trick

When all other methods fail, you can depend upon a warm bath to restore that cool, and most of all, CLEAN feeling so essential to your disposition after a hard day's work. Followed by a cool, invigorating shower, it sends the blood tingling through your veins and makes you want to DO things.

Equally as important as comfort these hot summer days is complexion care. Friendly cosmetics may enrich color and even help protect our skins from wind and dust—but only constant bathing with refreshing HOT WATER and good soap will remove the clogging accumulation of waste particles that cause blemishes; will stimulate the tiny oil glands that keep skin clear, fresh and smooth.

The only dependable water heater that brings an INSTANT flow of water, neither lukewarm nor scalding hot—but at the ideal temperature for bathing—is the Self-Operating Gas Water Heater. It operates itself. It is completely trouble free and costs only a few cents a day to operate.

Self-Operating Gas Water Heaters can be purchased now for $99 and up, according to your requirements. A small down payment and the balance on liberal terms will put one in your home without delay. We allow you $10 on your old water heater and there is no extra charge for financing.

FIVE IN PLANE KILLED IN AIR SHOW CRASH

Canadian Carnival Throng Witnesses Crash as Craft Gets Out of Control.

Hamilton, Ontario, July 1 (A.P.).—While thousands attending an air pageant looked on, five men plunged to their death today in a monoplane which got out of control when the pilot swerved upward to avoid hitting the carnival throng.

Among those killed was Harold Raine, of Toronto, general superintendent of the Canadian Press and one of the Dominion's most widely known journalist executives.

The others were Capt. Robert Sterling, of Montreal, pilot; J. H. Maher, jr., owner of the plane; Charles L. Daly, jr., Toronto parachute jumper, and Alfred Rogers, of Hamilton.

The tragedy halted what was to have been a brilliant pageant prefacing a trans-Canada air tour to help make the Dominion more "air-minded." Observers expressed belief that the heat, which sent the mercury to 100 degrees at the airport, caused the crash by weakening fabric on one of the wings.

The craft had just taken part in a "rat chase" over the city to draw a crowd to the airport for the carnival. Capt. Sterling dipped downward, but apparently saw that the distribution of the crowd over the field was such that he might hurt some one if he landed.

He swerved upward, a strip of fabric blew away from the left wing and the craft turned over crazily. Striving to avoid disaster, Sterling almost got the ship on an even keel again, but it staggered and crashed from a height of 150 feet.

All except Rogers died instantly and he succumbed in an ambulance. The pageant was immediately suspended.

It was just by chance that Raine became a victim. He was covering the pageant for his organization, but did not expect to fly. Just before the monoplane took off he was offered the one vacant seat, and accepted. He was about 38 years old.

Wage Cuts Grow During Month

100 Per Cent Increase Is Reported by Labor Department.

(United Press.)

A 100 per cent increase in wage cuts in industry was reported in official statistics of the Labor Department yesterday.

In the 30-day period, ended May 15, 293 industrial establishments, in 46 industries, showed an average wage decrease of 10.4 per cent, affecting 46,377 workers. This compared with the previous month's report of 195 cuts, affecting 22,543 employes.

Labor Department officials said these decreases were only the "money cuts," and that there were undoubtedly many alternations in operating schedules during the month which had the effect of wage decreases without technically lowering wages.

In the May report the lumbering industry led the down-swing in wage levels, with 60 increases, while 33 establishments in the textile group, 53 in the iron and steel industry, and 56 in the stone-clay-glass group reported lowered rates of pay.

MRS. GODDARD SUCCUMBS.

Mother of Washington Man Is Buried In Ann Arbor.

Word has been received in Washington of the death of Mrs. Magdalene Clay Goddard, 68, of Ann Arbor, Mich., mother of Harvey W. Goddard, an accountant in the income tax division of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, pastor of the Vanderwerken Congregational Church, at Clarendon, Va., and secretary of the Association of Congregational Churches of this section.

Mrs. Goddard was prominently identified with the Daughters of the Union Veterans, of which she was president of her chapter, and the Women's Relief Corps. She became ill while attending a convention of the State department at Grand Rapids.

Survivors in addition to her son in Washington are Leslie D. Goddard, of Michigan, and Fred C. Goddard, of Detroit; a sister, Mrs. W. B. Parkinson, of Le Mars, Iowa, and two brothers. Funeral services were held in Ann Arbor.

Alleged Whisky Seized in Raid.

James Richard Posey, 21, was arrested and charged with illegal possession yesterday after two men from the District Attorney's office raided a house on L street, near Sixth street southeast, and seized 525 bottles of home brew and a small amount of alleged whisky. The agents broke down the door to gain entry. Two alleged patrons were not taken in custody.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

THE Hon. Charles Curtis, Vice President of the United States, and Mr. Hiram S. Brown, president of the Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation, it seems, have entered into a conspiracy for the promotion of patriotism.

Acting on a suggestion from the Vice President contained in a letter to Mr. Brown, date-lined Topeka, Kans., June 20, celebration of Patriotism Week will be sponsored by the R-K-O theaters throughout the Nation, beginning tomorrow, Friday, July 3.

A similar observance was fostered for the week beginning last July 4, at Mr. Curtis' suggestion, and resulted in tremendous demonstrations in many cities. For instance, in Cleveland a monster parade was staged in which thousands of school children marched, each carrying a United States flag. It is expected that this year the celebration will assume even greater proportions.

In referring to last year's Patriotism Week, Mr. Curtis in his letter to Mr. Brown, in part, remarks as follows:

"It occurs to me that a repetition would be most helpful. This is a time for an appeal to the patriotism and confidence of our citizens; it is a year when cheerfulness, loyalty and confidence in our great Nation and its resources should be fostered and the youth of the land given every encouragement in loyalty and good citizenship."

In reply, Mr. Brown hastened to assure the Vice President that his organization "will enter into the proposal for a "Patriotic Week" celebration, as outlined by you, with the greatest possible energy and enthusiasm."

I assume that this is being done. Otherwise, Mr. McIntyre, of the local R-K-O-Keith forces, probably would not have made the material outlined above available for the uses of this column.

Lest the Messrs. Curtis and Brown labor under the misapprehension that they are fostering the only celebration that will be observed in Washington the week of July 4, it may be hastily stated that there is going to be plenty whoopee at the Earle Theater, too, come Saturday. On that day and date there will be reunited on the same bill a quintet of old cronies who haven't seen each other for ages. I mean the Gale Quadruplets and Maxine Doyle, the mellifluous mistress of ceremonies.

If I have my memory on straight—and I probably haven't—Maxine and Jean, Joan, June and Jane all trouped out of their native California in the same company and became the closest of friends. It seems to me that Lucile Page, recently at the Fox and soon to go into Earl Carroll's ninth edition of the "Vanities," scheduled to open the New Earl Carroll Theater in New York, August 27, was also a member of this club.

At any rate, the warmth of their affection has not been cooled by a long period of separation and Maxine and the four J's anticipate their week of reunion with ecstatic impatience—if it so happens that there is any such thing as ecstatic impatience.

Anyhow, what a load of pulchritude for any one stage in any one week!

The Gale Quadruplets, incidentally, are bona fide sisters, all born within a period of three hours some eighteen years ago. They were recently prominent in George White's production of "Flying High," in which Kate Smith was featured with Bert Lahr, and have recently returned from a successful engagement at the Palladium in London.

This, by the way, is their birth month—a fact which seriously complicates the gift problem for their friends. What to do, four identical remembrances or should they all be different? And, if so, what?

This holiday week-end, out of the entire summer season, is the one which puts the capacities of the open air amusement parks in and about the National Capital to the severest test. If the present streak of weather holds, it is a foregone conclusion that Glen Echo Park, Seaside Park, Marshall Hall and the various semiprivate resorts along the Potomac and on the bay will be crowded from Friday evening to Monday morning.

With the opening of its new Crystal Pool on Decoration Day, Glen Echo has taken on a new lease of life. Not only is the cooling pool the objective of daytime crowds. It has also become the rendezvous of multitudes of men, women and children who go in for night bathing in a big and enthusiastic way.

It is of interest in this connection that through the progressive helpfulness of Manager Leonard B. Schloss, books of tickets for the pool may be purchased at reduced rates.

For example, a book of 30 tickets for children under 12 years of age, with use of locker and towel, good on week days only, may be bought for $5—a little more than 16 cents per ticket, as opposed to the flat rate of 25 cents. Similarly, a monthly ticket for adults, good for daily admission to the pool with use of locker and towel, may be purchased for $10, thus reducing the per swim cost from 50 cents to 33 1-3 cents.

Glen Echo is all set for the biggest Fourth in its history. Barring inclement weather, it can't miss!

The holiday parade of screen attractions in the downtown, first-run sector, barring last minute changes of managerial mind, will be exactly like this: Columbia, Norma Shearer in "A Free Soul;" Fox, George O'Brien and Sally Eilers in "The Holy Terror" and Fanchon and Marco's vaudeville bill of "Headliners," with Mel Klee; Earle, Joe E. Brown in "Broad Minded," and Joe Penner headlining the vaudeville bill; Palace, Gary Cooper and Carole Lombard in "I Take This Woman," and Dave Schooler in Loew's "Get Set" revue; RKO-Keith's, Eddie Quillan and Marian Nixon in "Sweepstakes;" Metropolitan, Irene Delroy and Jack Whiting in "Men of the Sky."

And after all my 87 years of trying to take on a coat of tan, I should find out now that I am a heliophobe!

BOARD DEMOTES HEDRICK AND HAY

Scientists Made Teachers With Salaries Cut $500; Learned Reelected.

Demotion of Dr. William A. Hedrick and Dr. William P. Hay as heads respectively of the departments of physics and chemistry and biology in the Washington public schools to the positions of teachers with a reduction in salary of $500 each a year was approved by the Board of Education yesterday.

This action was taken after the board upheld the policy adopted last week consolidating the two departments into one department of science. The board deferred until August 1 final action on the transfer of the Greenleaf school in the southwest section from the white to the colored divisions so that a more complete study can be made of the situation.

Dr. H. B. Learned was reelected president of the board. Election of a vice president was postponed until next September after Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle and Mrs. Philip Sydney Smith, the present vice president, were nominated.

Consolidation Approved.

The board upheld its policy combining the two departments in face of the charge by Paul Lesh, local attorney, that they were violating the organic act given the board by Congress. Henry Gilligan voted in favor of the demotion of the two heads with the reservation that he thought the board was performing an illegal act, but realized that "this was the best thing that could be done for the two men under the circumstances."

Risque Magazines Are Held Menace

Education Group Hears Problem of Subnormal Child Discussed.

Los Angeles, July 1 (A.P.).—The National Association convention was told here today that the greatest danger of 10,000,000 abnormal and subnormal children is "vulgar and indecent books and periodicals."

Edwin C. Broome, Philadelphia educator, made the statement in discussing means by which school principals can make effective recommendations of the White House conference on child welfare.

"No measures," he said, "except the elimination of the traffic in indecent publications will avail. The control of this vice, like the control of dope peddling, is a responsibility upon police and the courts and should be courageously met."

Mrs. Mary McNeil, voting in favor of the action, said she was doing so against her better judgment.

Receive $3,200 Salary.

Dr. Hedrick and Dr. Hay will receive salaries of $3,200 annually. This is the maximum salary for a teacher and the salary they started at as heads of the department, earning $700 in raises during the time they held the positions.

The board adopted a resolution, introduced by Daniel C. Roper, recommending that the president of the board and Supt. Frank W. Ballou confer with one representative each of the Carnegie Institution, the Smithsonian Institution, the National Research Council of the Washington Academy of Sciences and other educational groups, to obtain suggestions for the general improvement of scientific teaching in the local schools.

Merging of the departments was bitterly fought by the teachers union on the grounds that it attacked the tenure of teachers. Dr. Ballou contended that this was not true.

BEACH IDEAL PLACE FOR JULY 4 OUTING

Cooling Breezes Are Offered to Visitors of Post Colony for Holiday.

Everybody is planning to do something a little out of the ordinary over the Fourth of July holiday and The Washington Post today takes the opportunity of inviting residents of the Capital to Woodland Beach this week-end. You may come for an hour, a half-day or as long as you like to enjoy the cooling breezes off the South River; its refreshing waters and the shade of the wooded areas which abound through the property.

If you haven't a friend or a relative who has purchased a lot at Woodland Beach with whom you can stay over the week-end, bring a tent along and enjoy a real outing in the woods or on the beach itself.

After you have spent a day or two at Woodland Beach you will become one of its army of enthusiasts and more than likely will be endeavoring to buy a choice location somewhere on the site so that next summer you'll have a cottage there, all ready for the hot months.

Woodland Beach offers all the recreation which most persons seek for a holiday. Bathing, of course, is the main attraction with the temperature in the 90s but there also are boating and fishing for those who like. For many the main attraction of Woodland Beach is the peace and quiet which mark the territory around the two coves of the river on which the development is located. They can go there and relax completely from the strenuous tasks of everyday business life.

Saturday and Sunday all electric cars on the W., B. & A. line to Camp Parole will be met at that point by buses which will carry visitors to and from the beach. Motorists may reach Woodland Beach in a short time over excellent roads. Take the Defense highway as far as Camp Parole; turn right there onto Maryland State highway No. 2 across the South River and then left onto Mayo road which leads directly to the community clubhouse, already erected on the property.

An investment in a lot at Woodland Beach is not costly. All lots are priced alike—$93—and of this amount only $9 in cash and the cost of a subscription to The Washington Post are necessary before selecting your location. The remainder may be paid at the rate of $3.50 per month.

Building Demolition Bid is $200.

William L. Pike was low bidder yesterday on the job of demolishing certain buildings on the site of the proposed addition to the Douglas-Simmons School. His estimate was $200.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

Paris has decided for the slim silhouette frock, it is essential that one wear a fitted costume slip. A straight one-piece affair that will give an unbroken line, as this charmingly slender model.

It hugs the figure through the waist and the hips, tapering into a nice comfortable fullness at the hem. It has the necessary shadow-proof hem.

It's really surprising how easily it is made. And it will wear for ever and a day of crepe de chine or flat crepe silk of a good quality that tubs so beautifully and may be bought at the remnant counter at a very small outlay.

Style No. 275 may be had in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3⅛ yards of 35-inch material, with 2 yards of binding.

Price of pattern, 15 cents. Address Fashion Department, The Washington Post, Fifth avenue and Twenty-ninth street, New York City.

William Noble Fisher Named Deeds Deputy

Appointment of William Noble Fisher, expert title examiner, as first deputy recorder of deeds for the District, to succeed Robert W. Dutton, retired, was announced yesterday at the recorder's office.

Mr. Fisher, who for more than fifteen years has been connected in an executive capacity with the Columbia Title Co., was indorsed for the position by the Republican State committee of the District. A native of Maryland, he served five terms in the Maryland Legislature. His appointment becomes effective August 1.

McCarl Says Rose Must Get Contract

Comptroller General Ignores Protest by Union Leaders.

Contract for building the new St. Elizabeths Hospital tuberculosis unit must go to the W. P. Rose Co., North Carolina building contractors recently under inquiry here, as the result of a ruling yesterday by Comptroller General McCarl.

Local labor leaders protested when the firm, whose employers were under fire following collapse of building forms at two local schools, was declared low bidder on the new building project. Interior Department officials put the matter up to the Comptroller General.

Ignoring the union's protest, the comptroller's ruling declares there is no basis for any other award under the law requiring that the contracts go to the lowest bidder. No announcement of the comptroller's decision has been made at the Interior Department.

STOCK PRICES MOVE HIGHER IN RECOVERY

Market Gains 1 to 3 Points in Quiet Selling; Turnover Is 1,700,000 Shares.

New York, July 1 (A.P.).—The stock market took the side of optimism today in its reaction to the Paris debt conferences, and after a moderate setback in the early trading moved quietly higher to net gains of 1 to 3 points.

Professional activity for the advance was apparent in some issues but the market was unwilling to give up for lost the moratorium proposal, especially when Washington dispatches reflected a turn for the better in sentiment at the capital. It was a dull day, however, for both stocks and bonds, the turnover in the former dwindling to 1,700,000 shares. Fixed income securities were mostly firm.

The Farm Board's statement of its plans for selling wheat during the next year and some bearish weather news sent grain quotations down. Wheat closed 1⅝ to 2⅜ lower, reflecting in part forecasts of rain, while corn lost 2⅛ to 4¼ as rainfall was reported in Iowa. Cotton gained $1.05 to $1.20 a bale.

Shares Recover Losses.

By showing an average of 1.9 points, shares virtually recovered the ground lost yesterday. Weakness at the opening and throughout most of the first hour expressed the market's uneasiness over the progress—or lack of progress—being made at Paris, and also indicated that the shorts believed the reaction was still incomplete.

Nevertheless, firmness of the foreign bourses after early easiness was taken as a sign of confidence abroad and local traders preferred to accept the same viewpoint.

United States Steel dropped to 99 in the slow selling. It afterward rebounded to 103½ and closed only a quarter under the top, up 2½ net. Woolworth had strong sponsorship, rising 3 points, while American Telephone, whose second quarter earnings will appear in a fortnight, moved up confidently, together with American Can, Consolidated Gas, American & Foreign Power, Westinghouse, Case and some of the merchandising issues. Rails sagged easily at the outset, but refused to stay down. Southern Pacific's net gain was 3 points, while Atchison, Baltimore & Ohio, Union Pacific and New Haven were up about 2.

Hoover Plan Results.

The extent of the gain in sentiment since President Hoover's plan was announced can not, of course, be measured, but it has had little tangible expression so far, at least, in the basic industries. Steel mill activity is down to 35 per cent, and the Iron Age believes the industry is in for a very quiet July, largely because of prospective shutdowns by important consumers, including the automobile manufacturers.

There is a possibility that a successful termination of the Paris discussions would bring a moderate revival before the expected fall upturn. Scrap and finished steel prices have joined the list of improving commodities, but pig iron is easy.

Foreign exchanges did fairly well. Leading continental rates were firm, with the exception of a droop in the Spanish peseta. Argentine pesos had a sinking spell, but rallied.

Money rates at New York gave no suggestion of the large July 1 turnover in funds incident to large dividend and interest payments and the usual month-end requirements. Funds were offered plentifully at 1 per cent outside the stock exchange.

June Business Failures Less Than Year Ago

New York, July 1 (A.P.).—R. G. Dun & Co. today reported that the record of business failures for June was more favorable than for many months past. The number of failures was considerably reduced, the report said, and while the liabilities continued heavy, owing to some defaults of unusual size, the total was much less than for June last year.

Insolvencies reported to Dun's for June totaled 1,993, involving $51,655,648 of indebtedness, compared with 2,026 similar defaults, with liabilities of $63,130,762, for the corresponding month last year. The reduction in the number of failures from a year ago was the first since November, 1929, and the June total was the smallest since last September. The decline from January to June this year is equivalent to 40 per cent, whereas in 1930 it was 26.5 per cent.

Allis-Chalmers Earns Its Regular Dividend

New York, July 1 (A.P.).—Directors of Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co. today declared the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share, payable August 15 to stockholders of record July 24.

Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Co. directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of 65½ cents a share on the common, payable July 21 to stockholders of record July 11.

Road Bonds Passed By Tennessee Senate

Nashville, Tenn., July 1 (A.P.).—A $10,000,000 State road and bridge bond issue, sponsored by the administration of Gov. Henry H. Horton, was passed by the Tennessee Senate today.

A $20,000,000 issue had previously been proposed by the administration, but opposition was encountered to this large a sum.

Coffee and Sugar Higher.

New York, July 1 (A.P.).—Both coffee and sugar scored substantial advances during the month of June, the Monthly Review of the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange shows. Coffee futures on the exchange advanced 28 to 64 points during the month, and Rio coffee sold at 6¼ cents a pound at the close of the month, compared with 6¼ cents at the end of May. Total sales on the exchange during June amounted to 1,235,750 bags, compared with 799,000 bags in May and 925,250 bags in June, 1930.

Paper Firm Increases Capital.

Albany, N. Y., July 1 (A.P.).—The A. P. W. Paper Co., of Albany, was authorized today to increase its capital stock from 186,000 to 266,000 shares. An issuance of $3,000,000 preferred stock is provided for. Heretofore the company has not had preferred stock.

BOND PRICES STAND UNCHANGED ON SALES

Gains Balance With Losses, With Leading Issues Holding Firm at Close.

New York, July 1 (A.P.).—The bond market was easy and firm by turns today and ended without many significant changes.

The average price for 30 representative bonds consisting of equal quantities of rail, public utility and industrial obligations was unchanged. There were gains and declines distributed over the list, but they offset one another pretty much.

A spurt in Armour 5½s of 1943 featured the late trading in the industrials. At the time this issue showed a gain of 4½ points, most of which was lost by the close. The shares of the company made sizable gains also. The Armour 4½s of 1939 were less spectacular in their advance. Newberry 5½s jumped almost 3 points and Shell Pipe Line 5s closed with a net gain of 3½ points. These advances were exceptional rather than typical.

Wilson first 6s, Sinclair 7s of 1937, Pan-American Petroleum 6s of 1940, Humble 5½s, Certainteed 5½s and Chile Copper 5s made varying declines on moderate activity.

Dual price movements characterized the foreign group. Argentine obligations closed higher after temporary losses, a description which applied also to the currency of that nation. Brazilian loans scored about as many net losses as gains. German issues closed irregularly lower.

Loans of the United States Government were less active, but an upward trend was apparent among the popular issues.

Most public utility and railroad bonds provided few small sales and the fluctuations among them were usually narrow, American & Foreign Power 5s, Atchison General 4s, Baltimore & Ohio first 4s, St. Paul Adjustment 5s, Rock Island refunding 4s, Erie refunding and improvement 5s of 1975, and Portland General Electric 4½s were active issues to close firm to strong.

HOW IT BEGAN

By Russ Murphy and Roy Sercombe

THE YALE BULLDOG

ANDREW B. GRAVES, A YALE STUDENT IN 1890, BOUGHT A BULLDOG NAMED "HANDSOME DAN," WHICH THE STUDENT BODY ADOPTED AS A MASCOT. SONGS WERE WRITTEN ABOUT HIM AND SINCE THEN THE BULLDOG HAS BECOME GENERALLY RECOGNIZED AS YALE'S SYMBOL.

WHEN IN ROME DO AS THE ROMANS DO

IN THE EARLY DAYS OF THE CHURCH, MILAN MADE SATURDAY A FESTIVAL DAY AND ROME MADE IT A FAST DAY. A PERPLEXED CLERGYMAN WHO HAD BUSINESS IN BOTH TOWNS ASKED ST. AMBROSE HOW TO CONDUCT HIMSELF. ST. AMBROSE REPLIED: "WHEN IN ROME DO AS THE ROMANS DO; WHEN IN MILAN, DO NOT FAST."

FROM DAN TO BEERSHEBA

DAN WAS THE MOST NORTHERN CITY IN PALESTINE AND BEERSHEBA THE MOST SOUTHERN CITY SO THAT THE HEBREWS USED THIS EXPRESSION TO INDICATE FROM ONE END OF A COUNTRY TO THE OTHER. THIS LED OTHER NATIONS TO USE THE SAME PHRASE.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

DIET FOR THE TEETH.

HIS experience at Gallipoli had led Dr. J. S. Fairchild, a British dentist, to regard pyorrhea as a mild or, at least, a modified form of scurvy.

The soldiers engaged in that campaign had to live almost exclusively on preserved food for a long time. Getting fresh green stuff was out of the question. Their commanders did not seem to have heard of the experiences of other British troops in Macedonia, who were saved from scurvy by sprouting their grain before they ate it. Or, maybe they knew of this experience, but could find no way to follow the example. At any rate, a considerable proportion of the troops became scurvied.

Dr. Fairchild tells of one soldier whose mouth was in very bad condition. He was put on a diet of green vegetables and got well. He saw this man fifteen years afterward and found his teeth and gums in good position.

His proof that green vegetables was a cure for scurvy was so good that he spread the mantle over pyorrhea, and began using the same diet as a preventive and, in a sense, a cure for pyorrhea. The diet he uses is built around raw milk, eggs, whole wheat bread, fruits and vegetables. The fruits and vegetables are mostly raw.

An American physician contributes a companion picture. His story relates to the care of the teeth of women during pregnancy. He builds his diets around whole milk, eggs, fruits, whole grain cereals and vegetables, with emphasis on green, leafy vegetables; and vegetables not oftener than once a day. His advice is that a part of the preparation for motherhood should consist in having the mouth examined and having the teeth cleaned and filled where required. After that there should be periodic visits to the dentist. Home care of the mouth should be carried out conscientiously. Diet rules should be laid down in writing or given in printed form.

The objective is to supply enough vitamins and minerals, both of which must be available in ample quantities, if trouble is to be avoided. On the other hand, since pregnant women rarely work hard the energy and fattening foods can be considerably reduced. Nor will there be great need for the repair foods.

LET THEM ALONE.

S. L. M. writes: I was born in 1847. Soon after I began to nurse, my mother said to her doctor: "This child does not nurse right and I wish you would see if she is tongue tied and if so cut the strings, for I can't have a lisping child." The doctor found she was right and did as she requested. The cut strings are still in evidence on the underside of my tongue, one each on two parallel veins. They are very short, one longer than the other. They begin sort of weblike and end in strings. I can get hold of them, but they are so short and slippery I can't hold on long.

I have never had the least difficulty in speaking, the only result being too much tongue, as it always gets in the way of the dentist, and once in a while I chew the side of it when eating. I have been so grateful to my mother, for with deafness from scarlet fever, if I had lisping also to contend with I don't think I would have had the courage to grow up. I have wanted so much to ask you if you would think it advisable, when on the subject of babies, to tell the mother to have the doctor examine the mouth for any trouble affecting speech. Now that the babies are mostly bottle fed, I suppose any defect will not be discovered until they begin to talk. I am so sorry for children with any physical defect, for the normal ones are so unmerciful to them.

I have wondered if the tongue tied strings in the adult mouth can be cut with safety. It is so very ridiculous to hear them lisp and it must be very mortifying.

REPLY.

Being tongue tied does not cause lisping. It rarely causes any trouble. Perhaps it interferes with nursing at times. Don't worry about those stumps, however; let them alone. Do not have them amputated. It is inadvisable to try to feel them or pull them.

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

THAT great waster of fistic opportunity, Jack Sharkey, who turned his back and muffled his ears not once, but thrice, when the old man knocked, gets back into the news this week with the prediction that Max Schmeling will beat Bill Stribling tomorrow night at Cleveland for the world heavyweight championship of Madison Square Garden's Ohio branch.

Sharkey will be at the ringside a spectator while the title is up for decision and he will be entitled to reflect that except for his own errant fists and mental brainstorms, he would be the possessor of the championship now held by the Ferocious Frankfurter.

Sharkey's fistic career is a tale of wasted chances. He has been a veritable spendthrift of opportunity with all the natural assets of a champion with the exception of that very necessary endowment called brains. It could have been he who inspired that very descriptive story about the passenger in the empty cab. His brain cells, if any were as densely populated as a vacuum when his big chance came his way on three different occasions.

Against Dempsey

He tossed away his fight with Dempsey in the summer of 1927 at Yankee Stadium in the biggest fistic show between the first and second Dempsey-Tunney battles. Sharkey was on the threshold of a decisive victory over the old Mauler and a shot at Tunney with the prospect of delivering the first knockout of Dempsey since the latter lost to Fireman Jim Flynn at the start of his fighting career.

At the end of the first round of that fight in the ring pitched atop second base at Yankee Stadium, Dempsey had taken the full fury of the big Bostonian's attack and when the bell rang he was so wobbly that he didn't know whether he was returning to his corner or taking up a position in right field. Sharkey almost annihilated the old champion and Dempsey appeared ripe for a knockout.

But when Dempsey came out fighting for the second round, Shar-

American Youth Defeats Borotra in Four Sets as 12,000 Britons See Play

Shields Wins by 7-5, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4 Despite Bad Fall.

Wood Loses Opening Set to Perry, But Triumphs Easily.

By FRANK H. KING.

LONDON, July 1 (A.P.).—American youth stood triumphant tonight on the courts of Wimbledon.

In the historic center inclosure of this tennis holy of holies, Frank X. Shields, 21-year-old New Yorker, and Sidney B. Wood, jr., 20-year-old University of Arizona freshman, today defeated Jean Borotra, of France, and Fred Perry, 21-year-old Briton, respectively, in the semifinals of what is regarded as the world's tennis championships. Shields overcame Borotra, 7—5, 3—6, 6—4, 6—4, and Wood defeated Perry, 4—6, 6—2, 6—4, 6—2.

Saturday they will fight it out for the title now held by William Tatem Tilden 2d, of Philadelphia, a recent convert to the professional ranks.

A heavy fall threatened to rob Shields of his hard-earned victory over the Basque when he was leading 4—3 in the fourth and last set, but he gritted his teeth, resumed play after a few minutes, and continued on to victory. The last point was won with a cannon-ball ace that whistled past Borotra like a shot.

Wood Exhibits Superiority.

Wood, a precocious youngster, slim, cotton-haired, supremely confident, met Perry's forceful, attacking game with a counter-attack which left no doubt of the American's superiority. It was a beautiful exhibition of tennis, but for sheer drama could not compare with the Shields-Borotra duel.

Long queues of fans were at the gates of Wimbledon at 4 a. m. and waited twelve hours before Borotra and his tall, broad-shouldered young American rival took the court.

They came on the court together, the angular Shields towering over Borotra several inches.

Borotra soon had his blue beret adjusted to his satisfaction and they went out to warm up.

Back and forth the play seesawed in the first set with the American youngster finally pulling out, 7—5.

The gallery was all for Borotra as the second set opened and under the stimulus of the warm sun and the warm greeting from the crowd, numbering 12,000, he ran through Shields to win 6—3.

Borotra's Game Unsteady.

In the third set, Shields began to improve while Borotra became wild, several times double-faulting. Shields finally won 6—4 to lead two sets to one

The American youngster ran into a lead of 3—1 then 4—2 in the fourth set. Borotra, fighting grimly, won his own service to make it 3—4 in games. With the count 40-30 in his favor in the eighth game, Shields, rushing to the net behind his own service, saw too late he was out of position and attempted to turn to reach Borotra's return.

As Shields turned, his legs became entangled and he went down heavily. He made an effort to rise and then collapsed, his face twisted in pain. Borotra, his expression anxious, rushed to the net and vaulted over. With the aid of officials Shields limped to the sidelines where the Frenchman and the referee massaged his injured leg. After five minutes or so Shields got back on his feet and walked along the sidelines, Borotra following along like a solicitious parent.

The gallery cheered as Shields picked up his racquet and returned to the court. Shields won the point needed for that game and led 5—3. Borotra won his own service to pull up to 4—5 and went to the net to ask the American if he wanted to retire. Shields shook his head and Borotra returned to his baseline. Obviously in pain, Shields propped himself up on his injured leg and went on to finish the match with a 6—4 victory.

Heat Hazard Today for U.S. Open

Entries to Dwindle if Weather Holds; Cox May Quit Play.

Armour and Sarazen Against Field Pick of Experts.

BY PAUL MICKELSON

TOLEDO, Ohio, July 1 (A.P.).—Tomy Armour and Gene Sarazen against the field.

Such was the final revision of forecasts tonight as the golfing masters of the world staggered through the stifling heat for their final drills in the National Open championship struggle, which opens fire over picturesque old Inverness tomorow.

Just like the mighty Bobby Jones out a year ago at the big push at Interlachen, the slender Scot from Detroit, and the cocky Sarazen pushed out in front as the men to beat on the even of the 72-hole fight for the thirty-fifth annual championship. Both Tommy and Gene surveyed each other nervously while the other 142 or less hoped they could cement four cards together that neither of the two prohibitive favorites could catch.

But the stifling heat, which derricked the temperature to 108 degrees today, worried the contestants more than Armour, Sarazen and the dangerous hazards and pitfalls of the championship Inverness course, which required 295 strokes for a championship card just 11 years ago.

Heat Limits Practice Of Players.

It was so oppressive today that only a few of the contestants dared to make a final and complete tour of the layout, most of them playing a few holes between long rests and many others refusing to do more than swing a few clubs off the practice tees. Several threatened to withdraw from the fight if no relief was afforded by starting time tomorrow, and among them were the veterans Abe Mitchell and George Duncan, of England. Mitchell and Duncan all but collapsed after nine holes in the terrific heat and were classed as doubtful starters. Wiffy Cox, of Brooklyn, said he would not start tomorrow unless it became cooler, but no one took him seriously despite his vehement statement that he meant what he said.

No letup in the heat spell was looked for however.

Mackmen Win in 8th on Hits by Miller and Williams.

CLEVELAND, July 1 (A.P.).—In a game featured by the first opposition against each other of Lefty Grove and Wesley Ferrell, the Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Indians, 4 to 3, here today.

Both teams collected eleven hits, including eight doubles and Cochrane's homer.

The Athletics got their winning run in the eighth inning on Miller's double, a walk, and Williams' single.

Grove turned in his fifteenth victory of the year and now leads by several games in the number of pitching triumphs. He held the Indians in check in the pinches, although like

World Fliers Greeted by Stribling

Presented With Seats to Title Battle Tomorrow.

Georgian May Rule 2-1 Favorite; Boxers in Last Workouts.

By E. J. NEIL.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 1 (A.P.). Not even the arrival of the round-the-world fliers and all the excitement and hubbub that came to town with them could crowd into the background today the two young heavyweight prize fighters who will headline another Cleveland pageant Friday night.

In the front ranks of the thousands who jammed the Municipal Airport as Wiley Post and Harold Gatty drifted down out of the sky on the last lap of their globe-girdling dash was Bill Stribling, challenger for Max Schmeling's heavyweight title, and himself an aviator of unusual ability. Stribling was there to have a good look at the good ship Winnie Mae, to help with the reception and to present Post and Gatty with a pair of ringside seats for the fistic doings in the new municipal stadium the night before the Fourth. Although the fliers were soon on their waya again to New York there was a faint possibility that they might use the tickets.

Fighters Stage Last Drills.

Stribling went back to his training camp at Geauga Lake for a final workout tonight, and a mild boxing drill that was designed to keep his muscles loose and his judgment of distance at the peak. Schmeling worked for the last time today at Conneaut Lake, almost 100 miles from Cleveland, and he was careful not to suffer last minute injury in his light boxing workout. As the gladiators finished their training grind, interest in the fight throughout the city was evidenced.

Hotels were filling rapidly and with

In the Wake Of the Game

Special to The Washington Post.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 1.—Washington's final game in the West is scheduled here tomorrow with the Nationals again battling the Browns. Manager Walter Johnson has decided to start Bobby Burke on the hill, his plans calling for the use of Lloyd Brown and "Sad Sam"

Game Stopped After 2 Walks, Kress' Single Breaks Tie.

Five Successive Hits Drive Marberry Out in Third.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Post Staff Correspondent).

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 1.—Wildness on the part of Relief Pitcher Irving Hadley, who walked two batters after two were out in the seventh, Kress' single, which scored one of these runners, and Umpire Dick Nallin's imagination, which made him think that rain, which started at the beginning of the Browns' turn at the tee, was pouring harder after St. Louis had scored than before, combined to beat the Nationals here this afternoon.

The score of the seven-inning contest was 4 to 3 and the loss, plus a Philadelphia victory in Cleveland, dropped the Nationals four and one-half games behind the leaders.

There was much protesting by Hadley and Manager Johnson before Nallin finally halted play. The pitcher's uniform was wet from perspiration, the resin bag was water-soaked and it was most difficult to handle the ball. But Nallin declined to call a respite until after the Browns scored what proved to be the winning run. Then the umpire did his stuff, although it was raining no harder then than it had been soon after the inning started. This late decision, of course, robbed the Nationals of a chance to overtake the enemy.

Marberry Pounded In Third.

Fred Marberry and Sammy Gray were the starting pitchers But the former, after doing well for two frames, suddenly lost his effectiveness and five hits in a row followed. Hadley did well to stop this advance, which tied the score at three all, but he was charged with the defeat when he granted Kress his single after

Robins Defeat Reds, 3-1; Shaute Shades Carroll

Brooklyn, July 1 (A.P.).—The Brooklyn Robins again took the lead in their series with the Cincinnati Reds, winning today's encounter, 3 to 1. The Reds outhit the Robins 10 to 8 but Joe Shaute was tight in the pinches while Babe Herman got the victors away to a flying start with a home run in the first inning with a teammate on base. Owen Carroll went the route for the Reds.

Bill Schmeling Tells Fans Time Will Tell Who'll Win Stellar Classic for Title

By W. L. (YOUNG) SCHMELING (PER WESTBROOK PEGLER).

CONNEAUT LAKE PARK, Pa., July 1.—Who will win the great stellar pugilistic classic for the world's highest bauble in the diadem of the fistic sports?"

That is the question that countless members of the red-blooded element of fistic fans in all parts of the world are asking one another just now and I can truthfully say, without trying to evade the issue: "Fans, time will tell." I do not use profanity in any ways, shape or form, but in all seriousness, I can only say that the answer is sitting on the lap of the g—s, but one thing I can fearlessly assure every man, woman and child with a drop of sporting blood coursing through their veins, and that is that he or she, respectively, can rest assured that I am going in there to fight to the last ditch and I believe I am superior enough over my opponent in all respects, considering the proposition from every angle, to gloriously uphold the great fighting traditions and heritage which it is my privilege and honor to try to make myself in every way a worthy successor to those historic heroes of the boyhood of the world such as John L. Sullivan, Jack Johnson and Gene Tunney.

Well, Fans, It Won't Be Long Now.

I don't know how many times I have been asked by enthusiastic sport lovers of the hempen square to give them an outline of my plans, but I always have jokingly replied that "it won't be long now," meaning that they will have to wait until we get into the ring to see what the future has in store in the way of surprises. I have been reading some interesting newspaper articles written by my opponent with regard to a secret punch that he has been practicing under the privacy of darkness in his training camp with the gates barred against my spies, but aside from the absurd falsehood of my resorting to such unsportsmanlike means as spies to sulk around an opponent's quarters, I might drop a hint that I will be the one who will have a surprise in store for my followers Friday night.

It makes an interesting story that may be of interest to the fans the way I happened to discover my new mysterious punch which I have perfected to a high degree of perfection in my secret workouts without anybody knowing that I was doing any work except what the public witnessed in the ring at my camp. But, I can tell you this much that I learned it from an old Japanese wrestler who was running a bowling game for little prizes such as salt cellars and kewpie doll lampshades in an amusement park and turned out to be an old member of the Japanese imperial wrestling corps who used to wrestle for the kings and counts of Apple Blossom Empire when he was a young man.

Without giving the secret away I think I can let the fans know that this punch has an effect on a certain nerve so that when a person is hit with it they immediately have to lie down unable to get up although

PAIR BY PAIR, LONG SHOT, WINS $20,000 ARLINGTON RACE

Outsider Pays $40.16 in Victory

Beats Out The Bull in Stretch Run After Following Pace.

Agincourt Wins Over Small Field of Latonia Sprinters.

CHICAGO, July 1 (A.P.).—Mrs. John D. Hertz's chestnut colt, Pair by Pair, today shoved himself into the ranks of the leading 2-year-olds of the season by a thrilling and unexpected neck victory in the $10,000 Hyde Park Stakes at Arlington Park.

In spite of a victory in the opening race of the Arlington season last Monday, the Hertz colt did not get much of a play in the parimutuel wagering and paid the flat price of $40.16 to win.

The race, at 5½ furlongs, finished in a stretch battle between Pair by Pair and Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney's The Bull, another chestnut colt. Pair by Pair just got the decision, with William Ziegler's Phantom Legion third, close up. Two of the best 2-year-olds in training, W. R. Coe's Osculator and A. Pelleteri's Proteus, both met with misfortune.

17 Starters Seek $24,750 Purse.

The third renewal of the 2-year-old feature had a huge field of seventeen starters and a gross value of $24,750. Pair by Pair enriched his owner to the extent of $20,675, with $3,000 going to the Whitney Stable, $2,000 to Phantom Legion and $500 to S. W. Labrot's expensive colt, Mexico.

The early pace was set by Brave and Bold, which gave way to Anubis after a sixteenth of a mile. At the turn Pair by Pair and The Bull moved up and as they went into the stretch the yellow silks of the Hertz Stable were on top. It was a tussle from there on in.

Proteus, one of the favorites, was cut down early in the race and limped in a bad last. It was feared he was seriously injured. Osculator, just in from sensational showings in the East, stumbled during the first eighth and almost fell.

Pair by Pair ran the 5½ furlongs in 1:06, a second slower than the track record.

—Arlington Park Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

ARLINGTON PARK, Chicago, July 1.—A double feature will be offered the patrons of Arlington Park this afternoon with the Wabash Purse, an overnight event for three-year-olds and upward at one mile and the Wisconsin claiming Handicap, at the mile and an eighth, as the outstanding events on the diversified program.

Another allowance affair for two-year-olds, a test over the five and a half furlong distance, will support the twin feature. A five-furlong dash for maiden juvenile fillies, and three claiming events will round out the card.

In the mile of the Wabash, fifth on the program, seven have been named to contest the $2,000 purse, SISTER ZOE has shown improvement in recent efforts and is favored to lead her six rivals to the wire. The Four Oaks Farm's mare stepped this distance in 1:38 1-5 in her last winning effort. Mrs. Katherine E. Hitt's HOT TODDY was beaten a head by Galahad on opening day and figures close up. G. W. Foreman's NED O, clever sprinter, turned in a splendid effort in the Inaugural Handicap, and will contest the issue with the top two.

A select list of five routers was received in the mile and an eighth of the Wisconsin claiming handicap to be run as sixth. LAHOR, from the Jones Stock Farm Stable, closed strongly last start to be beaten a head at one mile. In the nine furlongs, the Luculite colt figures to score. SUITOD, which defeated the top selection in their last meeting is picking up six pounds and at the added distance may gain the place. AMYVALE has raced consistently of late and must be conceded a chance.

FIRST RACE—WHITE FLYER appears best for the first race. This clever youngster has worked exceptionally fast in morning trials and is ready to graduate. DARTER has also turned in some workouts and should furnish the opposition. FRENCH HONEY has disappointed in her last two starts but should hold the others safe for the show award.

SECOND RACE—ALBAZANO was beaten a nose at nine furlongs last start after setting all the pace. At the shorter route, the Nevada Stock Farm's color-bearer rates the call. TRAUMEL defeated a fair group in her last and should finish in the runner-up position. ANN CLAY is dropping down here and may prove dangerous.

THIRD RACE—VISHNU suffered interference in his recent effort, but is capable of showing the way to this field, with better racing luck. HIGHER, from the Audley Farm, showed a good effort the other day to finish third and he should show improvement off that effort. AMERICANA arrived fit from Belmont Park, where he ran with fair success.

FOURTH RACE—KNIGHT COMMANDER, consistent Whiskaway gelding in the Peconia stable, scored impressively last start, and appears best of the five named to oppose him in the six furlongs of the fourth. CHEERS was an easy winner of his last and looks as the contender. FLAG TIME will have WAYNE to beat for the show.

SEVENTH RACE—Twenty of the cheapest grade of platers will perform in the one mile of the concluding number. ST. AGNES has trained briskly and should annex the purse. Chief opposition will come from SAN CLEMENTE, with ENGLEWOOD as the threat for the minor award.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—COLONIAL BELLE, $18.02, $13.30, $8.18; MINTON, $6.42, $4.60; BLACK JEWEL, $14.06.

COLONIAL BELLE, never far from the pace, caught MINTOR tiring in the stretch and drew out to an easy win in the last sixteenth. MINTON displayed the most early speed and, although tiring, was good enough to hold BLACK JEWEL. Latter was well up throughout. IRISH SPREE raced evenly. NIGHT VINTAGE never threatened the leaders. TRUE PLAY and ZINA met with some early interference.

SECOND RACE—About two miles. Purse, $2,000. Long Meadow Steeplechase. For maiden 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:46. Off at 2:46. Winner, Mrs. F. Ambrose Clarke's b. c. (4), by Peter Pan—Strickling. Trained by James Healy. Value to winner, $1,400; second, $350; third, $175; fourth, $75. Time, 4:08 3-5 (13 jumps).

Two-dollar mutuels paid—CAPTAIN HOOK, $3.60, $2.70, $2.22; QUEEN'S PAL, $6.56; $3.44; TOD SLOAN, $2.52.

CAPTAIN HOOK, well ridden, was always within striking distance of the leaders and came again in after being headed by QUEEN'S PAL over the last jump to get to the front and score in a driving finish. QUEEN'S PAL moved up strongly approaching the final fence and took a short lead after clearing the obstacle, but could not last. TOD SLOAN weakened in the last half mile. MADRIGANNAH lacked speed, but cleared the fences fairly well. PROOP POSITIVE was automatically disqualified when she ran off of the course while racing in front approaching the sixth jump. She continued to lead until after the eighth jump, where she began to tire and lost her rider at the last hurdle. SWIVELLER lost his rider at the ninth jump.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:17. Off at 3:20½. Winner, Miss C. A. Muldoon's ch. h. (5), by High Time—Salubria. Trained by H. D. Sells. Value to winner, $1,100; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:22 4-5, 0:46 3-5, 1:12 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—COPPERFIELD, $12.20, $4.76, $4.72; OUTER HARBOR, $12.16, $7.68; GRAND PRINCE, $10.58.

COPPERFIELD was in the first flight from the start and, racing well in the final stages, held OUTER HARBOR in a driving finish. OUTER HARBOR went to the outside at the stretch turn to close fast. GRAND PRINCE was a forward factor throughout. JESSIE CAREY made up ground and was going well at the finish. GREY KITTY was squeezed out of contention rounding the stretch turn. GOLD BET and FOX BOLT were in close quarters early and had little chance. TIMOUR met with interference at stretch turn. FIALA stopped badly after setting the pace.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,600; allowances. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:47. Off at 3:48½. Winner, Mrs. F. Ambrose Clarke's ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—NEVERFADE, $3.86, $2.42, $2.18; BEST MAN, $2.70, $2.30; KARL EITEL, $2.66.

NEVERFADE raced close to BEST MAN, the pacemaker, in the early stages and, coming strongly near the end, got to the front in the last twenty yards and was going away at the finish. BEST MAN cut out a good pace and, saving ground, raced well to the end, but could not resist the winner. KARL EITEL came gamely to beat the tiring PEGG'S PRIDE. DE SWASEY saved ground throughout. SPINACH raced very wide around the stretch turn.

FIFTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $10,000 added. Hyde Park Stakes. For 2-year-old colts and geldings. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Winner, Mrs. John D. Hertz's ch. c. DISTRICT NET TOURNEY IS DEVOID OF FOREIGN THREAT

Play to Start July 4 on 3 Courts

Army Stars Unable to Enter Tourney on Public Courts.

Mitchell and Yeomans Menace Title of Considine.

THE forty-fourth annual District of Columbia tennis championship, to open July 4 on three sets of public courts, will follow the custom of recent years and be dominated by resident players, although there were no restrictions placed upon participation of netmen outside the pale of the city limits.

This was assured yesterday when two of the most sought-after probable contenders, Dolf Muehleisen and Lieut. S. K. Robinson, Army champion, announced that they had entered a New Jersey tournament whose date conflicts with the running of the District event. Nor has any direct word been heard from Ted Easton, Stanford star, whose entry was expected by the committee in charge.

Mitchell, Yeomans Threaten Title.

Two local youths who never before have won the tradition-ridden title stand preeminent among the positive contenders. Dooly Mitchell, present City of Washington champion, and Eddie Yeomans, most of whose play this year has been in collegiate competition, appear fated to reach the final round, if they can muster the form they have produced in earlier playing this year.

The two have met three times in tournament competition. Mitchell won the local public parks championship last year by defeating Yeomans in five sets. Yeomans reversed that decision at Hot Springs in the Virginia State championship, winning over Mitchell in straight sets. At Morgantown last August Mitchell again won over Yeomans, this time in two straight sets.

Both have improved their games measurably over last year. Yeomans, particularly, has gone forward, and some of his "almost" victories have included such Davis Cup stars as Frank Shields, Wilmer Allison and Dr. Wright.

These two aces will be pressed to the limit by a covey of local players headed by Bob Considine, present holder of the title; Tom Mangan, Clarence Charest, Frank Shore, Commander Gill and Bob Elliott.

Entries for the tournament close tonight at 6 o'clock with John Ladd, secretary-treasurer of the Washington Tennis Association, 4422 Lowell street northwest. During the day entries may be made at the Tennis Shop, 1019 Fifteenth street; Spalding's, the public courts ticket booths, or with the various chairmen of tennis committees at the several clubs.

In the Wake Of the Game

Jones in the Saturday holiday double header against the Yankees in New York, and for Fred Marberry to face the Mackmen in the opener of this important set at Griffith Stadium next Sunday afternoon.

Walter Stewart will pitch for the Browns tomorrow. This little southpaw, for several seasons an enigma to the Nats, has been treated rather badly by them this year. He injured one of the fingers on his throwing hand his last time out, but says he is ready now and has asked Manager Bill Kelliher for this chance to get back at the Nationals.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

IF AN elephant could jump as far in comparison to his weight as a flea can, he could make a leap of 32 miles. A common flea is capable of jumping a hundred times as high as his own head. A man, if he could jump proportionately, would be able to leap over the Washington Monument with approximately 75 feet to spare.

Instead of preparing for a rainy day in times of fair weather, the African bushman reverses the order of things and prepares for fair weather during the rainy season. These natives prepare for the dry season by filling ostrich eggs with water, sealing the eggs with grass. The eggs are then carefully stored away for use in the drought season.

RAIN AIDS BROWNS TO WIN OVER NATS

putting two men on the runways via the four ball route in the seventh.

Harry Rice with a triple and single led the Washington attack, with Ossie Bluege credited with two one-basers. The other three Nat hits were a triple by Joe Kuhel and singles by Spencer and Hadley. Fred Schulte was the only Brownie to hit safely more than once, a brace of one shots falling to his lot. Heinie Manush, Charlie Bettencourt and Oscar Melillo each contributed a fielding gem.

The Nats started as if they would do dire things to the Browns, running up a three-run lead in the first three rounds, but Marberry, who had pitched hitless ball for two frames, suddenly found himself in trouble in the home third, when the Browns tied the score before a single man had been retired.

This brought Hadley into action and he pulled out of the hole in fine style.

Kuhel's Triple Drives in Run.

A hit by Harry Rice was wasted in the first, but the Nats used their second to mold two runs. With one gone, Bluege singled to center and Kuhel tripled him home, registering himself when Melillo momentarily fumbled Schulte's return peg. In the third, Harry Rice tripled and he registered after Bettencourt's hit-robbing catch of Manush's liner to right center.

A useless walk had been all Marberry had granted the Browns in the first two frames, but he was hit hard and often in the third. Levey opened with a scratch safety to Bluege and Gray's one-base liner and Schulte's bounder off Marberry's glove filled the bases. Melillo singled two home and Goslin scored another with a double. Here Hadley appeared on the scene and he stopped the rally. After fanning Kress, he filled the bases by walking Ferrell, but then held Bettencourt and Burns to infield pops.

Hadley and Gray then staged quite a duel until the seventh, when the Nationals made threatening gestures. Bluege opened this round with a single and, after Kuhel had popped out, Spencer singled him to third. Gray then fanned Hadley and forced Myer to hit into a force play.

With one out in the home half of the "lucky" frame, Schulte singled, this being the first hit charged to Hadley. He died stealing, but the Nat pitcher then cut loose with a series of wild heaves which walked both Melillo and Goslin. Kress then worked the count to three and two, forcing Hadley to groove one, the result being a single to left, which scored Melillo and sent Goslin to third. With Ferrell coming up, Umpire Nallin imagined that the rain, which had started at the beginning of the lower half of the round, was falling too hard for baseball and hostilities were halted.

After the usual half-hour delay an effort was made to get the field in playing condition, but the ground keeper's work did not suit and final calling off of play followed.

THIS MORNING:

key's ambition appeared to desert him. He could outbox Dempsey and step around him like a terrier around a hippo, but he didn't go back to the attack with the same fury that marked his first round success. He let Dempsey take the play away from him with a relentless attack on the region of the stomach.

Seven rounds passed and Sharkey was still far ahead on points as the old Mauler, his legs just so much excess weight, still bored in, never varying the range of his punches to the midsection. Sharkey showed no sign of distress, but he did want to register a complaint about punches that were falling low. When he turned his head to implore the referee to do something about it, it was literally the turning point of the fight.

Sharkey's jaw was exposed just for an instant. It was sufficient. Dempsey's deadly left streak upward from the vicinity of his shoulder and traveled no more than eight inches until it collided with the unprotected chin. Fulton, Willard, Brennan and Firpo can testify eloquently as to the message that Dempsey's left jolt carries. Sharkey buckled, his knees struck the floor first, and he fell forward like a rajah's manservant in obeisance. The tencount was just a formality and Dempsey had stolen the fight. So much for that one.

Against Stribling

The next season Sharkey met Stribling in Miami in the first of the great battles of the palms. A decisive win would salvage most of his prestige, but he allowed Stribling to wrestle him, allowed the Georgian to make it a peculiarly Stribling tugging match and was content to get away with the decision on points. Sharkey was the winner, but by no means an impressive one. Another chance gone under the bridge.

The Schmeling fight was last June. The fistic powers agreed that the winner was to be recognized as the champion. Sharkey exploded the Schmeling myth. He gave the German an artistic lacing for four rounds. He was on the threshold of a knockout win. And with 20 seconds of the fourth round remaining he was seized with one of his mental panics. With no need to hit low, he sank a punch to Schmeling's groin. And lost the fight on a foul. And tomorrow night he'll be on the outside looking in at a couple of fighters that he could lick with consummate ease. But, somehow, I can't sympathize.

WORLD FLIERS GIVEN TICKETS BY STRIBLING

the arrival of the main contingents of the faithful tomorrow and Friday from New York, Chicago and the South, fiving quarters will be at a premium.

Unless the showers the weather man has promised as relief from the killing heat wave of the past week set in tomorrow, it seemed tonight as though the gate receipts would reach a point somewhere between $400,000 and $500,000, providing the championship purse of about $200,000; Stribling about $50,000 and the Madison Square Garden of Ohio a neat profit on the affair. The ticket sale picked up steadily today, and continued fair weather may boost the receipts to the half million mark. The promoters announced today that rain must fall in torrents Friday night to force a postponement.

Weigh In Before Microphone.

Both Stribling and Schmeling will break camp tomorrow and take up quarters in Cleveland to wait for the battle, scheduled to start at 10 p. m. (E. S. T.). They will weigh in tomorrow night before the microphones of sation WTAM at 9:30 o'clock. The bout itself will be broadcast over the same staion and the NBC network with Graham McNamee and Floyd Gibbons as announcers.

With the referee question settled and George Blake, named as arbitrater by the Cleveland Boxing Commission Monday, hustling across country from his home in Los Angeles in order to reach here tomorrow, another mild controversy was stirred up by Stribling's flight yesterday over Schmeling's training camp. Schmeling refused to be impressed by the Southerner's brazen flight over his camps but he was worked up by the "foolishness" that jeopardized his 40 per cent share in perhaps $500,000. Stribling wanted Schmeling to know that it was none of the German's business what he did with his spare time. Meanwhile the Garden set two guards to trailing Willie to prevent repetition of the stunt.

Laurel Arena Fights Postponed by Shower

The Hunt-Corri fight scheduled for last night at the Laurel Arena was postponed until Friday night by General Manager Angy Gerrin of the Midcity Boxing Club following late afternoon thundershowers.

Gerrin late yesterday received the sanction of the Maryland Boxing Commission to delay the fight two days. Hunt and Corri will remain in Washington where they have been in training for the past two days.

The show was to have dedicated the new fight stadium. Gerrin announced that with one exception, the supporting card to the Hunt-Corri feature would remain the same.

they are not in pain and do not lose consciousness, thus removing the element of brutality from the sport which reformers have emphasized in many harmful and misguided onslaughts against the game.

My Punch Floors Foe For 10 Seconds.

Old Pung Foo, or Fooey, as I affectionately named him, used to sit by the hours telling me about his great bouts in the ring for the entertainment of the King of Japan, who would sit on a cushion with his geisha girls dancing the yoshawari and watching the members of the imperial wrestling corps wrestle. But old Fooey fell in love with one of the geisha girls and one night one of the king's spies caught them stealing out to innocently take a stroll in the moonlight beneath the scent of the apple blossoms with the honorable intention of making her his bride and the alarm was sounded, chasing old Fooey out of the flowery kingdom.

"And the geisha girl?" I would say to old Fooey.

"Geisha girl die," Fooey would murmur, wiping away a tear. "Break old Fooey's heart. Old Fooey, he bane come United States, after long time get see letter say zese, what you call very pretty geisha girl, allee samee die.

"But come, it is all in life and we must take the bitter with the sweet." Old Fooey would exclaim, suddenly putting all thoughts of sadness and the stark tragedy, which stalked his life, out of his mind. "We must get to our lesson, because it is getting late and the great spirit will be angry with Old Fooey if he does not make you allee samee champion of the world with secret punch."

Then Fooey would tap me on this nerve, the location of which I am naturally unlikely to prematurely reveal, although I wouldn't mind the fans knowing it if it were not for the anger of my opponent stumbling on the guard for it. Many times I found myself suddenly thrown absolutely prone in the twinkling of an eye and although I knew what was going on and was not in any pain whatsoever, I could not get up from my prostrate position for ten seconds. Finally, I learned to use it myself and Fooey used to let me knock him prostrate

FAIRFAX VOTE 3 TO 2 FOR TRAFFIC SURVEY

Turner, Leigh and Buckley Approve Cooperative $1,000 Study.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 243, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 166.

Fairfax County Board of Supervisors at its regular monthly meeting yesterday voted to join in the traffic survey proposed by the National Capital Park and Planning Commission. Signing of the contract entails expenditure of $1,000. Voting for the measure were Mark Turner, of Dranesville; Harry Leigh, of Providence, and B. W. Buckley, of Centerville.

The measure was bitterly opposed by Chairman W. F. P. Reid, of Mount Vernon, and Kyle Davis, of Lee, who stated they were not convinced such a survey would be of benefit to the county, and that this item was not included in the last county budget. They declared that due to the drought last year citizens of the county were hard pressed to pay their taxes and that the delinquent list would be larger than ever before, thereby causing a decrease in estimated county funds.

Fairfax County will be the last to sign the contract for the traffic survey, which is to be conducted by the National Capital Park and Planning Commission next year in the metropolitan area surrounding Washington. George A. Ricker, of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, appeared before the board urging the county's approval and cooperation in this survey, and admitted, under cross-questioning of Commonwealth's Attorney Wilson M. Farr that the District of Columbia would contribute nothing directly in making the survey.

Farr also informed the board that it could not legally pay the money to the Federal Government or any of its bureaus, that the county warrants must be drawn directly to the persons doing the actual work.

Dr. A. L. Carson, county health director, in reporting the work of the health department, stated that two cases of typhus fever had been found in the county, one at Vienna and the other at Mount Vernon. He also stated that following a drought typhoid fever always increases and that health authorities are making a systematic tour of inspection throughout the county, visiting every home to see that State and county health regulations are observed.

Open sewers had been found at many homes and owners were warned to have the condition corrected immediately. He stated that he repeats his warning against bathing in the Potomac River or any of its tributaries, as tests by the State health department had shown the streams highly polluted. At the suggestion of the board he plans to erect warning signs at all popular "swimming holes" and places along the river in the county.

Resolution addressed to the Virginia Public Service Co. was adopted calling the company's attention to the fact that service by it in various sections of the county was inadequate to supply the large number of consumers. The board requested the company to improve its service.

Supervisors passed a resolution recommending appointment of Mrs. Eleanor Aud of Herndon as superintendent of Public Welfare in the county. The recommendation was addressed to the county Welfare Board. It said that in filling vacancies for county positions local citizens should be given preference.

Members were informed that the State chairman of public welfare departments had been unable to find any one meeting the State's requirements for this position at the salary paid by the county and that he contemplated withholding his recommendation for two months allowing the salary to accumulate so the county would be able to pay the State's scale for the balance of the year.

A delegation appeared before the board urging abolishment of the toll road from Langley to Great Falls which is now owned by a private company. Directors of the company have expressed themselves as willing to have the road included in the county, State or Federal system provided stock and bond holders would be compensated. This is the only toll road in the State.

Representatives of the company were informed that the county could not repay the stock and bond holders and could only take over the road if the company surrendered its character. It was stated that to have this road taken into the State system would require a special act of the legislature. A resolution was adopted addressed to the State highway commission asking it to consider taking the road over.

The board voted to protest closing of the Springfield railway station, as proposed by the railroad company. A letter from the Southern Railway stated that because of the depression it had no funds with which to install a safety signal on the county road near Burke as requested by the board, but was willing to transfer the signal from the station at Burke to this point. The board voted to insist on both signals, and stated that otherwise it would file a protest with the State Corporation Commission.

Supervisors Reid and Leigh were appointed to cooperate with the town of Falls Church upon receipt of a request from the town council in regard to the cut off from the Lee boulevard to the Lee highway. A petition was exhibited signed by residents of Falls Church and vicinity protesting the proposed route, decided upon by the State Highway Commission last week, and suggesting that Broad street and Fairfax street be considered by the commission instead.

Home Demonstration Club at Annandale will hold an allday meeting today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mason Hirst, at Annandale. In the morning L. C. Beamer, vegetable garden specialist from the State Department of Agriculture at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, will give a talk on vegetable and flower gardening and the storage of winter vegetables. Members will inspect the county demonstration club garden, grown by Mr. and Mrs. Hirst, and will hold a community flower and vegetable show.

Luncheon will be served by Mrs. Hirst and Mrs. Joseph Mettauer. In the afternoon Mrs. D. F. Hanna will give a demonstration on the care of woodwork and the making of floor wax.

Women's Missionary Society of the Southern Methodist Church at Falls Church will meet today at the home of Mrs. George Reeves. Preceeding the business meeting a luncheon will be served. Mrs. Munson Lane and Miss Minnie Myers acting as assistant hostesses.

Ladies' Aid Society of the Southern Methodist Church at Chesterbrook will meet this afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. D. Warfield in Franklin Park.

A branch of the Annandale and Lee Jackson Four-H Clubs has been established in Lincolnia by Miss Sara E. Thomas, Fairfax County home demonstration agent, to take care of members of the two clubs who live in that vicinity. Anna Kraemer, Jean Lewis and Clara Ernest have been appointed junior leaders of the club.

Fireman Is Held In Probe of Crash

Douglas LemmonsDetained After Woman Loses Arm in Car Accident.

Douglas Lemmons, 32-year-old Washington fireman, was held in Bladensburg Jail yesterday in connection with the serious injury of Mrs. Loretta Seitz, Park road, near Thirteenth street northwest, late Tuesday night, when the auto in which she was a passenger overturned after colliding with another car near Largo, Md.

The woman is in a serious condition at Casualty Hospital, with one arm amputated, her shoulder badly crushed and possible internal injuries. Riding with her were her three children, James, 9; Charlotte, 11, and Margaret, 13. The other car is said to have sped away.

Lemmons' wife and child were killed in a train crash at Landover, Md., two years ago.

RUSSIAN PULPWOOD ORDERED ADMITTED

Lowman Makes Decision on Lack of Evidence Convict Labor Was Used.

(Associated Press.)

In the absence of evidence that it was produced by convict labor, a cargo of Russian pulpwood yesterday was ordered admitted to the United States.

The decision was rendered by Assistant Secretary Lowman of the Treasury after M. S. Makodzub, vice president of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, the official Russian commercial organization, had emphatically denied that forced labor was involved.

To the best of his belief, he said, no convict labor is used in any section of the Russian forests. Nevertheless exports of pulpwood and lumber have been reduced 75 and 50 per cent, respectively, he added, by Treasury regulations forbidding the entry of such commodities if produced in whole or part by forced labor.

Under the regulations all pulpwood and lumber from the northern section of Russia is banned unless the importer and shipper can show that convicts had not engaged in its production.

Makodzub testified that rather than appear to be seeking to bring lumber and pulpwood into the country in conflict with the Treasury regulations, Amtorg had agreed with the International Paper Company consignee of the shipment in question, to reduce its contract for pulpwood from 68,000,000 cords this year to 40,000,000.

The Amtorg official presented affidavits from Russian officers deposing that convict labor had not been used in production of the cargo involved. He said Russian pulpwood sold for 15 to 20 per cent more in this country than the domestic product and that Russian lumber brought a price of 35 per cent higher than domestic lumber.

M. J. Flynn, of the American Federation of Labor, and C. W. Bahr, of the National Lumber Manufacturers Association, urged the lumber be excluded. Bahr insisted convict labor was used in the Russian forests.

State Contends Jealousy Led Wife to Kill Mate

Cumberland, Md., July 1 (A.P.).—Jealousy was advanced today by the State as the motive for the poisoning of her husband by Mrs. Rose Felda, 50, on trial here for murder. Mrs. Felda testified she placed poison in a bottle of liquor which caused Felda's death, February 8, but asserted she meant to kill herself and not her husband.

Sheriff H. H. Harting, of Garrett County, testified the woman several times had voiced suspicions of her husband's fidelity. Mrs. Carrie Harvey, 45, was granted a separate trial on a charge of being accessory to murder.

Judge Turnbull to Sit In Chatham Bank Case

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., July 1.—Judge N. S. Turnbull, of Lunenberg County, has been designated by Gov. Pollard to convene the Pittsylvania circuit court tomorrow to hear a petition from a majority of the Chatham Savings Bank, which closed its doors some months ago in which a plan of reorganization is set forth.

Judge Turner Clement, who ordinarily presides at the county court, is a stockholder in the bank and recently expressed a belief that it was improper for him to pass on the petition.

Alleged Attacker Sought in Fairfax

Attempted Assault Laid to Fugitive Whom County Officers Seek.

Fairfax County authorities are searching for a colored man of Clifton Station, Va., on a warrant charging an attempt to commit a criminal assault on Mrs. Madge Perkins, mother of two small children, living near Clifton.

The alleged attempt is said to have taken place Sunday afternoon. According to the story told the police by Mrs. Perkins and her husband, she was alone in her home when she observed Bowles coming up the road, apparently in a drunken condition. She locked the door. When he knocked she told him to leave and on finding her alone he broke through a window. She screamed.

Her husband, working in the woods nearby, heard her screams and, running to the house, discovered the door locked and broke it down. As he entered the kitchen the colored man jumped through a window and fled.

Aviation Signs Urged For Virginia Towns

Richmond, Va., July 1 (A.P.).—In an effort to increase Virginia's rank among the States of the Nation in aviation, Maj. LeRoy Hodges, managing director of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce, today wrote to the mayors of virtually every city and town in the State asking them to mark their communities with signs that may be seen from the air.

Maj. Hodges said that one of the most outstanding needs in the development of aviation in Virginia revealed during the second Virginia Air Tour, April 29-May 2, was better airway marking throughout the State.

Washington, Wednesday, July 1.—8 p. m. Forecast—For the District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia, generally fair and continued warm, except scattered afternoon thunderstorms Thursday and Friday; gentle variable winds.

The temperature is still abnormally high almost generally over the eastern half of the United States, except in New England, and it has risen in the plateau and Rocky Mountain regions, but the weather has become cooler from Minnesota and northern Wisconsin southwestward to the Texas Panhandle. Maximum of 100 degrees or slightly higher were registered this afternoon at Baltimore, Md., Harrisburg, Pa., and Parkersburg, W. Va., and at several stations from Michigan southwestward to Arkansas, the highest in this area being 104 degrees at St. Louis, Mo.

The disturbance that was central over Saskatchewan Tuesday night has moved slowly eastward to Manitoba. The Pas, 29.60 inches, is pressure is relatively low from the plains States eastward to the Atlantic Coast. Delaware Breakwater, 29.74 inches, Ottawa, Ont., 29.72 inches, and Wichita, Kans., 29.78 inches. High pressure prevails from Alaska eastward to northern Hudson Bay, Point Barrow, 30.26 inches, and from the north Pacific Coast eastward to Montana and Alberta, to North Head, Wash., 30.20 inches, and over the ocean east and southeast of Newfoundland, S. S. American Merchant, 30.42 inches. There have been rather general showers from Minnesota and northern Michigan southwestward to the eastern portinos of Colorado and New Mexico, and scattered thundershowers in Maryland, northern Virginia, and the lower Mississippi Valley. Elsewhere the weather has remained fair.

The weather will be generally fair except for widely scattered afternoon thundershowers Thursday, and in the Atlantic States Friday, but rather general thunderstorms are indicated Friday as far east as the Appalachian region. Temperature changes will be unimportant, except that the weather will become cooler Friday afternoon and night in Tennessee, the Ohio Valley, and the lower lake region.

$40,000,000 BLAST CLAIMS APPEALED

New Evidence Links Agents of Germany in Black Tom, Kingsland Explosions.

By J. B. McDONNELL.

Forty millions of dollars in claims against Germany for damage done by her agents in the notorious Black Tom and Kingsland explosions, back in the World War days, will depend on the success of an appeal filed yesterday by H. H. Martin, counsel for the United States, with the German-American Mixed Claims Commission.

The commission, following a final hearing held in Europe, disapproved the claims for damages, on the grounds that it had not been shown that the explosions were indisputably the work of authorized sabotage agents of Kaiser Wilhelm's government.

Mr. Martin yesterday appealed from that decision and asked the commission for a rehearing of the case, submitting additional evidence which shows definitely the connection of various persons, whose identity was disputed in the past, with the espionage and sabotage system of Germany.

Questions to Be Decided.

The first question to be decided by the commission as a result of the appeal for a rehearing is whether the commission has authority to reopen a case which it has once disposed of. The second question to be decided is whether the additional evidence submitted by Mr. Martin justifies reopening the case, assuming the commission has authority to reopen it. The third question is what will be the decision on the basis of new evidence if the case is feheard.

The new evidence submitted in the brief filed by Mr. Martin, in the name of Robert W. Bonynge, agent for the United States, represents the culmination of years of super-detective work, uncovering plot and counter-plot and suspicions, unusual cautiousness, in sharp contrast with stupidity exemplified in the writing of letters.

The new evidence laid before the international commission by Mr. Martin in his appeal for a rehearing includes letters and code messages which show definitely that persons familiar with, and confessing among themselves to have had a hand in the disastrous explosions, actually were full agents of the German government.

Letters In Evidence

Theodore Wozniak, a Ukrainian, at whose work bench the fire started which caused the Kingsland disaster, is linked to the German espionage and sabotage system in the new evidence presented by Mr. Martin. The new evidence consists of letters written by Wozniak from Mexico to a friend in the United States. He was in the company of Germans who forbade him to write, and promised him more money, Wozniak wrote.

Other new evidence includes messages identifying Fred Hermann as a German agent having a hand in the explosions. The messages were written in lemon juice lengthwise across the pages of a copy of a cheap magazine, and they linked the German foreign office and the German Ambassador in Mexico with the wide-flung destruction plot. How important the message in the cheap magazine was considered might be gleaned from the fact that the magazine was carried from Mexico to Baltimore for delivery to another German agent there, rather than trust it to the mail or other mode of transmission.

What will be the outcome of the appeal is problematical. A decision on the first question involved probably will not be reached for more than three weeks. It is no secret that American officials connected with the case were keenly disappointed in the previous decision of the commission, and felt that it had been made only because Roland W. Boyden, American umpire of the commission, desired to make clear to Germany that no decision of his would be unfair to the defeated nation. If the case is reopened, as American representatives are confident it will be, they are as confident that this time a decision will be won for the American claimants.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

WATER SUPPLY SAFE IN PRINCE GEORGES

Sanitary Commission Says No Restrictions Are to Be Made.

Although the daily consumption of water in the Prince Georges suburban area has increased about 75 per cent due to the hot weather of the last few days, there is ample water and no restrictions on its use will be made, officials of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission said yesterday.

The normal amount of water used per day is about 3,500,000 gallons. During the heat wave on June 20 and 21 the consumption was about 6,500,000 gallons. According to the engineers at the water works, while they do not have exact figures for the last two days, the consumption was between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 gallons.

The reservoir at Burnt Mills is full and there is some overflow, it was said yesterday. Even though demands of a lengthy heat wave might deplete this supply, the connections put in last year with the District water system are still in place and water could be taken from this source in case of necessity.

Four convictions on liquor charges obtained yesterday in Prince Georges Police Court netted fines totaling several hundred dollars, while three other possession cases were continued until next week.

W. J. West, accused of possession of four cases of liquor found in his car, was fined $100 on this count and $25 for speeding. Albert Brown, who was found in the car with West, was dismissed on charges of possession.

Leon Sannett, of Water street southwest, near Thirteenth street, wats fined $200 for possession, as was Bonnie Goldman, of Third street southeast, near C street. Goldman, who was arrested in Berwyn by County Policeman Claude Reese, had charges of reckless driving dismissed. As an alternative to the fine, Judge J. Chew Sheriff placed a sentence of six months in jail against Goldman.

Mrs. Erva Brown, who was arrested in a raid on her home in Suitland, was fined $50 for possession.

Mrs. Orden Chaney, of Brentwood, who was tried on charges of driving while drunk and reckless driving, was convicted ana fined $101. She appealed her case. Mrs. Chaney admitted that she had had four bottles of home-brewed beer to drink before she started to back a car out of her garage. Policemen said she backed the machine into a fence.

One of the first convictions for operating a numbers game in the county was obtained against Lewis Gant, of Hyattsville, who was fined $50. John Crawford, who was arrested with him, was acquitted of the numbers charge, but fined $1 for having no registration card for his auto.

Officer Ralph Brown, who arrested the men, said he followed Crawford to Gant's home, where Gant handed him a paper bag with $2.52 and about a dozen slips in it.

The case against Ernest Schumaker, accused of operating a road house in Berwyn without a license, was continued until next week. Schumaker was arrested on this charge once before, several weeks ago, and freed when the warrant was found to be faulty. According to police, Schumaker and two other men operate dances in Berwyn without a county license required when more than one dance a week is given.

The liquor cases continued until next week include those of Mrs. Jean Cummins, of Bladensburg; Raymond Riggs, of Riggs road, and George and Lucy West, who live on the Bowie road. All these are charged with possession and Lucy West is also charged with assault and battery on Officer Ralph Brown.

Robert Morris, who was arraigned on charges of nonsupport of his wife and children, pleaded a jury trial and was held in bond of $500. Howard C. Reed, of Tuxedo, was convicted of driving while drunk, reckless driving, and being drunk and disorderly. He was fined $100 on the first charge, $1 on the second, and $1 on the third. Reed was arrested by Officer W. H. Clifton.

Irving Hall, of Hyattsville, was fined $1 for having no license, $10 for having no license plates, and $1 for having no registration card. Bernard M. Cady, of Quincy place near First street northeast, was freed on charges of driving while drunk, but fined $10 for reckless driving.

Eugene Welbourne, of Bladensburg, was convicted of reckless driving and fined $25. He was also fined $1 for failing to stop after an accident. James Snakenburg was fined $1 for having fictitious markers, $10 for having no license and $10 for having no registration card.

A committee which will try to rediscover in Bladensburg a medicinal spring that President Grover Cleveland used to drink from, was appointed yesterday at the meeting of the Hyattsville Exchange Club. Plans were also made for the outing of the club and members heard a talk on "Insurance Possibilities and Values."

Ernest Gasch was appointed chairman of the spring committee, which will seek to have it restored once it is again located. It is supposed to have been across the road from the Bladensburg Jail. While in office, President Cleveland would come from Washington to drink the medicinal waters, according to a local tradition.

The outing of the club will be held on July 15 at the summer home of William C. Porter, on the Patuxent River. A meeting of the club will be held and members are expected to bring their families. About 30 or 40 persons are expected. Mr. Porter was the speaker of the day on the insurance topic.

Three petitions for divorce filed yesterday in circuit court all cite desertion as cause for a court decree. The suits were filed by Emily T. Hawkshaw, Evelyn E. Wright and Effie B. Mahoney.

Mrs. Hawkshaw wants a limited divorce from John W. Hawkshaw, of Washington, and she also wants the custody of their two children, John W., jr., 2½ years old, and Barbara, 15 months old. The couple were married in Hyattsville in 1927; her bill says, and she alleges that he abandoned her in 1930. She claims that he can make $50 a week and asks for alimony. J. Frank Lillard appears as her attorney.

Mrs. Wright asks for an absolute divorce from Delmer G. Wright, of Washington, alleging that he deserted her in 1926. They were married in 1917. She also asks the court to award her their child, Donald, 7 years old.

Lawrence T. Mahoney is named defendant in the suit brought by Mrs. Mahoney for absolute divorce. She says that they were married in January, 1927, and that he deserted her in November, 1927. They have one child, Effie Gwynn Mahoney, and the wife asks that it be awarded to her. Attorney Arthur C. Keefer represents both Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Mahoney.

TURKEY GROWERS OF THE OLD DOMINION MEET

Six Virginia turkey raisers, who will have 6,050 fowls ready for the Thanksgiving market. Left to right—Mrs. Minnie Hawkins, Zeno, Va.; Mrs. Luther Miller, Keezletown, Va.; Mrs. P. A. Guinn, Culpeper, Va.; Mrs. A. C. Ellett, Rixeyville, Va.; Mrs. C. W. Green, Reva, Va., and Murray Leech Greenwich.

VIRGINIA PRODUCERS PLAN ORGANIZATION

200 Turkey Growers Hear Proposal Outlined at Culpeper Meeting.

(Special to Washington Post)

Culpeper, Va., July 1.—Two hundred Virginia turkey growers, who will put close to 20,000 turkeys on the market this fall, met at the home of Mrs. P. A. Guinn near here Tuesday to hear talks by several growers and poultry experts. The meeting was arranged by County Agent J. C. Eller.

Lyman Peck, of Rahway, N. J., a specialist in the care of young turkeys, told the local growers how to combat disease in the birds.

Prof. H. D. Munroe, formerly head of the poultry department of the extension division, Pennsylvania State College, spoke on "Breeding Problems and Management," and F. A. Bicknell of Inlet, Va., operator of a custom hatchery, gave pointers on incubation.

Tentative plans were formulated for the organization of a co-operative turkey growing and marketing association.

County Agent Eller explained the economic value of the turkey business to a community.

Danville Heat Record Goes Above 100 Mark

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., July 1.—The Government thermometer soared to half a degree less than 101 at 4 o'clock this afternoon, the highest reading this season. Yesterday it reached 96 and the minimum point last night was 73. No prostrations were reported, but the tempo of normal life was slowed down by the heat

Luther League Holds Election

Miss Cronk Again President of Virginia Body; Picnic Held.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., July 1.—Miss Vivian Cronk, Salem, was reelected president of the Luther League of the Virginia Lutheran Synod at the concluding meeting of the tenth annual convention today. Others chosen were: Vice president, D. Obel Ratcliffe, Pulaski; recording secretary, Miss Mae Teufel, Staunton; treasurer, M. M. Duncan, Chilhowie, and statistical secretary, Francis Dovel, Harrisonburg. They were installed at a candlelight service tonight, presided over by Miss Naomi Brooks.

A nature worship service was held at Rouss Spring Park, where a picnic supper was served. Miss Thelma Graham, field secretary, Roanoke, director the forenoon conference on "The League's Preparation," in which there were addresses by C. C. Dittmer, Brooklyn, N. Y., president of the Luther League of America; the Rev. Dr. J. J. Scherer, Richmond, and the Rev. R. H. Anderson, Roanoke, superintendent of the Virginia Synod.

The Rev. P. L. Royer, Bluefield, W. Va., league chaplain, conducted an hour of quiet moments with the Bible, speaking on "What Is Most Important in Your Bible?" Most of the 125 delegates leave here tomorrow for Reading, Pa., to attend the national league convention.

Augusta County Man Heads Church Group

Special to The Washington Post.

Staunton, Va., July 1.—J. M. Mecks, Lexington, today was elected president of the Augusta County Baptist Association's Sunday school organization, succeeding C. E. Lehew, Harrisonburg. The Rev. Scott Sutton, Broadway, was named vice president, and E. L. Jones, Goshen, secretary-treasurer. Next year's convention will be held in Clifton Forge.

575 BAPTISTS HOLD MARYLAND SESSION

Meeting at Braddock Heights to Be Joined by Bible Class Unit.

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., July 1.—Registration of the Maryland Baptist Assembly at Braddock Heights, comprising the area of Maryland, District of Columbia, and parts of Virginia and West Virginia, aggregate 575 today. The peak is expected tomorrow and Saturday, when, in addition to the four units now in session, the fifth, the Maryland-District of Columbia Bible Class Convention, will begin and continue two days. The assembly will adjourn with the final sessions of the Bible convention Saturday.

Dr. W. Hersey Davis, of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky., made an address this morning on "The Antagonism of Nationalism." At noon Dr. W. C. McGloughlin, president of the Southern Baptist Convention and president of Furnham University, Greenville, S. C., made an address before the entire assembly. This afternoon about 150 delegates visited the grave and monument of Francis Scott Key, author of "The Star-Spangled Banner;" Mount Olivet Cemetery, and also visited other points of historic interest about the city.

In the second of the series of addresses before a large number of delegates, Dr. McGloghlin spoke on "Rise of the Catholic Church." The address was the feature of the day's sessions.

Dr. McGloghlin said that the Catholic church is divided into two churches—the Roman and Greek Catholics, and that the latter is in great danger on account of revolutions in Russia.

Explaining the seven sacraments, Dr. McGloghlin said the Catholics are the most liberal of all denominations with respect to Baptism. In case of necessity baptism by a layman, a nurse or even a Baptist minister is recognized by the Catholic church.

The charter application was signed by the following veterans: B. A. Shipp, George L. Durham, W. Sam Burnley, jr., Nick Kardos, F. N. Cubbage, Bud G. Ross, Edd Marshall, Theodore V. Heidt, Robert E. Harlow, Ernest J. Moore, George K. Anas, John Dewey Mooney, Pete G. Marinoe, William L. Adams and Grover C. Durham.

Officers Installed By Winchcester Lions

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., July 1.—Hoye Riley, merchant, was installed today as president of the Lions' Club, succeeding Dr. Allen T. Hawthorne. Other officers are: Vice presidents, Herbert Miller, Seibert Smith and the Rev. Paul R. Diehl; secretary treasurer, Herman Barr; tail twister, M. S. Eckhart; lion tamer, Lyle Herrell, and two-year directors, Lewis Keyser and A. C. Oates.

The local club sponsored organization of two new clubs the past year, one at Romney and the other at Charles Town, W. Va.

Prison Farm Shows Profit.

Lynchburg, Va., July 1 (Special). Credited with sales of produce, State account and labor furnished other departments of the city, the city prison farm here earned a net revenue of $698.51. The actual cost of operating the farm was $1,530.34.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

MR. COOLIDGE TAKES HIS VACATION.

Scene I—The Coolidge Home. Time, afternoon of June 30. (The conversation between the former President and his wife.)

"WELL, ma, thank goodness that's over. I thought it would never end."

"I'm glad, too, Calvin. Having to do a piece for the newspapers every day must have been a strain."

"It was having it hanging over me all the time that was pretty terrible. I used to lie awake lots o' nights trying to think up an idea for the next day. Phew!"

"Well, anyhow, they've given you a vacation now and you won't have to write a word all summer. Isn't it glorious?"

"It makes me feel as if a great weight had been lifted off my chest, ma. Think of it—nothing to write for the press until September!"

Scene II—A railroad train a few days later, with the Coolidges vacation bound. Calvin acts very uneasy.

"CALVIN, what makes you so restless? What's on your mind?"

"Nuthin', ma."

"Why don't you relax?"

"I am relaxin'."

"No, you're not. You keep running through those newspapers and fidgeting around. What are you looking for?"

"Nuthin' particular. I was just noticin' how funny it seems to see 'em without anything by me in 'em."

"You're on a vacation, Calvin, and I want you to forget all about those newspaper articles."

"I am forgettin', ma, only I was just thinkin'!"

"Thinking what?"

"That mebbe I should've arranged to turn in something every other day or twice a week or something."

Scene III—Coolidge summer camp two weeks later. Mr. Coolidge is sitting under a tree feverishly scrawling on a pad. Mrs. Coolidge suddenly comes upon him. He holds the scribblings behind his back, obviously embarrassed.

"RESTING, Calvin?"

Yep."

"What're you holding behind your back?"

"Nuthin' . . . Just some papers."

"You can't fool me any longer, Calvin Coolidge. I've been finding scribblings all over the house. . . . You're writing editorials again."

"Well, to tell the truth, ma, I have been dashing off a few opinions just for practice."

"What in the world for? You're on a vacation."

"I know, but I never had so many good ideas in my life for newspaper articles as I've had since I dropped the job."

Scene IV.—A few weeks later at the camp. Mr. Coolidge is quite pale and wan. It is clear that he is very unhappy. He is sitting in his room almost buried in scraps of paper. Suddenly he calls Mrs. Coolidge.

"MA, it's no use. I can't hold out any longer."

"What's the matter, Calvin?"

"Im going to ring up the syndicate and tell 'em I'm cutting the vacation short."

"But you said you were tired of writing every day and had to have a rest."

"I know, but as unhappy and discontented as a newspaperman may be when he has to write every day, it is nothing to the misery he feels when he ain't writing for the paper at all."

"Shall I ring up the syndicate for you?"

"At once, ma."

BATHING GIRL, 1931

The uniform she wore, was nothing much before
And rather less than arf of that behind,
It is getting less each year, and by '32, I fear,
If she has a horse she'll be Godiva's kind.

ONE of the things for which ex-Magistrate Norris was criticized was for indorsing a yeast. Possibly some of those New York girls who were hastily committed may now attribute everything to Vitamin A.

Add similes: As depressed as a man who gets road oil on his new sedan.

Secretary Mellon is not, it now appears, without a sense of humor. To him goes the Twitchell Award for the Best Line of the Month. Greeting M. Robert Lacour-Gayet, of the Bank of France, in Paris, Secretary Mellon wisecracked: "M. Lecour-Gayet, we are here."

Man Walks 56 Miles Each Saturday on Market Trip

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., July 1.—Friends and acquaintances say that C. P. Stroop, of Jones Springs, is the champion walker of this section, if not the entire State.

Walking is a hobby with Mr. Stroop, and not a necessity, as he has five horses in his stable and could buy an automobile if he wanted one. Mr. Stroop thinks nothing of walking 28 miles from his home to Martinsburg and back again. In fact, he has made a regular practice of doing so every Saturday, carrying 15 to 25 pounds of butter to customers here and practically the same weight in purchases back again.

Mr. Stroop is a glutten for doing things. One morning not many months since he furrowed 3 acres of corn for C. D. Barney, starting at 9 o'clock, walked to the city by early afternoon, and helped load three carloads of ties.

DEFENDANTS ATTACK MONTGOMERY SUIT

Petition Is Filed Objecting to Charges in Rockville Newspaper Case.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Defendants in the suit instituted by Morris Bealle and the Independent Publishing Co. against the Montgomery County Publishing & Printing Co., yesterday filed a petition to have certain features of the bill of complaint stricken from the record. A rule to show cause why such paragraphs should not be stricken from the bill was issued by Chif Judge Hammond Urner. The rule is returnable on or before July 9.

Through Attorneys Edward Peter and Vivian V. Simpson, who also are defendants, the defendants claim that the matter which they ask to have stricken is immaterial and irrelevant, and in no way states the cause of action against the defendants and is not material to the relief prayed. They further allege that the said paragraphs unjustly and without cause tend to defame the defendants, and because of this the defense asks that they be expunged from the record.

The controversial paragraphs deal with the beginning of the partnership with Bealle in the operation of the Montgomery Independent, a newspaper at Rockville. Bealle is represented by Attorneys Fred A. Maltby and John S. White.

The defendants are: Harold C. Smith, E. Barrett Prettyman, Vivian V. Simpson, Edward Peter, John E. Oxley, Robert L. Tolson, Charles C. Jones, Dr. C. Eugene Jones and the Montgomery County Printing & Publishing Co., a corporation.

The Town of Rockville yesterday sold its $50,000 issue of water and sewer bonds at a premium, Mayor J. Roger Spates reported last night. The bids were opened yesterday at noon by the mayor and council.

The issue was awarded to Nelson, Cook & Co., of Baltimore, high bidders. The issue brought a price of $101.42, which was higher than the price offered at a previous sale by John P. Baer & Co., of Baltimore, which was recalled because of failure to comply with the legal requirements.

The money from the sale of the bonds is to be used to bring the water and sewer system of the town to a more efficient state. Particular attention is to be paid to extending water and sewage mains to the outlying portions of the town and to an enlargement of the present water plant in order that droughts can be prepared against.

The Kensington Volunteer Fire Department will open its annual carnival tonight for a three-day stand at Kensington road and Forest Glen road, just north of the railroad tracks. The affair was scheduled to open last night, but was postponed until tonight because of the heavy electrical storm which tore up the carnival grounds.

Fourth of July parade and pumper contest will be staged in connection with the carnival. The parade will be participated in by merchants and citizens of the town as well as volunteer fire departments from other county towns. A silver loving cup will be awarded the company making the best appearance.

A standing-still hook-up contest will be held at the carnival grounds, in which firemen will vie for another silver loving cup. According to Chief M. D. Curran, this year's carnival will be the biggest and best in the history of the department. Fireworks at night will complete the program.

The Ladies' Missionary Society of the Bethesda M. E. Church South, will hold a dinner tonight from 5 to 8 o'clock at the church home on St. Elmo avenue.

A Peoples Drug Store is to be opened in Bethesda shortly, it was learned yesterday, when a lease was filed at the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court in Rockville. This will be the first of this chain to open in Montgomery County.

3 Children Killed, Man Hurt in Crash

Heavy Tank Truck Rolls Down Bank; Crushes Babes' Bodies.

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., July 1.—Carey Brown, 35, a Southern Railway employe at Monroe, was seriously hurt, and three of his five children were killed in an automobile accident early this afternoon on Route 18, north of Lynchburg, in Amherst County. Brown, who was returning from Lynchburg with five children, four of whom were his own, collided head on with a tank wagon of the American Oil Co., driven by J. C. Carroll.

Both cars ran off the highway and down a 4-foot embankment. The children were crushed by the heavy tank truck. The dead: Margaret Brown, 7, died in ambulance on way to hospital; Bird Brown, 6, and "Skeets" Brown, 4, both killed instantly. Brown is in Memorial Hospital suffering with fractures of both legs and hurts about his head and probable internal injuries.

A 12-yeaf-old son of Vorhees Tomlin, also of Monroe, and Carey Brown, jr., 4, are in the hospital. The Tomlin child is severely hurt. Brown is a World War veteran. His wife and one of their children were not in the accident.

ARLINGTON MANAGER TEST WILL BE URGED

Mackey Says Court Should Be Asked to Rule on New County Law.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST, Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Court test by Arlington County's new manager form of government will be urged before the Board of Supervisors at its meeting July 15 by Crandal Mackey, former commonwealth's attorney, he said yesterday.

His statement follows:

"I shall request the county board of supervisors at its meeting July 15 to file a suit in chancery to test the constitutionality of the act of the Legislaure approved March 20, 1930, providing a county manager form of government for Arlington County.

"Much doubt exists in the minds of members of the bar as to the constitutionality of the act which undertakes to abolish magisterial districts in counties with a population of 500 or more o the square mile and incidentally to abolish the County Board of Supervisors as well as Justices of the Peace and Constables.

"The constitution of Virginia as amended by the people in 1928 gave to counties the power to establish forms of county organization different from forms theretoore followed. Arlington County voted in Nomber, 1930, to adopt what was called in the act of the Legislature, the County Manager plan of Government. This plan does away with the county board of supervisors and the magisterial districts. It is contended that the constitution expressly preserved magisterial districts in article 7, section 111, as well as boards of supnervisors and that if the constitution had intended to abolish them it would have said so.

"It is also contended that the county manager form of government is in no wise inconsistent with the existence of magisterial districts and a board of supervisors, as the chief legislative, executive and administrative body of a county such as Arlington naw has a county manager in the person of the county engineer, C. L. Kinnier. He prepares the budget and is the chief administrative and executive officer of the county with all the powers and duties that could be given to a county manager.

"It is said that the act was hurriedly drafted and that it is full of serious defects among which are: the county manager shall be appointed for a term of one year. This, it is believed, will make it impossible to obtain a competent man. Second, that the members of the most powerful body in the county should be paid but $600 a year apiece. This, it is claimed, would lead to neglect of county affairs and result in some members not attending meetings, some of which would last an entire day."

E. H. Harris, of Lyon Village, yesterday announced his candidacy for election to the county board of five which, in January, 1932, replaces the present county board of supervisors, subject to action of the Republican county convention in the Lyon Park Community House Friday evening, July 10.

Harris is a native of the District of Columbia, but has been engaged in business in Northern Virginia for many years. In the last eight years he has lived in Arlington County.

With Harris' announcement, there are now 23 candidates seeking the five places on the board.

Demurrer to suits for $60,000 each against seven members of the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County will be argued before Judge Walter T. McCarthy in circuit court today by Attorney Bernard Miller, of Culpeper.

The suits were filed by the Arlington Investment Corporation.

Attorney Miller bases his demurrer on the following grounds:

First—The noice is insufficient in law to enable the plaintiff to obtain judgment against the defendants, or any of them, conceding all the allegations to be true.

Second—Conceding all the allegations of fact to be true, there can be no recovery because the statements alleged to be defamatory and libelous are privileged under the conditions and cricumstances as set for in the notice.

Third—The allegations in the notice are to the effect that the defendants and each of them maliciously gave the paper writings about which complaint is made to a representative of a Washington newspaper. Even if this be true, there can be no recovery because the alleged communication was clearly a privileged one as to the plaintiff who was not a party to the proceedings.

Fourth—Assuming all allegations in the notice to be true, there can be no recovery in this case because the claim for damages is general in its nature. In order for a corporation to recover damages for libel against an individual special damages must be alleged.

of Clarendon, who has resigned as commander of Arlington Post, American Legion, to become a candidate for a seat on the county board of five which, in January, 1932, will replace the present three members of the board of supervisors.

Executive committee of the Arlington County Bicentennial Council, meeting last night at the home of Mrs. Sade Catherine Coles, in Cherrydale, enlarged the membership of the committee on committees and gave it full authority to appoint personnel of all committees necessary to carry out the recently authorized projects of the council.

Personnel of the committee on committees follows: Arthur Orr, Albert H. Cohen, George D. Ricker, Mrs. Ruby B. Simpson, Mrs. Sade Catherine Coles, Mrs. Ida Frank, F. Freeland Chew, William L. Bragg, Mrs. Martha Rauh and Mrs. Eula T. Maffett.

Among committees to be appointed are music, parade, pageant, Mount Vernon and Wakefield pilgrimage, memorial tree planting, field day, planting and beautification, tourist camps, housing and memorial bridge approaches.

Arlington Kiwanis Club held its weekly luncheon yesterday at Windsor Arms.

Eugene R. Woodson, vice president of the Washington club, was principal speaker. Mr. Woodson stressed the need of hearty cooperation and the work-together spirit to make any club a success. Edwin F. Hill, also a member of the Washington club, attended.

It was voted to hold what will be known as charter night on Wednesday night, August 12. Place of meeting to be announced.

At this meeting the charter will be presented to the local club by the Rev. F. Berry Plummer, of Hagerstown, Md., district governor. The committee in charge of arrangements announces a program which will include dancing is being arranged.

Arlington Rotary Club will hold its weekly meeting today at the Washington Golf and Country Club at 12:?? o'clock.

Meeting of all candidates for the new county board who have announced themselves subject to action of the Republican county convention next week has been called by the local county chairman, J. E. Spaulding. Meeting will be held in the Spaulding Building at Clarendon tonight at 8 o'clock.

Sunday school of Arlington Methodist Episcopal Church will hold its annual picnic today at Rock Creek Park. Busses will leave this morning from the church at 10 o'clock, returning from the park about 6:30 o'clock.

JUNE ARRESTS SET ALEXANDRIA RECORD

471 Cases Reported Against 389 for Month Previous; Dry Offenses Lead.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU. 907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va. Phone Alexandria 523.

Alexandria police broke all local records in the number of arrests in June, with 471, as against 389 in May, according to the monthly report of Capt. W. W. Campbell.

Dry law offenses, as usual, headed the list, with various liquor law violation charged to 126 persons, including 83 charged with being drunk, 9 cases of operating an automobile while drunk, and 34 violations of the dry ordinance.

Traffic violators came next with a total of 67, while 62 persons were fined for failure to take out city automobile licenses.

Among other offenses were minor assault, 26; contempt of court, 12; disorderly conduct, 21; disorderly and fighting, 12; grand larceny, 9; held for investigation, 14; nonsupport, 12; petit larceny, 12; reckles driving, 8, and resisting arrest, 3.

There were 51 automobile acidents reported during the month, in which four persons were injured. Of these cases 38 were settled out of court.

In spite of the hot weather in June, 417 persons obtained lodging at police headquarters, of whom 206 were white and 211 colored.

The police recovered nine stolen automobiles. Property reported lost or stolen was valued at $2,034.50, of which $1,756.50 was recovered.

The executive committee of the Alexandria Fire Department has gone on record as opposed to plans for awarding prizes at the annual State firemen's convention at Winchester in August. The four companies comprising the department will act on recommendations of the executive committee this week, and a committee on July 8 will visit the Winchester committee in an effort to have the plans changed.

Under plan adopted by the Winchester firemen, prizes will be awarded to individual units rather than to departments as a whole. Alexandria, it is said, would be unlikely to capture any prizes under this plan, whereas, if the usual plan of awarding to departments is followed, Alexandria's chances are regarded as good.

The local company of Marine Reserves will entrain for Virginia Beach for a 15-day encampment on August 23, returning September 6. The trip will be made by boat.

The reserves will go to Virginia Beach on invitation of the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce. Gov. Pollard will review the troops.

The local company is now recruited to two-thirds of its normal strength, and it is expected many recruits will enlist between now and August 23.

In celebration of his retirement after 32 years of continuous service with the Citizens National Bank, a dinner was tendered Capt. J. Sidney Douglas, bookkeeper in that institution since 1899. The dinner at the George Mason Hotel Tuesday night was attended by 21 persons, including officers, directors and employes of the bank.

Capt. Douglas was presented with a gold watch, the gift of officials and employes of the bank, and a purse of gold. A speech of presentation was made by Carroll Pierce, president. There also was a short talk by Urban S. Lamber, member of the board of directors.

Dr. Carl T. Dreifus, dentist, reported to police yesterday that his office at 910 King street had been entered and gold plates and bridges valued at $300 stolen.

The following schedule of union services was arranged at a special meeting of the Ministerial Association, held at the First Baptist Church:

July 26, St. Paul's Episcopal Church, the Rev. William Jackson Morton delivering the sermon; August 2, Christ Episcopal Church, the Rev. Norris A. Lineweaver; August 9, Southern Methodist Church, (Presbyterian Supply); August 11, Trinity Methodist Church, the Rev. William MacDougall; August 18, First Baptist Church, the Rev. D. L. Snyder; August 25, Second Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Pierce S. Ellis.

Services will begin at 8 o'clock. The general public is invited.

The City of Petersburg contemplates organizing a fire rescue squad along the lines of the Alexandria fire department squad, and also the purchase of an ambulance for the use of the squad. Fire Chief W. T. Miller, of Petersburg, will come to Alexandria today to confer with Fire Chief James M. Duncan, jr., in reference to the matter.
